Enslaved (Classic Reprint)

John Masefield,2015-07-11 Excerpt from Enslaved ALL early in the April when daylight comes at five I went into the garden most glad to be alive The thrushes and the blackbirds were singing in the thorn The April flowers were singing for joy of being born I smelt the dewy morning come blowing through the woods Where all the wilding cherries do toss their snowy snoods I thought of the running water where sweet white violets grow I said I ll pick them for her because she loves them so So in the dewy morning I turned to climb the hill Beside the running water whose tongue is never still O delicate green and dewy were all the budding trees The blue dog violets grew there and many primroses Out of the wood I wandered but paused upon the heath To watch beyond the tree tops the wrinkled sea beneath Its blueness and its stillness were trembling as it lay In the old un autumned beauty that never goes away And the beauty of the water brought my love into my mind Because all sweet love is beauty and the loved thing turns to kin And I thought It is a beauty spread for setting of your grace O white violet of a woman with the April in your face About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Enslaved and Other Poems - Scholar's
