Libuše Moníková in Memoriam, 2016-08-09 The novelist and essayist Libuše Moníková 1945-1998 made a unique contribution to German-Czech and world literature writing in German from a distinctly Czech perspective in a manner which can best be described as encyclopaedic and highly intertextual. Positively received abroad, particularly in Germany and the US, her works remained until recently relatively unknown in the land of her birth. This volume, whose appearance marks what would have been the sixtieth anniversary of her birth, is the first in-depth study of the work of this truly European writer. It contains specially commissioned articles by Czech, German, US and British scholars as well as an appreciation by her friend and fellow writer F. C. Delius, an English translation of one of her last interviews and the first comprehensive bibliography. The essays range from close readings of a single text in particular the satirical picaresque novel Die Fassade and the posthumously published Der Taumel to surveys of themes, techniques or motifs within her oeuvre, for example nation, exile, history and myth, and studies of Moníková's intertextual references, particularly to film and the work of Arno Schmidt. The contributions emphasise the comic, the personal and the ambiguity in her works as well as the sheer breadth of Moníková's interests and sources.

Body and Narrative in Contemporary Literatures in German Lyn Marven, 2005-05-26 This book examines the relationship between representations of the body and narrative strategies in the work of three contemporary women writers from the former Eastern Bloc countries: Herta and Paul Amirson, an ethnic German from Romania; Libuše Moníková, who emigrated from Czechoslovakia to West Germany and chose to write in German; and Kerstin Hensel from the GDR. Marven shows how the content and form of their works are interlinked and how these challenge the hegemonic discourses within repressive socialist regimes. The introduction contextualizes the writers socially, culturally and historically and outlines the theoretical basis of the approach, drawing on psychoanalysis, performativity theory and feminist critical theory. Chapters on the individual authors offer new interpretations of the writers' works, focusing on the structures of trauma in Amirson's work, hysteria in Moníková's and the grotesque in Hensel's. The images of the body analysed in the first half of each chapter show the effects of violence, challenge the understanding of the body as natural or authentic and raise questions about identity and gender. The analysis in the second half of each chapter covers a range of formal features from the fantastic and collage through parody and intertextuality to irony plot and story telling The book also traces developments in the work of all three authors taking account of the historical changes in the Eastern Bloc countries since 1989 Body and Narrative in Contemporary Literatures in German will be valuable for anyone researching contemporary German literatures as well as those interested in feminist theory minority literatures and trauma
