Strategic Entrepreneurial Finance Darek Klonowski,2014-11-27 Entrepreneurial finance is a discipline that studies financial resource mobilization resource allocation risk moderation optimization in financial contracting value creation and value monetization within the context of entrepreneurship However without proper strategic consideration the discipline is incomplete This book examines how the activity of entrepreneurial finance can be enhanced via a concentration on value creation and through improved strategic decision making The most unique feature of the book is its focus on value creation For entrepreneurs value creation is not a one off activity but rather a continuous cycle of incremental improvements across a wide range of business activities Entrepreneurial value creation is described in four comprehensive stages value creation value measurement value enhancement and value realization referred to as the C MER model This book focuses on what creates value rather than merely presenting value creation in a straight accounting framework At the same time deliberate and tactical planning and implementation ensure that the firm does not ignore the components necessary for it to survive and flourish Vigorous strategic deliberations maximize the entrepreneurial firm s chances of making the right business decisions for the future enable the firm to manage its available financial and non financial resources in the most optimal manner ensure that the necessary capital is secured to progress the development of the firm to its desired development level and build value. While financial considerations are important, the field of strategic entrepreneurial finance represents a fusion of three disciplines: strategic management, financial management, and entrepreneurship. This orientation represents a natural evolution of scholarship to combine specific domains and paradigms of naturally connected business disciplines and reflects the need to simultaneously examine business topics from different perspectives which may better encapsulate actual entrepreneurial practices.

De Gruyter Handbook of Entrepreneurial Finance David Lingelbach, 2022-05-09. As of early 2022, seven of the ten largest firms in the world by market capitalization had been funded through various types of entrepreneurial finance. This handbook provides an up-to-date survey of what we know about this significant phenomenon in all its forms and where our knowledge about it needs to head from here. The handbook embraces a wide range of established and emerging academic and practitioner voices across the globe to explore the theoretical and practical flux and tension in the field. Until recently, most studies have taken a supply-side perspective focusing on the perspective of those who provide funding to new ventures. This book takes a different demand-side perspective, beginning with the entrepreneur and gradually broadening our view to include close-by and then more distant funding sources. Following this approach, it is organized into four parts detailing the individual-level founders' resources, bricolage and bootstrapping, effectuation and portfolio entrepreneurship, the inner circle (informal financing, business groups, incubators, and accelerators), the wider world (formal debt, microfinance, venture capital, corporate venture capital, business angels, government funding, and family offices), and emerging perspectives (non-Western perspectives, gender, indigenous perspectives, post-conflict and disaster zones, and ethics). The introduction considers the general state of the field, while the conclusion takes on additional topics relevant to entrepreneurial finance, such as decentralized finance, big data, behavioral economics, financial innovation, and COVID-19, as well as possible ways in which entrepreneurial finance can have a greater impact on other disciplines. This handbook will be a core reference work for researchers, practitioners, and policy makers seeking an up-to-date academic survey of entrepreneurial finance. It can also be used as a primary text in Ph.D. seminars in entrepreneurship, entrepreneurial finance, and finance. Instructors in Master's-level courses in entrepreneurial finance and venture capital will also find the book of benefit.
