Spanish Colonial Lives Linda Tigges, 2016-01-21. On their return to New Mexico from El Paso after the 1680 Pueblo Revolt the New Mexican settlers were confronted with continuous raids by hostile Indians, tribes, disease and an inhospitable landscape. In spite of this in the early and mid eighteenth century the New Mexicans went about their daily lives as best they could as shown in original documents from the time. The documents show them making deals, traveling around the countryside and to and from El Paso and Mexico City, complaining about and arguing with each other, holding festivals and making plans for the future of their children. It also shows them interacting with the presidio soldiers, the Franciscan friars and Inquisition officials. El Paso and Chihuahua merchants, the occasional Frenchman and their Pueblo Indian allies. Because many of the documents include oral testimony we are able to read what they had to say, sometimes angry, asking for help or giving excuses for their behavior as written down by a scribe at the time. This book includes fifty-four original handwritten documents from the early and mid eighteenth century. Most of the original documents are located in the Spanish Archives of New Mexico although some are from the Bancroft Library at the University of California at Berkeley, the Archivo General de la Nación in Mexico City and elsewhere. They were selected for their description of Spanish Colonial life of interest to the many descendants of the characters that appear in them and because they tell a good story. A translation and transcription of each document is included as well as a synopsis, background notes and biographical notes. They can be considered a companion in part to Ralph Emerson Twitchell's 1914 two volumes The Spanish Archives of New Mexico summarizing the documents of the Spanish Archives of New Mexico now available in new editions from Sunstone Press.

7 de julio (Anotado) Benito Pérez Galdós, 2016-02-12 7 de Julio es la quinta novela de la segunda serie de los Episodios nacionales de Benito Pérez Galdós. Escrita en 1876 narra la sublevación de la Guardia Real y parte del ejército perpetrada en 1822 contra el sistema constitucional imperante con el apoyo del rey Fernando VII para volver al absolutismo entrelazando este relato con el de la vida de personajes que ya habían aparecido en episodios anteriores de la misma serie como Salvador Monsalud Soledad y Urbano Gil de la Cuadra Patricio Sarmiento y otros. Narrado en tercera persona y con una visión periodística este episodio cuenta con mucha viveza los acontecimientos históricos dando una visión muy clara de las Españas enfrentadas de la incapacidad del gobierno y del egoísmo del Rey así como la reacción popular al abuso de poder. Es muy interesante la descripción de tipos como Benigno Cordero comerciante opuesto a la violencia que tiene que dirigir la Milicia Nacional contra la Guardia Real así como Patricio Sarmiento fanático liberal que es capaz de todo para preservar la libertad de la nación.
