Effective Sexual Health Interventions Issues In Experimental Evaluation:

Effective Sexual Health Interventions Judith M. Stephenson, Chris Bonell, John Imrie, 2003 This text provides an analysis of the methodological and practical issues involved in evaluating sexual health interventions It should appeal to trial enthusiasts through discussion of specific issues in trial design and also to those with a sceptical interest in the potential of experimentation

Sexual Health: a Public Health Perspective Kaye Wellings, Kirstin Mitchell, Martine Collumbien, 2012-10-16 This timely book introduces social aspects of the study of sexual health and their application to public health practice The book addresses five key themes Conceptual and theoretical aspects of sexual health Sexual health outcomes of Risk and Vulnerability Improving sexual health status and Measuring and assessing sexual health status The authors consider each of these themes within their cultural and historical context and illustrate topics with international examples and case studies Key features of the book include A spotlight on populations rather than individuals and a focus on the prevention of ill health and promotion of well being A global perspective the book makes the distinction between developing and developed countries but recognises that inequalities are to be found within as well as between countries A view of sexual behaviour as socially learned rather than biologically given and so as amenable to change and intervention to improve sexual health status An emphasis on ways in which risk and vulnerability are products not only of individual behaviours but of the social context in which they are practiced Written by authors with a wide range of experience this book will be a valuable resource for public health practitioners and those studying and working in the area of sexual health

Realist Trials and Systematic Reviews Chris Bonell, G. J. Melendez-Torres, Emily Warren, 2024-02-15 This book describes an innovative approach to the evaluation of complex health interventions assessing what interventions work how and for whom Rejecting the stalemate between trials and realist evaluation it draws on the best of both Randomised controlled trials and systematic reviews offer the least biased means of assessing intervention effects but tell us little scientifically about how interventions work Policy makers and practitioners are also not supported to decide which interventions are likely to achieve most benefits in their local contexts Realists use other forms of evaluation and evidence synthesis exploring how intervention mechanisms interact with context to generate outcomes But these approaches lack rigour in assessing causality This book proposes how realist evaluation methods may be incorporated within randomised controlled trials and systematic reviews This enables evaluations and evidence synthesis to benefit from the more nuanced questions posed within realist enquiry while maintaining rigour in assessing causality

Socialising the Biomedical Turn in HIV Prevention

Susan Kippax, Niamh Stephenson, 2016-06-28 This book concerns HIV prevention In it the authors argue that until the world focuses its attention on the social issues carried and revealed by AIDS it is unlikely that HIV transmission will be eradicated or even significantly reduced The book argues that we are currently witnessing the remedicalisation or the continuing biomedicalisation of HIV prevention which began in earnest after the development of successful HIV treatment and that this biomedical trajectory continues with the increasing push to use HIV treatments as prevention undermining what has been in many countries a successful prevention response This wide ranging study argues that HIV prevention involves enabling people and communities to discuss sex sexuality and drug use and informed by these discussion devising locally effective strategies for promoting safe sexual and drug injection practices

Promoting Abstinence, Being Faithful, and Condom Use with Young Africans Mary Louisa Plummer, 2012-01-01 This book examines how the ABC behaviors Abstinence Being faithful and Condom use can be promoted more effectively with young rural Africans It draws on an extraordinarily large qualitative study affiliated with a randomized controlled trial in Tanzania
