The Rise and Fall of Gunns Ltd Quentin Beresford,2015-02-01 At its peak Gunns Ltd had a market value of 1 billion was listed on the ASX 200 was the largest employer in the state of Tasmania and its largest private landowner Most of its profits came from woodchipping mainly from clear felled old growth forests A pulp mill was central to its expansion plans Its collapse in 2012 was a major national news story as was the arrest of its CEO for insider trading Quentin Beresford illuminates for the first time the dark corners of the Gunns empire He shows it was built on close relationships with state and federal governments political donations and use of the law to intimidate and silence its critics Gunns may have been single minded in its pursuit of a pulp mill in Tasmania s Tamar Valley but it was embedded in an anti democratic and corrupt system of power supported by both main parties business and unions Simmering opposition to Gunns and all it stood for ramped up into an environmental campaign not seen since the Franklin Dam protests Fearless and forensic in its analysis the book shows that Tasmania s decades long quest to industrialise nature fails every time But the collapse of Gunns is the most telling of them all This is a tale that needed telling It is an important case history in environmental campaigning and a must read for anyone interested in fairness and transparency in government Geoffrey Cousins AM businessman and president of the Australian Conservation Foundation Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia,1988

Aboriginals and the Mining Industry David Cousins,2020-08-09 In 1973 Peter Rogers concluded that Australia has not done itself justice in the handling of modern industry versus Aborigines conflict the lack of preparation is a disgrace to government private organisations and unions alike What has happened since then Aboriginals and the mining industry reviews three main questions to what extent have Aboriginals shared in the fruits of the mining boom Have new land rights helped Aboriginals protect their interests as affected by mining And what has been the contribution of mining to the economic development of remote Aboriginal communities These are vital questions for all concerned with the impact of mining expansion on Aboriginal communities This book reviews the participation of Aborigines in the mining company employment It examines the contribution of the recent land rights legislation to protecting Aboriginal interests And it asks how far the growth of mining in remote parts of Australia has aided the economic development of Aboriginal groups living there Detailed case studies of mining projects included The Economics of the Australian Service Sector K.A.

Tucker,2025-11-21 Economics of the Australian Service Sector 1977 assesses the crucial role of service activities in contributing to gross product or absorbing the workforce It shows how these activities are of great importance to the Australian economy and how they affect structural change economic efficiency and consumer welfare Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1970 Includes subject section name section and 1968 1970 technical reports

Decision-making and Radioactive Waste Disposal Andrew Newman,Gerry Nagtzaam,2015-11-19 The International Atomic Energy Agency estimates that nuclear power generation facilities produce about 200 000 cubic meters of low and intermediate level waste each year Vital medical procedures industrial processes and basic science research also produce significant quantities of waste All of this waste must be shielded from the population for extended periods of time Finding suitable locations for disposal facilities is beset by two main problems community responses to siting proposals are generally antagonistic and as a result governments have tended to be reactive in their policy making Decision making and Radioactive Waste Disposal explores these issues utilizing a linear narrative case study approach that critically examines key stakeholder interactions in order to explain how siting decisions for low level waste disposal are made Five countries are featured the US Australia Spain South Korea and Switzerland This book seeks to establish an understanding of the political economic environmental legal and social dimensions of siting across those countries This valuable resource fills a gap in the literature and provides recommendations for future disposal facility siting efforts The book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental law justice management politics energy and security policy as well as decision makers in government and industry Australian National Bibliography, 1995 APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service,

From Disaster Response to Risk Management Linda C. Botterill, Donald A. Wilhite, 2005-02-17 An academically focused collection of papers highlighting the successes and challenges of a move from disaster to risk management in responding to drought The book passes on the experiences gained from Australia's trail blazing new policy introduced in 1992 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1970 Australia's Uranium Trade Stephan Frühling, 2016-04-08 Australia's Uranium Trade explores why the export of uranium remains a highly controversial issue in Australia and how this affects Australia's engagement with the strategic regime and market realms of international nuclear affairs The book focuses on the key challenges facing Australian policy makers in a twenty first century context where civilian nuclear energy consumption is expanding significantly while at the same time the international nuclear nonproliferation regime is subject to increasing and unprecedented pressures By focusing on Australia as a prominent case study the book is concerned with how a traditionally strong supporter of the international nuclear nonproliferation regime is attempting to recalibrate its interest in maximizing the economic and diplomatic benefits of increased uranium exports during a period of flux in the strategic regime and market realms of nuclear affairs Australia's Uranium Trade provides broader lessons for how indeed whether nuclear suppliers worldwide are adapting to the changing nuclear environment internationally

Interpreting Constitutions Charles J. G. Sampford, Kim Preston, 1996 Constitutions can be viewed as the road map of liberal democracies And like any road map they need to be constantly reconsidered and redrawn as the territory develops and changes The contributors undertake this re interpretation on a number of levels They examine first the theoretical approaches to constitutional interpretation and then move on to implied rights There then follows a consideration of the role of the judiciary and parliament in constitutional interpretation drawing upon a number of examples from around the world
