The Perception of the Environment Tim Ingold,2021-11-29 In this work Tim Ingold offers a persuasive new approach to understanding how human beings perceive their surroundings He argues that what we are used to calling cultural variation consists in the first place of variations in skill Neither innate nor acquired skills are grown incorporated into the human organism through practice and training in an environment They are thus as much biological as cultural To account for the generation of skills we have therefore to understand the dynamics of development And this in turn calls for an ecological approach that situates practitioners in the context of an active engagement with the constituents of their surroundings The twenty three essays comprising this book focus in turn on the procurement of livelihood on what it means to dwell and on the nature of skill weaving together approaches from social anthropology ecological psychology developmental biology and phenomenology in a way that has never been attempted before The book is set to revolutionise the way we think about what is biological and cultural in humans about evolution and history and indeed about what it means for human beings at once organisms and persons to inhabit an environment The Perception of the Environment will be essential reading not only for anthropologists but also for biologists psychologists archaeologists geographers and philosophers This edition includes a new Preface by the author

Risk-Based Analysis for Environmental Managers Kurt A. Frantzen,2016-04-19 All corporations must perform evaluations to define the risks to public health and the environment Your corporation can get the edge by evaluating risk with a process that begins with the end in mind for the property and that concludes with a cogently communicated argument that addresses the issues With this in mind Risk Based Analysis for Env

Gut Feelings Gerd Gigerenzer,2008-06-24 Why is split second decision making superior to deliberation Gut Feelings delivers the science behind Malcolm Gladwell s Blink Reflection and reason are overrated according to renowned psychologist Gerd Gigerenzer Much better qualified to help us make decisions is the cognitive emotional and social repertoire we call intuition a suite of gut feelings that have evolved over the millennia specifically for making decisions Gladwell drew heavily on Gigerenzer s research But Gigerenzer goes a step further by explaining just why our gut instincts are so often right Intuition it seems is not some sort of mystical chemical reaction but a neurologically based behavior that evolved to ensure that we humans respond quickly when faced with a dilemma
