Enlightenment Romanticism And The Blind In France:

Enlightenment, Romanticism, and the Blind in France William R. Paulson, 2014-07-14 Paulson examines literary philosophical and pedagogical writing on blindness in France from the Enlightenment when philosophical speculation and surgical cures for cataracts demystified the difference between the blind and the sighted to the nineteenth century when the literary figure of the blind bard or seer linked blindness with genius madness and narrative art A major theme of the book is the effect of blindness on the use of language and sign systems the philosophes were concerned at first with understanding the doctrine of innate ideas rather than with understanding blindness as such Originally published in 1987 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Downcast Eyes Martin Jay, 1993-10 Long considered the noblest of the senses vision has increasingly come under critical scrutiny by a wide range of thinkers who question its dominance in Western culture These critics of vision especially prominent in twentieth century France have challenged its allegedly superior capacity to provide access to the world They have also criticized its supposed complicity with political and social oppression through the promulgation of spectacle and surveillance Martin Jay turns to this discourse surrounding vision and explores its often contradictory implications in the work of such influential figures as Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty Michel Foucault Jacques Lacan Louis Althusser Guy Debord Luce Irigaray Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida Jay begins with a discussion of the theory of vision from Plato to Descartes then considers its role in the French Enlightenment before turning to its status in the culture of modernity From consideration of French Impressionism to analysis of Georges Bataille and the Surrealists Roland Barthes's writings on photography and the film theory of Christian Metz Jay provides lucid and fair minded accounts of thinkers and ideas widely known for their difficulty His book examines the myriad links between the interrogation of vision and the pervasive antihumanist antimodernist and counter enlightenment tenor of much recent French thought Refusing however to defend the dominant visual order he calls instead for a plurality of scopic regimes Certain to generate controversy and discussion throughout the humanities and social sciences Downcast Eyes will consolidate Jay's reputation as one of today's premier cultural and intellectual historians

Blind and Blindness in Literature of the Romantic Period Edward Larrissy, 2007-06-19 In the first full length literary historical study of its subject Edward Larrissy examines the philosophical and literary background to representations of blindness and the blind in the Romantic period In detailed studies of literary works he goes on to show how the topic is central to an understanding of British and Irish Romantic literature While he considers the influence of Milton and the Ossian poems as well as of philosophers including Locke Diderot

Berkeley and Thomas Reid much of the book is taken up with new readings of writers of the period These include canonical authors such as Blake Wordsworth Scott Byron Keats and Percy and Mary Shelley as well as less well known writers such as Charlotte Brooke and Ann Batten Cristall There is also a chapter on the popular genre of improving tales for children by writers such as Barbara Hofland and Mary Sherwood Larrissy finds that despite the nostalgia for a bardic age of inward vision the chief emphasis in the period is on the compensations of enhanced sensitivity to music and words This compensation becomes associated with the loss and gain involved in the modernity of a post bardic age Representations of blindness and the blind are found to elucidate a tension at the heart of the Romantic period between the desire for immediacy of vision on the one hand and on the other the historical self consciousness which always attends it Toward an Aesthetics of Blindness David Feeney,2007 Blindness has always fascinated those who can see Although modern imaginative portrayals of the sightless experience are increasingly positive the affirmative elements of these renderings are inevitably tempered and problematized by the visual predilections of the artists undertaking them This book explores a variety of the discontinuities between depictions of the sightless experience of beauty by sighted artists and the lived aesthetic experiences of blind people It does so by pressing a radical interdisciplinary reinterpretation of celebrated dramatic portrayals of blindness into service as a tool with which to probe the boundaries of the capacities of the sighted imagination while exploring the sensory detriment of our visually fixated notions of beauty Works by J M Synge W B Yeats and Brian Friel are explored as a means of crafting a workable and innovative medium of theoretical and experiential exchange between the disciplines of literature aesthetics and disability studies In addition to appraising previously unexamined aspects of the work of three of Ireland's most celebrated modern dramatists this book considers the consequences for blind people of the exclusionary and prohibitive elements of traditional aesthetic theory and art education The insights yielded will be of value to those with an interest in modern literature differential aesthetics visual culture perception and the experience of blindness

The Blind William Ross Paulson,1981 Tropicopolitans Srinivas Aravamudan,1999 Exposes new relationships between literary representation and colonialism focusing on the metaphorizing colonialist discourse of imperial power in the tropics The Colour of Angels Constance Classen,2002-01-04 The Colour of Angels uncovers the gender politics behind our attitude to the senses Using a wide variety of examples ranging from the sensuous religious visions of the middle ages through to nineteenth century art movements this book reveals a previously unexplored area of women's history The Psychology of Blindness and Visual Culture Simon Hayhoe,2025-06-27 The Psychology of Blindness and Visual Culture Towards a New Ecological Model of Visual Impairment advances the debate regarding the inclusion and wellbeing of people with visual impairment PVI through looking at the psychological nature of visual culture and its effects on the lived experience It explores whether it is possible to increase access to visual culture for PVI through language alternative sensory data or contemporary communication media and in so doing questions whether or not communication and culture are intrinsically visual Occupying a unique field of study by focusing on the understanding of visual culture and visual communication by PVI in real world settings this empirical book examines the difference between the understanding of visual culture and visual communication by PVI who acquire their visual impairments late in life and PVI who acquire their visual impairments early in life Understanding these concepts not only helps us to understand how PVI feel socially included in visual culture but also how culture and artifacts are conceptualized verbally culturally and through the senses It is compelling reading for advanced students of psychology and philosophy and those studying learning in cultural settings and in museum studies computer science disability studies education and fine art management

Reviewing Blindness in French Fiction, 1789-2013 Hannah Thompson, 2017-08-18 This book argues that the most interesting depictions of blindness in French fiction are those which call into question and ultimately undermine the prevailing myths and stereotypes of blindness which dominate Western thought Rather than seeing blindness as an affliction a tragedy or even a fate worse than death the authors examined in this study celebrate blindness for its own sake For them it is a powerful artistic and creative force which offers new and surprising ways of describing and relating to reality Canonical and lesser known novels from a range of genres including the roman noir science fiction auto fiction and realism are analyzed in detail to show how the presence of blind characters invites the reader to abandon his or her traditional reliance on the sense of sight and engage with the world in sensual and hitherto unexpected ways This book challenges everything we thought we knew about blindness and invites us to revel in the pleasures and perils of reading blind

Borders, Boundaries and the Bible Martin O'Kane, 2002-01-01 This collection focuses on the interdisciplinary nature of current biblical studies especially the interpretation of the Bible through the arts Its aim is to illustrate how the crossing of boundaries enriches our understanding of the text itself Contributors include Robert Carroll Mary Douglas Wendy Porter Edward Kessler Larry Kreitzer John Hull and Martin O Kane The themes embrace literature Kipling music Bach and art Holbein The editor contributes an introduction and an illustrated essay on the Flight into Egypt as an icon of refuge

The Tactile Heart John M. Hull, 2014-07-28 The Tactile Heart is a collection of theological essays on relating blindness and faith and developing a theology of blindness that makes a constructive contribution to the wider field of disability theology John Hull looks at key texts in the Christian tradition such as the Bible written as a text for sighted people and at hymns which often use blindness as a metaphor for ignorance and explores how these can be read by blind people

Blindness and Spectatorship in Ancient and Modern Theatres Marchella Ward, 2023-12-14 Examines the role that spectators play in the reception and perpetuation of ableist stereotypes about blindness in the theatre

Beyond the Visual Ken Wilder, Aaron McPeake, 2025-08-21 Beyond the Visual broadens the discussion of multisensory ways of beholding contemporary art with a particular emphasis on modes that transcend a dependency upon sight A central premise is that a shift in the aesthetic engagement afforded by hybrid forms of contemporary art has the potential to open up new sensory and cognitive engagements for blind and partially blind people

This is a subject that has rarely been addressed within the literature on contemporary arts or disability studies Bringing together leading international scholars and artists in the emerging field of blindness arts including blind and partially blind artists curators advocates for inclusive practices and models of audio description cognitive psychologists and theorists of installation performance and sound art the book offers a detailed consideration of exemplars of such multisensory engagement pre eminently in works by blind or partially blind artists In so doing the book not only shifts the discussion on access and inclusivity reconceiving access as integral to the creative process but argues that this has the potential to enrich the experience of art for all beholders moving beyond an often unexamined reliance on vision Woman's Body, Woman's

Word Fedwa Malti-Douglas,2019-01-15 Woman s voice and body are closely entwined in the Arabo Islamic tradition argues Fedwa Malti Douglas in this pioneering book Spanning the ninth through twentieth centuries and covering a wide range of texts from courtly anecdote to mystical and philosophical treatises from works of geography to autobiography this study reveals how woman s access to literary speech has remained mediated through her body Malti Douglas first analyzes classical texts both well known works like The Thousand and One Nights and others still ignored in the West in which the female voice often associated with wit or trickery of a sexual nature is subordinated to the male scriptor Showing how early Arabo Islamic discourse continues to influence contemporary Arabic writing she maintains that today feminist writers of novels short stories and autobiography must work through this tradition even if they subvert or reject it in the end Whereas woman in the classical period speaks through the body woman in the modern period often turns corporeality into a literary weapon to achieve power over discourse Fedwa Malti Douglas is Professor of Arabic and Comparative Literature at the University of Texas Austin Her books include Structures of Avarice The Bukhala in Medieval Arabic Literature Leiden and Blindness and Autobiography Al Ayyam of Taha Husayn Princeton Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Oxford Handbook of Global Realisms Vaysman,2025-11-04 Realism is an artistic practice that aims to faithfully represent reality Historically it has been practiced across different media from early pictorial art and epic oral narratives through literature and visual arts to film music and digital media However an understanding of what it means to faithfully represent reality is not universal rather it varies from culture to culture The Oxford Handbook of Global Realisms approaches realism as a transnational transhistorical and intermedial global phenomenon It brings the diversity of global realisms to the fore showcasing previously underrepresented and marginalized theories practices forms and media of realist cultural production Seeing with the Hands Mark Paterson,2017-12-11 This book seeks to answer why there has there been a persistent fascination by the sighted including philosophers poets and the public in what the blind see      The Staff of Oedipus Martha L. Rose, 2013-10-04 Ancient Greek images of disability permeate the Western consciousness Homer Teiresias and Oedipus immediately come to mind But The Staff of Oedipus looks at disability in the ancient world through the lens of disability studies and reveals that our interpretations of disability in the ancient world are often skewed These false assumptions in turn lend weight to modern day discriminatory attitudes toward disability Martha L Rose considers a range of disabilities and the narratives surrounding them She examines not only ancient literature but also papyrus skeletal material inscriptions sculpture and painting and draws upon modern work including autobiographies of people with disabilities medical research and theoretical work in disability studies Her study uncovers the realities of daily life for people with disabilities in ancient Greece and challenges the translation of the term adunatos unable as disabled with all its modern associations

A Cultural History of Disability in the Long Nineteenth Century Joyce L. Huff, Martha Stoddard Holmes, 2023-05-17 The long 19th century stretching from the start of the American Revolution in 1776 to the end of World War I in 1918 was a pivotal period in the history of disability for the Western world and the cultures under its imperial sway Industrialization was a major factor in the changing landscape of disability providing new adaptive technologies and means of access while simultaneously contributing to the creation of a mass produced environment hostile to bodies and minds that did not adhere to emerging norms In defining disability medical views which framed disabilities as problems to be solved competed with discourses from such diverse realms as religion entertainment education and literature Disabled writers and activists generated important counternarratives made increasingly available through the spread of print culture An essential resource for researchers scholars and students of history literature culture and education A Cultural History of Disability in the Long Nineteenth Century includes chapters on atypical bodies mobility impairment chronic pain and illness blindness deafness speech dysfluencies learning difficulties and mental health with 37 illustrations drawn from period sources

Art Theory as Visual Epistemology Harald Klinke, 2014-06-26 How can we know What does knowledge mean These were the fundamental questions of epistemology in the 17th century In response to continental rationalism the British empiricist John Locke proposed that the only knowledge humans can have is acquired a posteriori In a discussion of the human mind he argued the source of knowledge is sensual experience mostly vision Since vision and picture making are the realm of art art theory picked up on questions such as are pictures able to represent knowledge about the world How does the production of images itself generate knowledge How does pictorial logic differ from linguistic logic How can artists contribute to a collective search for truth Questions concerning the epistemic potential of art can be found throughout the centuries up until the present day However these are not questions of art alone but of the representational value of images in general Thus the history of art theory can contribute much to recent discussions in Visual Studies and Bildwissenschaften by showing the historic dimension of arguments about what images are or should be What is knowledge is as much a philosophic question as

What is an image Visual epistemology is a new and promising research field that is best investigated using an interdisciplinary approach that addresses a range of interconnected areas such as internal and external images and the interplay of producer and perceiver of images This publication outlines this territory by gathering together several approaches to visual epistemology by many distinguished authors Genealogy and Literature Lee Quinby, 1995 Genealogy and Literature was first published in 1995 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions Traditionalists insist that literature transcends culture Others counter that it is subversive by nature By challenging both claims Genealogy and Literature reveals the importance of literature for understanding dominant and often violent power knowledge relations within a given society The authors explore the ways in which literature functions as a cultural practice the links between death and literature as a field of discourse and the possibilities of dismantling modes of bodily regulation Through wide ranging investigations of writing from England France Nigeria Peru Japan and the United States they reinvigorate the study of literature as a means of understanding the complexities of everyday experience Contributors Claudette Kemper Columbus Lennard J Davis Simon During Michel Foucault Ellen J Goldner Tom Hayes Kate Meheron Donald Mengay Imafedia Okhamafe Lee Quinby Jos David Saldivar Malini Johar Schueller Lee Quinby is professor of English and American studies at Hobart and William Smith Colleges She is the author of Anti Apocalypse Exercises in Genealogical Criticism Minnesota 1994
