makers This book makes available for the first time to an English speaking audience Deng Yingtao's ground breaking book New Development Model and China's Future Published in 1991 the book was far ahead of its time Deng subjects the development model of the high income countries to rigorous analysis and explores the environmental implications of China following this model His clear conclusion is that the carrying capacity of the physical environment and nature is limited that economic and social development should not exceed the carrying capacity of resources and that China should not adopt the western development path Based on insights from economics engineering and human psychology the book analyses the environmental impact of the current western development model demonstrates the catastrophic impact this would have in terms of China's own development and in terms of China's relationship with the world and argues that China's rich intellectual and scientific tradition will allow Chinese people to play a central role in finding the solution to the profound environmental and development challenges the world currently faces      Environmental Geopolitics Shannon

O'Lear,2018-03-12 This thought provoking and clearly argued text provides a critical geopolitical lens for understanding global environment politics A subfield of political geography environmental geopolitics examines how environmental themes are used to support geopolitical arguments and physical realities of power and place Shannon O Lear considers common problematic traits of such familiar but widely misunderstood narratives about human environment relationships Mainstream themes about human environment relationships include narratives about presumed connections between human population trends and resource scarcity ways in which conflict and violence are linked to resource use or environmental degradation climate security and the application of science to solve environmental problems O Lear questions these narratives arguing that the role or meaning of the environment is rarely specified humans role in these situations tends to be considered selectively and little attention is paid to spatial dimensions of human environment relationships She shows that how we tend to think about environmental concerns often obscure value judgments and constrain more dynamic approaches to human environment relationships Environmental geopolitics demonstrates how we can question familiar assumptions to generate more just and creative approaches to our many relationships with the environment      Biological Environmental Science
