Environmental Policymaking Assessing The Use Of Alternative Policy Instruments:

Environmental Policymaking Michael T. Hatch, 2012-02-01 The methods employed in the pursuit of environmental protection are often highly contested leading to alternative policy approaches This book details the frequently neglected topic of these alternative approaches to environmental policymaking through case studies drawn primarily from the United States Germany and Japan Among the policy instruments analyzed are eco audits voluntary agreements tradable permits green taxes environmental impact assessments and command and control regulations Also examined are international regulatory arrangements to encourage sustainable forestry management practices Various evaluative criteria are applied to each case study including environmental effectiveness economic and political efficiency administrative efficacy and technological innovation

The Oxford Handbook of U.S. Environmental Policy Sheldon Kamieniecki, Michael Kraft, 2013 Prior to the Nixon administration environmental policy in the United States was rudimentary at best Since then it has evolved into one of the primary concerns of governmental policy from the federal to the local level As scientific expertise on the environment rapidly developed Americans became more aware of the growing environmental crisis that surrounded them Practical solutions for mitigating various aspects of the crisis air pollution water pollution chemical waste dumping strip mining and later global warming became politically popular and the government responded by gradually erecting a vast regulatory apparatus to address the issue Today politicians regard environmental policy as one of the most pressing issues they face The Obama administration has identified the renewable energy sector as a key driver of economic growth and Congress is in the process of passing a bill to reduce global warming that will be one of the most important environmental policy acts in decades The Oxford Handbook of U S Environmental Policy will be a state of the art work on all aspects of environmental policy in America Over the past half century America has been the world s leading emitter of global warming gases However environmental policy is not simply a national issue It is a global issue and the explosive growth of Asian countries like China and India mean that policy will have to be coordinated at the international level The book will therefore focus not only on the U S but on the increasing importance of global policies and issues on American regulatory efforts This is a topic that will only grow in importance in the coming years and this will serve as an authoritative guide to any scholar interested in the issue

Environmental Policy in Japan Hideo Imura, Miranda Alice Schreurs, 2005-01-01 This book is a must it is best reading for all interested in or working on environmental policy formulation and implementation be it in a polluted industrial country or in a polluting developing country Environmentalist a well conceptualized analysis of the evolution of Japan s environmental policies and programmes The quality of integration from chapter to chapter is much superior to that of most multiple author texts International Sociology Review of Books The eleven contributors to this book provide profound retrospective view son the fearsome damage inflicted on the environment of Japan and on its people during the rapid economic growth period from late 1950s to the early 1970s The book also presents a clear vision of how developing countries might draw lessons from Japan's experiences in overcoming some of its pollution problems Hiroshi Ohta Pacific Affairs This is I m sure the most comprehensive and the best book ever on Japan's environmental policy This book is a must it is best reading for all interested in or working on environmental policy formulation and implementation be it in a polluted industrial country or in a polluting developing country Udo E Simonis Internationales Asienforum The volume is a great source to explain what factors have made Japanese pollution control policy so successful Imura and Schreurs have unveiled the intricacies of Japanese pollution control policy in this volume The book can be used at the undergraduate and graduate level particularly as a stepping stone in projects focused on minimization of contaminant emissions and on Japanese environmental policy and politics Raul Pacheco Vega Global Environmental Politics A gold mine of information this book gives a balanced comprehensive and authoritative analysis of Japan's environmental policy and candidly covers both its considerable achievements and persistent limitations Although this volume focuses on issues of policy implementation it impressively addresses most aspects of environmental issues in Japan This is indeed a superb book that provides encyclopedia like information about environmental issues in Japan and is unmatched especially in its emphasis on policy implementation Lam Peng Er Journal of Japanese Studies Japanese environmental management style is in many ways distinct from that found in Europe or the USA There is less emphasis on litigation more emphasis on administrative guidance and considerable use of voluntary mechanisms for policy implementation This volume considers what factors may have contributed to Japan's relatively successful efforts at dealing with severe industrial pollution and problems associated with rapid urbanization The book introduces Japan's environmental history its key environmental regulations and the forces that have driven Japan to introduce these environmental regulations and programs It also examines the various formal and informal institutional mechanisms and policy instruments that have been introduced over the past several decades to implement pollution control and energy conservation The authors conclude by putting Japan's environmental policy experiences in comparative perspective and considering what useful lessons can be drawn from the Japanese experience for developing nations Providing a detailed analysis of environmental policies and policy instruments in Japan by leading experts in the field this book will be of great interest to students of environmental policy and politics and policymakers concerned with environmental protection in Asia

Guide to U.S. Environmental Policy Sally K. Fairfax, Edmund Russell, 2014-08-14

Guide to U S Environmental Policy provides the analytical connections showing readers how issues and actions are translated into public policies and persistent institutions for resolving or managing environmental conflict in the U S The guide highlights a complex decision making cycle that requires the cooperation of government business and an informed citizenry to achieve a comprehensive approach to environmental protection The book's topical operational and relational essays address development of U S environmental policies the federal agencies and public and private organizations that frame and administer environmental policies and the challenges of balancing conservation and preservation against economic development the ongoing debates related to turning environmental concerns into environmental management and the role of the U S in international organizations that facilitate global environmental governance Key Features 30 essays by leading conservationists and scholars in the field investigate the fundamental political social and economic processes and forces driving policy decisions about the protection and future of the environment Essential themes traced through the chapters include natural resource allocation and preservation human health rights of indigenous peoples benefits of recycling economic and other policy areas impacted by responses to green concerns international cooperation and immediate and long term costs associated with environmental policy The essays explore the impact made by key environmental policymakers presidents and politicians as well as the topical issues that have influenced U S environmental public policy from the colonial period to the present day A summary of regulatory agencies for environmental policy a selected bibliography and a thorough index are included This must have reference for political science and public policy students who seek to understand the forces that U S environmental policy is suitable for academic public high school government and professional libraries

Comparative Environmental Regulation in the United States and Russia Lada V. Kochtcheeva,2008-12-18 As environmental problems continue to pose a threat to the well being of people all over the world achieving pollution control through innovative methods and at a lower cost becomes very attractive However cost effectiveness and technical rationality are often at odds with political goals and policy traditions Lada V Kochtcheeva analyzes the introduction of flexible laws and regulations in both air and water quality policies in the United States and the Russian Federation from the 1960s to the present and highlights the replacement of command and control systems with flexible instruments such as incentive programs tradable permits and pollution charges With its rich comparative institutional analysis the book contributes to the debate on institutional dynamism policy innovation and new modes of regulation while simultaneously addressing the processes and attributes of good governance American Environmental Policy Daniel Press,2015-02-27 More than 40 years after the United States launched bold efforts to curb pollution and waste American environmental management has stalled Drawing extensively on recent environmental science engineering regulatory agency data and trade information

Environmental Politics for a Changing World Ronnie D. Lipschutz,Doreen Stabinsky,2018-07-12 This book argues that environmental problems are first and foremost political and therefore about power Using a framework of political economy and political ecology the authors deconstruct current environmental problems to identify root causes and address those problems through mobilization of collective action and social power The second edition also offers Updated examples and stories of political struggles and the actors involved Explicit attention to various forms of power in environmental politics including structural and social power Local politics and collective action as related to global environmental politics Discussion of emerging issues such as synthetic biology commodification and financialization of nature including carbon markets and geoengineering The Politics of the Environment Neil Carter,2018-08-09 Revised to include new discussions on climate justice green political parties climate legislation and recent environmental struggles      Energy and the Politics of the North Atlantic George A. Gonzalez, 2013-06-20 Since the onset of the Second Industrial Revolution in the second half of the nineteenth century energy has become a key axis of politics and international relations particularly for the United States and Western Europe In Energy and the Politics of the North Atlantic George A Gonzalez documents how the United States thanks to its copious reserves of oil coal and natural gas was able to assume a dominant position in the world system by the 1920s This energy economic imbalance was an important causal factor underlying the eruption of World War II After 1945 and in the context of the Cold War with communism the United States used its access to both fossil fuels and nuclear power as a means to defeat the Soviet Union and its allies Driving American foreign policy Gonzalez argues is a domestic system of urban sprawl based on the automobile and the energy reserves necessary to maintain it The massive consumer demand created by urban sprawl underpins US foreign policy in the Middle East while concerns over access to energy drive the European Union project      Environmental Policymaking Michael T. Hatch, 2005-03-17 Case studies that assess the value of new approaches to environmental policymaking in the United States and abroad      Europe and Global Climate Change Paul G. Harris, 2007-01-01 This book is likely to become the definitive study on European global climate change politics Its focus on the formulation ratification and implementation of the Kyoto Protocol within Europe make it essential reading for all who wish to understand how domestic foreign policy influenced the European Union's decision to ratify the Kyoto Protocol despite the United States decision to abandon the agreement The book provides important historical background case studies of the most influential European countries to shape the Kyoto Protocol and an assessment of what enlargement means for the implementation of the agreement It also examines how Europe's policies have shaped and been shaped by participation in the Kyoto negotiation and implementation processes It will be an important item for the libraries of any institution or scholar with an interest in the role of Europe in addressing climate change Miranda Schreurs University of Maryland US The core objective of this book is to better understand the role of foreign policy the crossovers and interactions between domestic and international politics and policies in efforts to preserve the environment and natural resources Underlying this objective is the belief that it is not enough to analyze domestic or international political actors institutions and processes by themselves We need to understand the interactions among them something that explicit thought about foreign policy can help us do The eclectic group of contributors explore European and EU responses to global climate change and provide insights into issues on environmental protection sustainable development international affairs and foreign policy      Intellectual Capital Management as a Driver of Sustainability Florinda Matos, Valter Vairinhos, Paulo Maurício Selig, Leif Edvinsson, 2018-06-23 The objective of this book is to explore the relationship between intellectual capital management and the sustainable development of organizations and society To do so it introduces readers to the topic of intellectual capital in the context of several connected entities such as organizations cities and regions sharing insights that both reflect the status quo and demonstrate the need for further action In closing the book presents practical cases to verify the impact of intellectual capital management on sustainable and competitive development American Empire and the Canadian Oil Sands George A. Gonzalez,2016-04-08 Throughout the US oil and gas shale are being hydrofracked to produce petroleum and natural gas Oil or tar sands from Canada is being processed thereby generating large amounts of crude This book places the unconventional fossil fuels revolution that is taking place in North America within the context of great power politics

Micro Cogeneration Martin Pehnt,Martin Cames,Corinna Fischer,Barbara Praetorius,Lambert Schneider,Katja Schumacher,Jan-Peter Voß,2006-01-16 The electricity systems of many countries are currently undergoing a process of transformation Market liberalization has induced major mergers and acquisitions in the electricity sector but has also forced companies to seek out new business areas Environmental regulations like the Kyoto process and the European Emissions Trading Scheme are exposing the sector to external pressure New technologies such as renewable energy combined heat and power CHP or clean coal technologies are emerging Recent worldwide experiences with blackouts have once more put security of supply on the agenda In Germany the nuclear phase out and decommissioning of outdated coal plants will lead to a need for replacement of more than one third of the current generation capacity by 2020 The need for replacement is an extremely important driving force for the current transformation forcing conventional and new technologies to compete for a role in the future energy supply The overall transformation of electricity systems is neither driven nor shaped by technical or societal modifications alone but rather by a rich diversity of processes in the realms of technology politics society and economy Energy and Empire George A. Gonzalez,2012-09-01 What set the United States on the path to developing commercial nuclear energy in the 1950s and what led to the seeming demise of that industry in the late 1970s Why in spite of the depletion of fossil fuels and the obvious dangers of global warming has the United States moved so slowly toward adopting alternatives In Energy and Empire George A Gonzalez presents a clear and concise argument demonstrating that economic elites tied their advocacy of the nuclear energy option to post 1945 American foreign policy goals At the same time these elites opposed government support for other forms of energy such as solar that cannot be dominated by one nation While researchers have blamed safety concerns and other factors as helping to arrest the expansion of domestic nuclear power plant construction Gonzalez points to an entirely different set of motivations stemming from the loss of America s domination control of the enrichment of nuclear fuel Once foreign countries could enrich their own fuel civilian nuclear power ceased to be a lever the United States could use to economically politically dominate other nations Instead it became a major concern relating to nuclear weapons proliferation Globalization, Governmentality and Global Politics Ronnie Lipschutz,James K. Rowe,2006-03-07 Globalization is moving fast impacting on the life of all nations with accelerating force In this new study Ronnie Lipschutz shows how it is being handled by specific groups seeking positive outcomes for the people and causes they represent Globalization Governmentality and Global Politics details how the widespread failure of states and corporations to regulate the impact of increased globalization has given rise to non governmental organizations and movements aiming to influence corporations regarding social responsibilities and address key issues such as human rights environmental destruction unhealthy working conditions and child labour Assessing the effectiveness of these efforts it examines both the new movements and the issues they are tackling With three key case studies on the clothing industry sustainable forestry and corporate social responsibility it explores the tensions between politics and management examining the theoretical implications of regulation for politics citizenship and the state Finally it takes a fresh look at what is to be done calling for a return to politics centred on the direct participation of the individual in the social choices that affect quality of life working conditions and the global future

Sustainability Kent E. Portney, 2015-10-09 A concise and accessible examination of sustainability in a range of contemporary contexts from economic development to government policy The word sustainability has been connected to everything from a certain kind of economic development to corporate promises about improved supply sourcing But despite the apparent ubiquity of the term the concept of sustainability has come to mean a number of specific things In this accessible guide to the meanings of sustainability Kent Portney describes the evolution of the idea and examines its application in a variety of contemporary contexts from economic growth and consumption to government policy and urban planning Portney takes as his starting point the 1987 definition by the World Commission on Environment and Development of sustainability as economic development activity that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs At its heart Portney explains sustainability focuses on the use and depletion of natural resources It is not the same as environmental protection or natural resource conservation it is more about finding some sort of steady state so that the earth can support both human population and economic growth Portney looks at political opposition to the promotion of sustainability which usually questions the need for sustainability or calls its costs unacceptable collective and individual consumption of material goods and resources and to what extent they must be curtailed to achieve sustainability the role of the private sector and the co-opting of sustainability by corporations government policy on sustainability at the international national and subnational levels and how cities could become models for sustainability action

The Use of Economic Instruments in Environmental Policy, 2004 This paper looks at the role and importance of economic instruments in the context of three specific biodiversity related Multilateral Environmental Agreements These are the Convention on international Trade in Endangered Species of Flora and Fauna CITES the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD and the Ramsar Convention on Wetlands of International Importance especially as Waterfowl Habitat Ramsar Convention The paper also discusses ways to improve and enhance the use of economic instruments as a means of conserving and sustaining biological diversity UNEP

The Journal of Environment & Development, 2006 Urban Sprawl, Global Warming, and the Empire of Capital George A. Gonzalez, 2009-03-05 Argues that the United States refuses to address global warming because of the reliance of the American economy on urban sprawl
