Woolf and Eliot and the more accessible work of the low moderns Kipling Shaw and Wells in separate categories In contributions by scholars David Bromwich Roy Foster Edna Longley Louis Menand Edward Mendelson and others High and Low Moderns brings these writers into critical proximity Essays on such topics as the public mourning of Queen Victoria Florence Farr and the New Woman the Edwardian Shaw Lady Gregory's attraction to Irish felons and the high artistic uses of low entertainments cinema detective fiction and journalism introduce a subtler model of modernism in which demotic and elite cultural forms criticize imitate and address one another The First World War in German Narrative Prose Charles N. Genno, Heinz Wetzel, 1980-12-15 This collection of eight essays in honour of the distinguished Canadian Germanist G W Field treats themes in German narrative prose of the First World War the pre war era and the earliest of the Weimar Republic The aim of the book is not to present a comprehensive study of the field but rather to shed new light on specific problems The essays are organized in the historical sequence of the events and situations to which they are related The topics include discussions of the concept of war as presented by Robert Musil in Der Mann hone Eigenschaften the treatment of war as a catalyst by the Expressionist writers Carl Sternheim and Leonhard Frank the preservation of values in the face of war as dealt in Hesse's Demian and an exploration of the effects of war on the individual and social values in the works of Salomo Friedl nder and Alfred D blin An essay on H G Well s Mr Britling Sees It Through helps to clarify the ways in which the reaction of German writers to the war may be viewed as specifically German by providing an outsider s point of view The final chapter a survey of the most recent literature on the topic shows how much World War I lives on in the minds of German writers as the great turning point in German political and cultural history The Conscription Controversy in Great Britain, 1900-18 R.J.Q. Adams, Philip P. Poirier, 1987-06-18 Dostoevsky and English Modernism 1900-1930 Peter Kaye, 1999-05-06 When Constance Garnett's translations 1910 20 made Dostoevsky's novels accessible in England for the first time they introduced a disruptive and liberating literary force and English novelists had to confront a new model and rival The writers who are the focus of this study Lawrence Woolf Bennett Conrad Forster Galsworthy and James either admired or feared Dostoevsky as a monster who might dissolve all literary and cultural distinctions Though their responses differed greatly these writers were unanimous in their inability to recognize Dostoevsky as a literary artist They viewed him instead as a psychologist a mystic a prophet and in the cases of Lawrence and Conrad a hated rival who compelled creative response This study constructs a map of English modernist novelists misreadings of Dostoevsky and in so doing it illuminates their aesthetic and cultural values and the nature of the modern English novel Acts of Desire Sos Eltis, 2013-04-18 Acts of Desire is a study of theatrical depictions of illicit female sexuality from seduction and prostitution to bigamy and adultery from the beginning of the nineteenth century through to the 1930s Reading Fin de Siècle Fictions Lyn Pykett, 2014-07-21 The fin de si cle the period 1880 1914 long associated with decadence and with the literary movements of aestheticism and symbolism has received renewed critical interest recently The essays in this volume form a valuable introduction to fin de si cle cultural studies and provide a commentary on important aspects of current critical debate and the place of culture in society Making Sexual History Jeffrey Weeks, 2013-05-28 Jeffrey Weeks has established an international reputation as one of the most original and influential writers on the social history of sexuality Jennings and British Documentary Film: A Re-assessment Philip C. Logan, 2016-05-13 Humphrey Jennings ranks amongst the greatest film makers of twentieth century Britain Although a relatively unknown figure to the wider public his war time documentaries are regarded by many including Lord Puttnam Lindsay Anderson and Mike Leigh as amongst the finest films of their time Groundbreaking both in terms of their technique and their interest in and respect for the everyday experiences of ordinary people these films are much more than mere government propaganda Instead Jennings work offers an unparalleled window into the British home front and the hopes fears and expectations of a nation fighting for its survival Yet until now Jennings has remained a shadowy figure with his life and work lacking the sustained scholarly investigation and reassessment they deserve As such film and social historians will welcome this new book which provides an up to date and thorough exploration of the relationships between Jennings life ideas and films Arguing that Jennings s film output can be viewed as part of a coherent intellectual exercise rather than just one aspect of the artistic interests of a wide ranging intellectual Philip Logan paints a much fuller and more convincing picture of the man than has previously been possible He shows for the first time exactly how Jennings s artistic expression was influenced by the fundamental intellectual social and cultural changes that shook British society during the first decades of the twentieth century Combining biography social history and international artistic thought the book offers a fascinating insight into Jennings his work the wider British documentary film movement and the interaction between art and propaganda Bringing together assessments of his tragically short life and his films this book is essential reading for anyone with an interest in British cinema or the social history of Britain in the 1930s and 40s Fragmenting modernism Sara Haslam, 2013-07-19 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license Fragmenting modernism is about Ford Madox Ford a hero of the modernist literary revolution Ford is a fascinating and fundamental figure of the time not only because as a friend and critic of Ezra Pound and Joseph Conrad editor of the English Review and author of The Good Soldier he shaped the development of literary modernism But as the grandson of Ford Madox Brown and son of a German music critic he also manifested formative links with mainland European culture and the visual arts In Ford there is the chance to explore continuity in artistic life at the turn of the century as well as the more commonly identified pattern of crisis in the time The argument throughout is that modernism possesses more than one face Setting Ford in his cultural and historical context the opening chapter debates the concept of fragmentation in modernism later chapters discuss the notion of the personal narrative and war writing Ford's literary technique is studied comparatively and plot summaries of his major books The Good Soldier and Parade's End are provided as is a brief biography Fragmenting Modernism will be useful for anyone studying the Formation of Literary Taste in England, 1880-1914 Mary Hammond, 2017-05-15 Between 1880 and 1914 England saw the emergence of an unprecedented range of new literary forms from Modernism to the popular thriller Not coincidentally this period also marked the first overt references to an art market divide through which books took on new significance as markers of taste and class Though this division has received considerable attention relative to the narrative structures of the period s texts little attention has been paid to the institutions and ideologies that largely determined a text s accessibility and circulated format and thus its mode of address to specific readerships Hammond addresses this gap in scholarship asking the following key questions How did publishing and distribution practices influence reader choice Who decided whether or not a book was a classic In a patriarchal class bound literary field how were the symbolic positions of author and reader affected by the increasing numbers of women who not only bought and borrowed but also wrote novels Using hitherto unexamined archive material and focussing in detail on the working practices of publishers and distributors such as Oxford University Press and W H Smith and Sons Hammond combines the methodologies of sociology literary studies and book history to make an original and important contribution to our understanding of the cultural dynamics and rhetorics of the fin de si cle literary field in England
