Environmental Justice Context, Challenges and National Approaches OECD,2024-05-28 There is mounting evidence that depending on social and economic circumstances some communities and groups may face disproportionate exposure to environmental hazards bear an inequitable share of the costs associated with environmental policies or face more barriers to participating in environmental decision making As countries increase their efforts to tackle environmental degradation pollution and climate change the concept of environmental justice can shed light on how to ensure fairness in the processes and outcomes of environmental policymaking This report examines the plurality of the concept of environmental justice its underlying conceptual pillars and how it has emerged in different contexts around the world The report also provides the first policy stocktake of how governments across the OECD and beyond are seeking to redress environmental justice concerns building upon insights from 26 responses to the OECD Environmental Justice Survey as well as complementary desk analysis across a broader set of countries Human Rights and the Environment under African Union Law Michael Addaney, Ademola Oluborode Jegede, 2020-08-21 This book brings together original and novel perspectives on major developments in human rights law and the environment in Africa Focusing on African Union law the book explores the core concepts and principles theory and practice accountability mechanisms and key issues challenging human rights law in the era of global environmental change It thus extend the frontier of understanding in this fundamental area by building on existing scholarship on African human rights law and the protection of the environment divulging concerns on redressing environmental and human rights protection issues in the context of economic growth and sustainable development It further offers unique insight into the development domestication and implementation challenges relating to human rights law and environmental governance in Africa This long overdue interdisciplinary exploration of human rights law and the environment from an African perspective will be an indispensable reference point for academics policymakers practitioners and advocates of international human rights and environmental law in particular and international law environmental politics and philosophy and African studies in general It is clear that there is much to do study and share on this timely subject in the African context Handbook of Environmental Political Theory in the Anthropocene Amanda Machin, Marcel Wissenburg, 2025-03-12 This Handbook provides a comprehensive overview of the transforming landscape of environmental political theory Embracing both classical and marginalised approaches in the field it demonstrates the central role of political theory in rethinking the strategies discourses and imaginaries of the Anthropocene epoch This title contains one or more Open Access chapters The Palgrave Handbook of Global Politics in the 22nd Century Laura Horn, Ayşem Mert, Franziska Müller, 2023-01-01 This handbook offers a unique approach to the question How do scholars write the future of global politics Written in futur ant rieur style around the 200 year anniversary of the birth of International Relations IR as an academic discipline the contributions engage in world building and imagine different futures of IR Set in a multiverse 23 chapters draw on a range of possible themes and imaginaries for instance post pandemic conditions the Anthropocene and not least academic practices and the role of researchers A concluding chapter anchors these explorations in contemporary discussions The book mirrors the format and style of existing handbooks combining outlines and discussions of theories structures processes and core issues in IR with an academic science fiction account of how these might play out over the course of the next century In doing so the book challenges IR and provides alternative imaginaries rather than predicting future conditions for all humanity. The book invites readers to reflect on how thinking about the future has become an increasingly radical but more than ever necessary act Human Rights and the Environment Linda Hajjar Leib, 2011 The book examines the genesis and development of environmental rights or the Right to Environment in international law and discusses their philosophical theoretical and legal underpinnings in the context of sustainable development and the notion of solidarity rights Nuclear Power and Human Rights in Japan Emrah Akyüz, 2021-02-11 In Nuclear Power and Human Rights in Japan The Fallout of Fukushima Emrah Aky z advances an environmental human rights approach to environmental protections regarding nuclear power Using the aftermath of the Fukushima disaster as a case study Aky z argues for three main approaches to environmental protection including the right to environment the reinterpretation of human rights and the role of procedural rights Smoke on the Water Dario Fazzi,2023-10-31 The U S government military and industry once saw ocean incineration as the safest and most efficient way to dispose of hazardous chemical waste Beginning in the late 1960s toxic chemicals such as PCBs and other harmful industrial byproducts were taken out to sea to be destroyed in specially designed ships equipped with high temperature combustion chambers and smokestacks But public outcry arose after the environmental and health risks of ocean incineration were exposed and the practice was banned in the early 1990s Smoke on the Water traces the rise and fall of ocean incineration showing how a transnational environmental movement tested the limits of U S political and economic power Dario Fazzi examines the anti ocean incineration movement that emerged on both sides of the Atlantic arguing that it succeeded by merging local advocacy with international mobilization He emphasizes the role played at the grassroots level by women migrant workers and other underrepresented groups who were at greatest risk Environmental groups for their part gathered and shared evidence about the harms of at sea incineration building scientific consensus and influencing international debates Smoke on the Water tells the compelling story of a campaign against environmental degradation in which people from marginalized communities took on the might of the U S military industrial complex It offers new insights into the transnational dimensions of environmental regulation the significance of nonstate actors in international history and Europeanisation of Access to Justice in Environmental Matters the making of environmental justice movements Bojana Todorovic, Roberto Caranta, 2025-05-29 This book analyses the ways in which Article 9 of the Aarhus Convention enables environmental access to justice in the Balkans a region at the epicentre of extreme climate change events Adopting a law in context approach the chapters explore national cultures and driving forces shaping the implementation of Aarhus standards in Albania Croatia North Macedonia Romania Slovenia and Serbia paving the way for their comparative assessment The book combines EU law and the case law of the European Court of Human Rights with the bottom up Europeanisation brought about by rising environmental protests and the activism of civil society organisations in the region In doing so it explores the extent to which these Balkan countries comply with requirements stemming from Article 9 of the Aarhus Convention and whether despite national differences it is possible to talk about Europeanisation of access to justice in environmental matters. The interdisciplinary approach and geographical scope of the book make it an important read for academics and practitioners as well as for the civil society sector and policy makers grappling with the normative and practical challenges around environmental access to justice both in and beyond Europe States and Citizens Ion Shefner, 2015-11-16 This volume examines how states and citizens have been able to address globalization in different ways across the Global North and South Authors examine the state as it forms policies in agro production contends with critical constituencies and rebuilds capacity to act in the popular interest after forty years of neoliberal assault Bibliography of Political Science Compiled by the British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2000-02 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge on the social sciences The Problem of Harm in World Politics Andrew Linklater, 2011-02-10 The need to control violent and non violent harm has been central to human existence since societies first emerged This book analyses the problem of harm in world politics which stems from the fact that societies require the power to harm in order to defend themselves from internal and external threats but must also control the capacity to harm so that people cannot kill injure humiliate or exploit others as they please Andrew Linklater analyses writings in moral and legal philosophy that define and classify forms of harm and discusses the ways in which different theories of international relations suggest the power to harm can be controlled so that societies can co exist with the minimum of violent and non violent harm Linklater argues for new connections between the English School study of international society and Norbert Elias analysis of civilizing processes in order to advance the study of harm in world politics
