Philosophical Foundations of Fiduciary Law Andrew S. Gold, Paul B. Miller, 2014-08-15 Fiduciary law is a critically important body of law Fiduciary duties ensure the integrity of a remarkable variety of relationships institutions and organizations They apply to relationships of great personal significance including in some jurisdictions the relationship between parents and children They structure a wide variety of commercial relationships and they are essential to the regulation of relationships between professional service providers and their clients including relationships between lawyer and client doctor and patient and investment manager and client Fiduciary duties perhaps uniquely in private law challenge traditional ways of marking the boundaries between private and public law inasmuch as they figure prominently in public governance Indeed there is even a storied tradition of thinking of the authority of the state in fiduciary terms Notwithstanding its importance fiduciary law has been woefully under analysed by legal theorists Filling this gap with a series of chapters by leading theorists this book includes chapters on the nature of fiduciary relationships the connection between fiduciary duties and morality the content and significance of fiduciary loyalty the economic significance of fiduciary law the application of fiduciary principles to public law and international law the import of fiduciary relationships to theories of authority and various other fundamental topics in the field In many cases new and important questions are raised by the book s chapters Indeed this book not only offers a much needed theoretical assessment of fiduciary topics it defines the field going forward setting an agenda for future philosophical study of fiduciary law book stimulates creative consideration of the extent to which the international trading system's prohibition on the use of trade measures may stifle progress on legal norms that would foster an international community. Krista Nadakavukaren Schefer suggests using the law of equity to fully take into account both the trade and the social issues at stake in any particular case. With its thorough analysis of WTO trade and decisions, this path-breaking book will be a stimulating read for scholars and students of international law, international economic law, and international relations.

Responding to Mass Atrocities in Africa Raymond Kwun-Sun Lau, 2021-12-14. This book explores the relationship between the Responsibility to Protect (R2P) and the International Criminal Court (ICC), challenging the assumption that they are always mutually reinforcing or complementary and examining instead the many tensions which arise between the immediate imperative of saving lives and the more long-term prospect of punishing perpetrators and preventing future conflicts through deterrence. Around the world, audiences in the mid-1990s watched the mass atrocities unfolding in Rwanda and Srebrenica in horror and disbelief. Emerging from these disasters came an international commitment to safeguard and protect vulnerable communities as laid out in the R2P principle and an international responsibility to punish perpetrators with the establishment of the ICC. The book provides context-independent proposals for resolving contradictions between the two principles, suggesting that focusing on timing and sequencing in invoking international R2P and ICC actions could facilitate the easing of tensions. Drawing on examples from Uganda, Kenya, and Darfur, the book applies International Relations concepts and theories in order to deepen our understanding of international responses to mass atrocities. Ultimately, the book concludes that a Protection First Justice Later sequence approach is necessary for managing the tension and facilitating more effective and consistent international responses. This book makes an important contribution to discussions and debates surrounding international responses to genocide and mass atrocities. It will be of special interest to scholars, students, and policymakers in International Relations, Global Governance, African Studies, International Development, Human Rights, and International Criminal Law.
