Environment In Key Words A Multilingual Handbook Of The Environment:

Environment in Key Words Isaac Paenson, 2016-06-28 Environmental problems ignore international boundaries Toxic wastes travel by water and air sometimes displacing the effects of an environmental disaster entirely outside of its country of origin It is now understood that to overcome the problems that face us international co operation is required This important work is designed to assist in that process by helping to break down the language barriers that stand between countries The manual written in parallel English German French and Russian texts provides the basic tools of communication in the specialized fields of environmental sciences between speakers of these languages Each chapter has been revised in each separate language by specialists in the field to guarantee the authenticity of the information presented The author is unique in his approach presenting the key words in context as opposed to simple glossary entries allowing the reader to fully understand the complex relations between the word and the concepts involved A comprehensive index written in all four languages guides the reader through the text providing references to the words as they are used in different disciplines established in 1873 By 1929 the IMO had set up a Commission for Climatology to deal with matters related to climate studies When in 1950 the World Meteorological Organization assumed the mantle of the IMO it retained the commission which among other responsibilities had already recognized the need for the definition and explanation of terms used in climatology It must also be said that much of what we now know about climate derives from the scientific and technical programmes coordinated by IMO and now to a much greater extent by WMO In 1979 the First World Climate Conference made an assessment of the status of knowledge of climate and climate variability and recommended the establishment of a World Climate Programme This recommendation was fully endorsed by the Eighth World Meteorological Congress and the World Climate Programme was subsequently established by WMO in co operation with the International Council of Scientific Unions ICSU and the United Nations Environment Programme UNEP
