The Entrepreneurship Dynamic Claudia Bird Schoonhoven, Elaine Romanelli, 2001 New organizations do not emerge full blown from the idiosyncratic minds of individual entrepreneurs Their ideas for new organizations their ability to acquire capital and other essential resources and their likelihood of survival as entrepreneurs derive from the contexts in which they live and work The Entrepreneurship Dynamic explores the conditions that prompt the founding of large numbers of new organizations or entirely new industries and the effects on existing industries economies and societies

The Entrepreneurship Dynamic Claudia Bird Schoonhoven, Elaine Romanelli, 2022 Scholars and popular writers have written a great deal about entrepreneurs and the formation of new companies but they have not succeeded in predicting when and where large numbers of new organizations will emerge This volume attempts from the viewpoint of the interdisciplinary field of organization studies to answer two major questions about entrepreneurship First what are the conditions that prompt the founding of large numbers of new organizations or entirely new industries Second what are the real and significant effects of such entrepreneurial activities on existing industries economies and societies The authors emphasize that new organizations do not emerge full blown from the idiosyncratic minds of individual entrepreneurs Their ideas for new organizations their ability to acquire capital and other essential resources and their likelihood of survival as entrepreneurs derive from the contexts in which they live and work At the same time new organizations fundamentally and immediately transform their contexts The first part of the book explores the mental models that founders of new companies bring with them from previous experiences the ways in which their ideas come not only from the companies in which they work but from the surrounding organizational communities and the importance of local and regional dynamics in nurturing innovative communities Other papers in this section shift perspective from geographic communities to other contexts the university the knowledge industry and the technology cycle The second part of the book explores the role of entrepreneurial activity in the transformation of contexts and the evolution of industries focusing on the processes and tools that entrepreneurs use to legitimate new organizational populations and the collateral industries and communities that build up around new organizational populations aiding in the development of new companies

Entrepreneurship and Cluster Dynamics Cristina Boari, Tom Elfring, Xavier Molina-Morales, 2016-06-10 Entrepreneurship and Cluster Dynamics focuses on the origin and development of clusters and specifically on the role played by the strategic entrepreneurship in these contexts Although separately entrepreneurship and cluster studies have already attracted the attention of academics and practitioners this book aims to go further and offer an integrated and interactive view of topics The cross cutting approach is one of the main attributes of this book In fact the book involves a great range of organizational and economic perspectives from social psychology to conventional applied economics disciplines Moreover these topics allow the use of different levels of analysis from the individual entrepreneur behind a start up to the structure of cluster networks including the organizational levels An analysis of the change and development of clusters going further than traditional functional approaches by examining how entrepreneurs and their actions are not only influenced by the cluster but also shape the cluster development will offer an explanation of how entrepreneurship and networking entrepreneurs can foster perhaps also inhibit cluster development and change Finally Entrepreneurship and Cluster Dynamics theorizes about the role of the strategic entrepreneurship in developing start ups inside already established companies which can play the role of broker in the cluster Entrepreneurship and Cluster Dynamics offers a unique opportunity to academics researchers and students to learn about relations and interactions between entrepreneurship and cluster perspectives providing both newly and original theoretical propositions and also rigorous conclusive empirical exercises

Ács,David B. Audretsch,2003 Introduction to entrepreneurship The entrepreneurial process Opportunity and the nature of exploitation The emergence of new ventures Financing the new venture The social context Entrepreneurship economic growth and policy Entrepreneurship in China Keming Yang,2016-04-29 The emergence of China as a major world economy is of great importance to the global political economy and to international business There has been much research on the macro level of institutional reform but little detailed work on the grassroots level of entrepreneurship in China This innovative book addresses this gap by investigating how an economic system dominated by central plans communist ideologies and suppressing bureaucracies could generate such energy from the bottom of society fuelling the country s economic growth Keming Yang s theory of entrepreneurship is based on two interrelated concepts double entrepreneurship and institutional holes He argues that the two concepts bridge a gap between the neo classical institutionalism of economic development and entrepreneurship studies that emphasize individual choice The rigorous theoretical framework is supported by substantial empirical research offering statistical analyses of survey data as well as detailed case studies This timely book will appeal to an interdisciplinary readership in sociology economics business studies and Chinese and Asian Studies Comparative Entrepreneurship D. Hugh Whittaker,2009-03-12 Are entrepreneurs essentially the same everywhere Are the processes of entrepreneurship similar Or are they shaped by their environments If so how We know a lot about national differences in management practices corporate governance and even innovation systems but we know surprisingly little about national differences in entrepreneurship Comparative Entrepreneurship compares processes of entrepreneurship in the UK and Japan countries associated with liberal market economies and coordinated market economies respectively Focusing on high tech manufacturing it identifies basic similarities and key differences Similarities are found in approaches to opportunity and business creation which are strikingly different from recent policy emphases in the UK and Japan inspired by Silicon Valley hence the entrepreneurs live in the shadow of Silicon Valley Differences in the backgrounds of entrepreneurs founding teams attitudes to growth and risk innovation competitive advantages HRM emphases and inter firm collaborations are summed up by the concepts of project entrepreneurship and lifework entrepreneurship These are closely related to the respective environments especially the nature of markets in both countries They also embody different time orientations with implications for financing and governance This study brings insights from entrepreneurship to comparative institutions and varieties of capitalism and vice versa and draws on two surveys and 25 case interviews in both the UK and Japan It concludes with a discussion of dilemmas for entrepreneurship policy in the UK Japan and other countries
