Ancient Egyptian Art - The Fun Way Florence Schatz, 2008. Having the opportunity to teach math for over 25 years I have found many days when you hit a brick wall. Whether it was in middle school junior or senior high school or at the community college there were days when the new topic was not understood by the students. I could see it in their reaction faces to my explanation. Sometimes I was the culprit. Knowing full well that the homework is a review of that day's topic it must be delayed. As an educator teaching math the crescendo of each day builds as we go further into the school calendar. Someone who missed out and could not grasp the idea needed to be tutored. That luxury is not available. FRUSTRATIONS TEACHING MATH gives the student an opportunity to see how basic math ideas are solved. Sometimes I give two scenarios in solving a problem. Other times a cheating way is shown so that math can be understood and also be fun. Some of the topics covered are the various ways to factor a binomial trinomial or polynomial. Another favorite is grasping the concept of greatest common factor or least common multiple. Right triangle trigonometry for the middle school student is explained using boating as the source of frustration. How much to tip at a restaurant. What does a half off sale really mean. Let us not forget the story or word problems that really cause concerns. Distance Rate Time. All these ideas plus games and many more mathematical topics are reviewed on my 45 day road trip from Delaware to Florida. Coming back with several stops on the way home we'll explore these frustrations. Thinking with the South Andrea Fleschenberg, Kai Kresse, Rosa Cordillera Castillo, 2023-12-04. This volume brings together a series of discussions by scholars from a range of disciplinary, trans-regional and epistemic perspectives that came out of the Berlin-based co2libri networking initiative with longstanding collaborative partners based in the global South. Co2libri stands for conceptual collaboration, living, borderless research interaction. As an interdisciplinary and transregional oriented initiative, co2libri envisages a multicentric perspective that integrates neglected positions of Southern theory and praxis into the heart of academic conversations. Co2libri's collaborative endeavor builds on long-standing active connections with partners in Africa, South and Southeast Asia and the Middle East. Instead of setting an agenda from the North, it proposes to figure out ways forward through collaborative engagement building on relationships of mutual trust. Using formats that facilitate substantial and open-ended discussion, we are re-thinking theory and method, academic practices and research ethics while keeping material inequalities in view. Contributors to this edited volume are working toward the implementation of various innovative activities, research perspectives and collaboration formats which all subscribe to the principle of dialogue on equal footing with scholars and activists based in divergent positionalities along and beyond the Global North-South divide. In different ways the authors work toward the goal of producing more adequate and more sensitive critical knowledge and applying a fresh view to approach methods and ethical standards Overall the volume works sometimes in exploratory ways with alternative frames of reference while it presents diverse theorizations of lived experiences Stories, Time and Again Jan Irving, 2005-11-30
