Environmental Policy Law Cases Readings And Text:

Environmental Policy Law Thomas J. Schoenbaum, 1985 Making Climate Lawyers Kimberly K. Smith, 2024-04-11

Why did it take so long for American law schools to start teaching about climate change Although most environmental law professors were aware of climate change by 1990 it took nearly fifteen years for them to incorporate the topic into their curriculum In her innovative new work Kimberly K Smith explores how American environmental law professors have addressed climate change identifying the barriers they faced how they overcame them and how they created climate law as a domain of legal specialization Making Climate Lawyers explores the history of why American law schools were resistant to teaching about climate change and how that changed over the course of a forty year period resulting in law schools across the country incorporating climate change into their curricula with many even establishing centers on the environment Smith challenges dominant explanations of why the United States was slow to develop climate policy it wasn't just political opposition or short sightedness Creating climate legal professionals required changing the fundamentals of legal education Based on dozens of interviews with faculty and students Making Climate Lawyers fills a gap in the literature on the intellectual history of climate change most of which focuses on the history of climate science Smith focuses instead on how the climate problem fits or doesn't fit into the structure of American law She uses this story as a lens through which to understand both the transformation of legal education since the 1980s and the nature of climate change as a policy problem

Environmental Law and American Business Joseph F. DiMento, 2013-06-29 We are in the second decade of modern environmental law By some indicators this body of regulation has matured greatly We can point to statutes and codes at the federal state and local levels which address almost every conceivable form of pollution and environmental insult Yet despite the existence of this large body of law despite considerable expenditures on enforcement and despite the energetic efforts of people sympathetic to environmental objectives violations are numerous Serious pollution problems are commonplace Love Canal the Valley of the Drums Times Beach and Stringfellow Acid Pits epitomize the national environmental quality challenge Daily a major illegal disposal of hazardous waste is recorded a new mismanaged dump site is discovered a toxic substance is found in our drinking water or a failure to meet a water or air quality standard is identified Many of these violations involve American business Failures to comply are of several types A small businessman in Pennsylvania mistakenly allows a spillover of a pollutant into a protected stream An industrialist in the Midwest adds to his fortune by illegally dumping dangerous chemicals A series of errors by several firms some of which no longer exist combine to create a health threatening conflagration on the West Coast An automobile company interprets one of the almost innumerable air pollution rules differently from government It produces a car which the government says fails to comply with the Clean Air Act
