The Environmental Psychology of Prisons and Jails Richard Wener, 2012-06-18 Jails and prisons are the only settings in which people are held against their will possibly for long periods of time and often with no pretense of doing so for their personal benefit Occupants have little if any control over their lives as for instance the most basic assumptions about privacy to dress shower and use the toilet are violated This book addresses the impact of environmental design on inmates and staff members in jails and prisons and shows how design can dramatically affect the level of stress and violence

Environment and Behavior Robert B. Bechtel, 1997-01-06 This comprehensive introductory text presents a unified view of human environment problems Unlike most texts in the field that treat environmental psychology as a branch of psychology only Environment and Behavior covers the topic from a cross disciplinary nature The book is more inclusive of all aspects of environmental studies and emphasizes the innovative thinking required to deal with environmental problems The breadth of coverage offered by Environment and Behavior will enable the instructor to choose the focus for each particular course because it contains chapters on a variety of subject areas including environmental engineering biology geography architecture evolutionary biology sociology clinical psychology and gerontology Environment and Behavior is a one of a kind text with a unique style that will make it a must for all courses related to the environment including urban studies and psychology

Improving Impact Assessment Stuart L Hart, 2019-03-04 As Environmental Impact Statements EIS become increasingly important in the policymaking process it is vital that they be as complete and accurate as possible The authors of this volume consider ways in which the development and evaluation of scientific and technical information for EIS can be improved Addressing key legal social political Culture and Environment Irwin Altman, Martin M. Chemers, 1984-05-25 It covers a wide range of topics dealing with the complex relationship between people and the environment The Analysis, Communication, and Perception of Risk B. John Garrick, Willard C. Gekler, 2013-11-11 The 1989 Annual Meeting of the Society for Risk Analysis dramatically demonstrated one of the most important reasons for having the Society to bring together people with highly diverse backgrounds and disciplines to assess the common problems of societal and individual risks The physical scientists emphasized the analytical tools for assessing environmental effects and for modeling risks from engineered systems and other human activities The health scientists presented numerous methods of analyzing health effects including the subject of dose response relationships especially at low exposure levels never an easy analysis The social and political scientists concentrated on issues of risk perception communication acceptability and human touch Others discussed such issues as cost benefit analysis and the risk based approach to decision analysis Use of risk assessment methods for risk management continued to be a matter of strong opinion and debate The impacts of state and federal regulations existing and planned were assessed in sessions and in luncheon speeches These impacts show that risk analysis practitioners will have an increasingly important role in the future They will be challenged to provide clear easily understood evaluations of risk that are responsive to society's concern for risk as evidenced in laws and regulations Of course the various risk analysis specialties overlapped in domains of interest Rethinking the Meaning of Place Lineu Castello, 2016-03-23 The spread of newly invented places such as theme parks shopping malls and revamped historic areas necessitates a redefinition of the concept of place from an architectural perspective In this interdisciplinary work these invented places are categorized according to the different phenomenological experiences they are able to provide The book explores how such cloning spaces use placemaking and placemarketing in attempt to replicate the characteristics found in urban spaces traditionally viewed as successful and how these places can affect society's environmental perception A range of international empirical studies illustrates how such invented places can be perceived as legitimate urban spaces and contribute towards the quality of life in today's cities An Evaluation of the Use of the U.S. Forest Service Visual Management System in U.S. Forest Service Land Acquisitions Susan Moren Cedarleaf, 1982 New Trends in Architectural Education Ashraf Salama, 1995 Large Risks with Low Probabilities: Perceptions and willingness to take preventive measures against flooding Tadeusz Tyszk, Piotr Zielonka, 2017-08-15 This volume contains studies of one particular category of risky situations namely those involving highly negative consequences with low probabilities Situations of this type involve both natural and man made disasters e.g. floods technological hazards economic crises epidemics etc Such risks are characterized by two features 1 they occur relatively rarely the probability of their occurrence is very low and 2 they have extremely negative consequences they are catastrophic Such events generally cannot be prevented but one can both try to anticipate them and undertake actions aimed at ameliorating their negative consequences Consequently the first part of the book is devoted to risk perception issues It includes studies devoted to the following questions which arise when people have to deal with probabilities and small probabilities in particular How can probabilistic information be communicated effectively What is the impact of emotions on perceptions of and reactions to probabilistic information Other relevant issues are also discussed The second part of the book is devoted to protection and insurance against risk Thus it includes studies answering the following questions What determines a person's willingness to take preventive actions in areas susceptible to severe flooding How do people form their own risk estimates Research presented in the book extends our knowledge of human behavior in situations characterized by large risks and low probabilities leading to better comprehension of the functioning of cognitive and affective processes in perception and decision making in situations where uncertainty and risk are accompanied by highly negative consequences
