Environmental Education Ann Thomas, 1992 The Living Environmental Education Wei-Ta Fang, Arba'at Hassan, Ben A. LePage, 2022-09-29 This open access book is designed and written to bridge the gap on the critical issues identified in environmental education programs in Asian countries The world and its environments are changing rapidly and the public may have difficulty keeping up and understanding how these changes will affect our way of life The authors discuss various topics and case studies from an Asian perspective but the content messaging and lessons learned need not be limited to Asian cultures Each chapter provides a summary of the intensive research that has been performed on pro environmental behaviors the experience of people working in industry and at home and their philosophies that guide them in their daily lives We highlight humanity's potential to contribute to Sustainable Development Goals SDGs by understanding better the environmental psychology social inclusion and environmental sustainability and stewardship protection elements that contribute to responsible environmental citizenship The content of the chapters in this book includes a discussion of the crucial issues plans and evaluations for sustainability theories practices and actions with a proposed management structure for maximizing the cultural social and ecological diversity of Asian experiences compared to other theories and cultures internationally We intend that the data in this book will provide a comprehensive guide for students professors practitioners and entrepreneurs of environmental education and its related disciplines using case studies that demonstrate the relationship between the social and behavioral sciences and environmental leadership and sustainability Pacific CRYSTAL Centre for Science, Mathematics, and Technology Literacy: Lessons Learned Larry D. Yore, Eileen Van der Flier-Keller, David W. Blades, Timothy W. Pelton, David B. Zandvliet, 2011-10-25 The University of Victoria Pacific Centre for Scientific and Technological Literacy is one of five Centres for Research into Youth Science Teaching and Learning CRYSTAL funded for 5 years 2005 2010 by the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council Canada NSERC Pacific CRYSTAL intended to promote scientific mathematical and technological literacy for responsible citizenship through research partnerships with university and educational communities Pacific CRYSTAL's functional structure consisted of 3 research and development nodes connected to a leadership and administrative node which was charged with facilitating the activities of 19 projects and 42 principal investigators partners and research associates Node 1 an incubation centre involved extracurricular authentic science mathematics and technology experiences Node 2 a classroom testing environment field tested instructional ideas and strategies to develop evidence based practices and Node 3 lighthouse schools involved systemic change and leadership opportunities that adapted demonstrated and disseminated tested ideas resources and strategies to a much broader education community and attempted to influence public policy This book provides descriptions of the target goals research and development projects and lessons learned Young Children's Play and Environmental Education in Early Childhood Education Amy Cutter-Mackenzie, Susan Edwards, Deborah Moore, Wendy Boyd, 2014-01-18 In an era in which environmental education has been described as one of the most pressing educational concerns of our time further insights are needed to understand how best to approach the learning and teaching of environmental education in early childhood education In this book we address this concern by identifying two principles for using play based learning early childhood environmental education The principles we identify are the result of research conducted with teachers and children using different types of play based learning whilst engaged in environmental education Such play types connect with the historical use of play based learning in early childhood education as a basis for pedagogy In the book Beyond Quality in ECE and Care authors Dahlberg Moss and Pence implore readers to ask critical questions about commonly held images of how young children come to construct themselves within social institutions In similar fashion this little book problematizes the taken for grantedness of the childhood development project in service to the certain cultural narratives Cutter Mackenzie Edwards Moore and Boyd challenge traditional conceptions of play based learning through the medium of environmental education This book signals a turning point in social thought grounded in a relational view of environmental education as experiential intergenerational interspecies embodied learning in the third space As Barad says such work is based in inter actions that can account for the tangled spaces of agencies Through the deceptive simplicity of children s play the book stimulates deliberation of the real purposes of pedagogy and of schooling Paul Hart University of Regina Canada

Diversity in Environmental Education Research , 2009-01-01 Research in environmental education EE is a growing field of inquiry and should be seen as respondent to a variety of program developments around the world These diverse programs are the context for this body of educational research Diversity in EE research is also compounded when one considers the various cultures epistemologies and research traditions that may inform the field This complexity accounts for the range of forms for environmental learning in formal informal or non formal contexts There is a good deal of evidence that in order to be more responsive to the needs of diverse populations program developments around the world are now beginning to reflect the variation in our society However the same cannot always be said in terms of research methodologies within mainstream environmental education research Outside of a few examples there seems to have been very little in the way of development of research genres aimed at understanding characterizing and supporting cultural diversity within much of mainstream environmental education Diversity of method may also be important for the overall quality or health of environmental education research To locate many of the new ideas and approaches in this area one needs to look outside environmental education towards general educational research or to other fields such as environmental justice indigenous education science education and health education to name only a few examples This volume of original research reports from around the globe begins to richly describe aspects of diversity in environmental education research It does so in two ways first it mirrors the diversity of voices and cultures that are conducting research in this ever broadening and increasingly global and international field of inquiry second it illuminates a potential diversity of research methods by highlighting a range of methodologies salient in other fields which have emerging promise for the practice of research in environmental education
