Literature George Watson, The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 4, 1900-1950

George Watson, I. R. Willison, 1972-12-07 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries Edward Thomas Jacek Wiśniewski, 2008-12-18 Edward Thomas volunteered when he was 37 years old and a father of three and was killed as an artillery officer during the first hour of the Arras offensive on April 9th 1917 In the two years before his death he wrote the 144 poems which ensured a place for him among the poets of his generation Though all his poems had been written OC under stormOCO's wingOCO Thomas was not a war poet in the sense that Owen Sassoon or Rosenberg were war poets Before he turned to poetry in December 1914 he A Bookman's Catalogue Vol. 2 M-End T. Underhill, 1992-07-31 Modernist aesthetics have been identified with a sense of cultural crisis defined by its distance from an ideal of unified consciousness This original study examines the struggle toward that ideal of unitary subjective experience in modern British and Irish poetry from Hardy to Ted Hughes Hugh Underhill argues that the poetry's emphasis on inner states underrepresents the extent to which the crisis is in fact socio historically determined Structure and Dissolution in English Writing, 1910-1920 Stuart Sillars, 2016-07-27 This book explores key texts Howards End The Rainbow and the poetry of Owen Sassoon and Edward Thomas to show the mingled continuation and rejection of convention as their characteristic achievement exploring features often seen as failures It also discusses the writing s increasing concern with the inadequacies of language seeing it within the frame of contemporary society and deconstructive theory and attempting to locate them in relation to high Modernism Edward Thomas: from Adlestrop to Arras Jean Moorcroft Wilson, 2015-05-21 This is the extraordinary life of a poetic genius Along with Sassoon and Wilfred Owen Edward Thomas is by any reckoning a major first world war poet A war poet is not one who chooses to commemorate or celebrate a war but one who reacts against having a war thrust upon him His great friend Robert Frost wrote his poetry is so very brave so unconsciously brave Apart from a most illuminating understanding of his poetry Dr Wilson shows how Thomas life alone makes for absorbing reading his early marriage his dependence on laudanum his friendships with Joseph Conrad Edward Garnett Rupert Brooke and Hilaire Belloc among others The novelist Eleanor Farjeon entered into a curious menage a trois with him and his wife He died in France in 1917 on the first day of the Battle of Arras This is the stuff of which myths are made and posterity has been quick to oblige But this has tended to obscure his true worth as a writer as Dr Wilson argues Edward Thomas s poems were not published until some months after his death but they have never since been out of print Described by Ted Hughes as the father of us all Thomas s distinctively modern sensibility is probably the one most in tune with our twenty first century outlook He occupies a crucial place in the development of twentieth century poetry Collected Books ALLEN OSB;AHEARN AHEARN (PATRICIA.), Patricia Ahearn, 2013-02 An introduction to and advice on book collecting with a glossary of terms and tips on how to identify first editions and estimated values for over 20 000 collectible books published in English including translations over the last three centuries about half are literary titles in the broadest sense novels poetry plays mysteries science fiction and children s books and the other half are non fiction Americana travel and exploration finance cookbooks color plate medicine science photography Mormonism sports et al The Rural Tradition William J. Keith, 1974-12-15 There is probably no single quality or characteristic besides love of the countryside that must inevitably distinguish a rural writer notes W J Keith However what distinguishes rural writing that belongs to literature from that belonging to natural history agricultural history etc is as Richard E Haymaker has observed the writer s means of revealing Nature as well as describing her In the final analysis the rural essayist paints neither landscapes nor self portraits instead he communicates the subtle relationship between himself and his environment offering for our inspection his own attitudes and his own vision We may be asked to look or to agree but more than anything else we are invited to share Ultimately then the best rural writing may be said to provide us in a phrase adapted from Robert Langbaum with a prose of experience Keith argues that non fiction rural prose should be recognized as a distinct literary tradition that merits serious critical attention In this book he tests the cogency of thinking in terms of a rural tradition examines the critical problems inherent in such writing and traces significant continuities between rural writers Eleven of the more important and influential writers from the seventeenth century to modern times come under individual scrutiny Izaak Walton Gilbert White William Cobbett Mary Russell Mitford George Borrow Richard Jefferies George Sturt George Bourne W H Hudson Edward Thomas Williamson and H J Massingham In examining these writers within the context of the rural tradition Keith rescues their works from the literary attic where they have too often been relegated as awkward misfits When studied together each throws fascinating light on the others and is seen to fit into a loose but nonetheless discernible line Robert Frost Lesley Lee
