God in the Gallery \(Cultural Exegesis\) Daniel A. Siedell, 2008-10-01 Is contemporary art a friend or foe of Christianity Art historian critic and curator Daniel Siedell addresses this question and presents a framework for interpreting art from a Christian worldview in God in the Gallery A Christian Embrace of Modern Art As such it is an excellent companion to Francis Schaeffer s classic Art and the Bible Divided into three parts Theology History and Practice God in the Gallery demonstrates that art is in conversation with and not opposed to the Christian faith In addition this book is beautifully enhanced with images from such artists as Andy Warhol Jackson Pollock Enrique Mart nez Celaya and others Readers of this book will include professors students artists and anyone interested in Christianity and culture Martinez Celaya Enrique Martínez Celaya, Daniel A. Siedell, 2006 Distributed by the University of Nebraska Press for Whale and Star Press Enrique Mart nez Celaya s aesthetic project revives and reinterprets the classic Western metaphysical tradition relating aesthetics to ethics the Beautiful to the Good and the True His work embodies his belief that being a certain kind of artist means being a certain kind of person and that in and through art he gains clarity about himself and his relationship to the world His project is thus profoundly ethical and in important ways spiritual Through art Mart nez Celaya reconciles himself to the world as he reconciles his past with his present and projects his future This volume also participates in the process of reconciliation and projection by interpreting his work through the series cycles and projects which include painting sculpture photographs poetry and prose that have defined it since the mid 1990s Curator of the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery Daniel A Siedell has worked with Martinez Celaya on several projects and offers a radical commentary on his work arguing that Martinez Celaya's ambitious aesthetic project is best understood as an embodiment of a religious Weltanschauung and as a search for that most elusive of religious virtues hope. The complex cohesion of Martinez Celaya's work is further explored by other writers who by placing it in different contexts reveal their own distinctive engagement with it. Art critic Thomas McEvilley, a philologist who writes about art philosophy and religion, explores how Martinez Celaya has combined Germanic feeling with a surrealist plastic vocabulary to present a world. Literary critic and Paul Celan scholar John Felstiner traces the contours of an aesthetic lineage that includes Goya, Eliot, Celan, and Beethoven. Former Washington Post journalist and Hollywood producer and writer Christian Williams adopts the conventional artist's chronology to craft a powerful account of Martinez Celaya's life which has become intimately entwined with his own.

Weldon Kees and the Arts at Midcentury Daniel A. Siedell, 2003-01-01 Born in 1914 in Beatrice, Nebraska and presumed dead in 1955 when he apparently leapt from the Golden Gate Bridge, Weldon Kees has become one of the better known unknown American poets of the twentieth century; his fiction and poetry largely kept alive by other poets. But Kees was also that rare artist who excelled in many genres and media: a skillful painter, filmmaker, jazz musician, and composer. He was a gifted critic as well, and his criticism bears the marks of his own deep and broad engagement with the arts. Weldon Kees and the Arts at Midcentury is the first book to reflect the full range and reach of Kees's artistic activities. Bringing together writers from various disciplines—art historians, poets, literary critics, curators, and cultural scholars—including Dore Ashton, James Reidel, Dana Gioia, and Stephen C. Foster, this volume offers a wide variety of perspectives through which to evaluate the meaning and significance of Kees's achievement. Although the essays themselves partake of the diversity of Kees's impact on the culture, all agree on one fundamental point: any history of postwar American culture that neglects Kees's multifaceted contribution is ultimately incomplete. Art Nexus, 2007 The New York Times Susan Mermelstein, 2003-12-01 Lists exhibits in the United States, Europe, and Canada, with highlights, cost, hours, addresses, and other data. The Art Bulletin, 2005 Includes section Notes and reviews. The Unknown Blakelock Karen O. Janovy, 2008 The Unknown Blakelock offers new perspectives on Ralph A. Blakelock (1847-1919) by addressing the modernity of his accomplishments as reflected in the exhibition's paintings. A self-taught artist, Blakelock digressed from habitual procedures into stylistic experiments that were considerably in advance of common practice of the time. Associated primarily with the two dominant themes of moonlight views and Indian encampments, Blakelock was already acknowledged as a colorist during his career, an aspect of his painting attesting to his receptivity to modernist developments but largely overlooked in critical discourse. The works featured in this exhibition also attest to a salient characteristic of our own time: namely, the artist's growing autonomy. The Unknown Blakelock explores this ongoing impact of Blakelock's work, which has previously been placed in the context of the exploration of his own, not our contemporaries. The Unknown Blakelock is a catalog of the exhibition of lesser known works of Blakelock held at the Sheldon Museum of Art at the University of Nebraska Lincoln from January 25 to August 24 2008 and at the National Academy Museum and School of Fine Arts in New York City from September 25 2008 to January 4 2009 Nebraska ,2004 Enrique Martínez Celaya Enrique Martínez Celaya,2010

Christian Scholar's Review ,2004 Nomad Enrique Martínez Celaya,2007 Distributed by the University of Nebraska Press for Whale and Star Press Nomad Enrique Mart nez Celaya s exhibition at the Miami Art Museum consists of five large scale paintings commissioned by the museum This companion volume combines images of the finished paintings with Mart nez Celaya s notes sketches and photographs of the work in process to reveal the evolution and concept behind this body of work An accompanying essay by Peter Boswell senior curator of the Miami Art Museum reflects on previous work by Mart nez Celaya in relation to this new project cycle The book also includes the artist s exhibition history and a bibliography
