Old World and New World Perspectives in Environmental Philosophy Martin Drenthen, Jozef Keulartz, 2014-07-28 This is the first collection of essays in which European and American philosophers explicitly think out their respective contributions and identities as environmental thinkers in the analytic and continental traditions The American European as well as Analytic Continental collaboration here bears fruit helpful for further theorizing and research The essays group around three well defined areas of questioning all focusing on the amelioration management of environmentally historically and traditionally diminished landscapes The first part deals with differences between New World and the Old World perspectives on nature and landscape restoration in general the second focuses on the meaning of ecological restoration of cultural landscapes and the third on the meaning of the wolf and of wildness It does so in a way that the strengths of each philosophical school continental and analytic comes to the fore in order to supplement the other's approach This text is open to educated readers across all disciplines particularly those interested in restoration adaptation ecology the cultural construction of place and landscape the ongoing conversation about wilderness the challenges posed to global environmental change The text may also be a gold mine for doctoral students looking for dissertation projects in environmental philosophy that are inclusive of continental and analytic traditions This text is rich in innovative approaches to the questions they raise that are reasonably well thought out The fact that the essays in each section really do resonate with one another directly is also intellectually exciting and very helpful in working out the full dimensions of each question raised in the volume

The Human Habitat Ellsworth Huntington, 1927 The Environment and Development in Africa Moses K. Tesi, 2000-01-01 The premise of The Environment and Development in Africa is that current environmental problems in sub Saharan Africa are an outcome of the continent's development activities Whether these activities have generated economic growth and raised living standards or have led to growth without overall increases in living standards or have even contributed to a decline in people's well being developments in that region have produced effects that have degraded Africa's environment in many ways This book presents a comprehensive and systematic analysis of the context of the environmental issues facing sub Saharan African states Contributors discuss the problems associated with generating the capacity to manage Africa's environmental concerns assess the impact of economic development efforts on the region's environment and examine various societal and policy responses to environmental problems and to development problems linked to ecological decay This is an important book for scholars and policy advisors concerned with African studies and global environmental issues

Routledge Handbook of Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina, Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, 2016-08-12 Environmental Anthropology studies historic and present human environment interactions This volume illustrates the ways in which today's environmental anthropologists are constructing new paradigms for understanding the multiplicity of players pressures and ecologies in every environment and the value of cultural knowledge of landscapes This Handbook provides a comprehensive survey of contemporary topics in environmental anthropology and thorough discussions on the current state and prospective future of the field in seven key sections As the contributions to this Handbook demonstrate the subfield of environmental anthropology is responding to cultural adaptations and responses to environmental changes in multiple and complex ways As a discipline concerned primarily with human environment interaction environmental anthropologists recognize that we are now working within a pressure cooker of rapid environmental damage that is forcing behavioural and often cultural changes around the world As we see in the breadth of topics presented in this volume these environmental challenges have inspired renewed foci on traditional topics such as food procurement ethnobiology and spiritual ecology and a broad new range of subjects such as resilience nonhuman rights architectural anthropology industrialism and education This volume enables scholars and students quick access to both established and trending environmental anthropological explorations into theory methodology and practice

The Impact of Urbanization on Environment in Africa. The Case of Yeka Sub City, Addis Ababa Fitsum Elias Awoke, 2020-08-31 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Geography Earth Science Physical Geography Geomorphology Environmental Studies grade A Ethiopian Civil Service University College of Urban Development and Engineering course Research language English abstract The general objective of this senior essay is to assess the impact that urbanization has brought to the environment in Yeka sub city The research is descriptive in its very nature Besides both quantitative and qualitative research approach is used Simple random sampling technique particularly lottery method is used to select samples from the total population Both primary and secondary data sources have been employed and questionnaire interview and observation are employed to collect the required data Furthermore quantitative i e descriptive statistics specially frequency distribution and percentage and qualitative i e verbal analysis or narration data analysis methods have been launched to analyze the collected data Data are mainly presented in tabular pictorial and textual form Continuous population growth in Yeka sub city resulted in the encroachment of forest land mostly through informal way and this resulted in the minimization of forest cover and the alteration of land use from natural forest into human made residential and other built up areas on a continuous manner Besides the formal settlement made by the legal allotment of land the informal settlement is very high and even difficult to control This indicates the high magnitude of urbanization in the sub city The main causes for the continuous urban population growth or urbanization are influx of people into the city of Addis Ababa ever increasing natural birth rate and reduced mortality rate The impact that urbanization has on the environment encompass deforestation land slide and soil degradation excessive waste generation and water and land pollution and air pollution Protecting agricultural and forest land as well as public open spaces from human settlement containing the growth of the sub city within limited square with the help of policy instrument that earmark regulatory environment restrict the geographic or spatial growth of the city facilitate the management of urban growth and protect preserve public open spaces and forest lands reducing the influx of people through the creation of equal development opportunities for all rural and urban centers and implementing family planning is compulsory and controlling informal settlement with a very strict regulatory environment is decisively needed Global

Environmental Risk Jeanne X. Kasperson, Roger E. Kasperson, 2013-05-13 Despite international initiatives such as the Earth Summit in 1992 and ongoing efforts to implement the Kyoto Protocol human activities continue to register a destructive toll on the planetary environment At root research on global environmental risk seeks new pathways for reversing unsustainable trends curtailing ongoing destructive activities and creating a life sustaining planet This book takes stock of the distinctive challenges posed by global environmental risks the capacity of knowledge systems to identify and characterize such risks and the competence of human society to manage the unprecedented complexity Particular attention trains on engaging in ways conducive to enhancing social learning and adaptation the large uncertainties inherent in these risks Various chapters enlist different scales of analysis to explore the manifestation and causes of global environmental risks in all the diversity of their regional expression Throughout the editors and contributors accord prominence to the vulnerability of people and places to environmental degradation Understanding vulnerability is a neglected key to assessing the nature of the risks and determining strategies for altering trajectories of threat Global risk futures the editors argue are not intractable and are still amenable to a risk analysis enterprise that is democratic in principle humanistic in concept and geared to the realities that pertain to the particular societies locales and regions that will ultimately bear the risk Human Settlement and
