Knowledge-Based Systems for Multiple Environments Ladislav J. Kohout, John Anderson, Wyllis Bandler, 2019-01-15 First published in 1992 this volume identifies the problems facing the designer of multi environmental knowledge based systems and explains the principles that must be followed in order to obtain successful results Systems called upon to function in a variety of widely differing cultural and natural environments can only do so satisfactorily if from the very beginning they have been designed with this versatility in mind For the first time the know how for this often formidable design task has been gathered together and presented here This study was written to an overall plan with chapters commissioned from a group of research of quite diversified back grounds who had deeply explored their subjects Each topic was thus covered in close connection with the others so as to form a coherent whole While primarily aimed at workers in Artificial Intelligence and Expert Systems as well as designers of other kinds of sophisticated software the contents of the book are of wider validity just as the multi environmental demands are of wider incidence Manufactures exporters and importers of computing technology with a large knowledge component will also find their concerns addressed Artificial Intelligence in Education Chee-Kit Looi, 2005 The field of Artificial Intelligence in Education includes research and researchers from many areas of technology and social science This study aims to open opportunities for the cross fertilization of information and ideas from researchers in the many fields that make up this interdisciplinary research area An

Ethology of Religion and Art Bryan Rennie, 2020-02-13 Drawing from sources including the ethology of art and the cognitive science of religion this book proposes an improved understanding of both art and religion as behaviors developed in the process of human evolution Looking at both art and religion as closely related but not identical behaviors a more coherent definition of religion can be formed that avoids pitfalls such as the Eurocentric characterization of religion as belief or the dismissal of the category as nothing more than false belief or the product of scholarly invention The book integrates highly relevant insights from the ethology and anthropology of art particularly the identification of the special by Ellen Dissanayake and art as agency by Alfred Gell with insights from among others Ann Taves who similarly identified specialness as characteristic of religion It integrates these insights into a useful and accurate understanding and explanation of the relationship of art and religion and of religion as a human behavior This in turn is used to suggest how art can contribute to the development and maintenance of religions The innovative combination of art science and religion in this book makes it a vital resource for scholars of Religion and the Arts Aesthetics Religious Studies Religion and Science and Religious Anthropology
