Multiracials and Civil Rights Tanya Katerí Hernandez, 2021-01-19 Narratives of mixed race people bringing claims of racial discrimination in court illuminating traditional understandings of civil rights law As the mixed race population in the United States grows public fascination with multiracial identity has promoted the belief that racial mixture will destroy racism However multiracial people still face discrimination Many legal scholars hold that this is distinct from the discrimination faced by people of other races and traditional civil rights laws built on a strict black white binary need to be reformed to account for cases of discrimination against those identifying as mixed race In Multiracials and Civil Rights Tanya Kater Hernandez debunks this idea and draws on a plethora of court cases to demonstrate that multiracials face the same types of discrimination as other racial groups Hernandez argues that multiracial people are primarily targeted for discrimination due to their non whiteness and shows how the cases highlight the need to support the existing legal structures instead of a new understanding of civil rights law The legal and political analysis is enriched with Hernandez's own personal narrative as a mixed race Afro Latina Coming at a time when explicit racism is resurfacing Hernandez's look at multiracial discrimination cases is essential for fortifying the focus of civil rights law on racial privilege and the lingering legacy of bias against non whites and has much to teach us about how to move towards a more egalitarian society Applied Computing, 1994 The Bible and Prayer Book Versions of the Psalms, Exhibited in Parallel Columns, with Notes Critical and Explanatory. By Sir Lancelot Charles Lee Brenton ,1860 A Missionary Hymn Book, Etc John LAWSON (Missionary at Calcutta.),1908 Decisions and Orders of the National Labor Relations Board United States.
