Musical Spaces James Williams, Samuel Horlor, 2021-11-29 There is growing recognition and understanding of music's fundamentally spatial natures with significances of space found both in the immediacy of musical practices and in connection to broader identities and ideas around music Whereas previous publications have looked at connections between music and space through singular lenses such as how they are linked to ethnic identities or how musical images of a city are constructed this book sets out to explore intersections between multiple scales and kinds of musical spaces It complements the investigation of broader power structures and place based identities by a detailed focus on the moments of music making and musical environments revealing the mutual shaping of these levels The book overcomes a Eurocentric focus on a typically narrow range of musics especially European and North American classical and popular forms with case studies on a diverse set of genres and global contexts inspiring a range of ethnographic text based historical and practice based approaches

Slow Travel and Tourism Janet Dickinson, Les Lumsdon, 2010-09-23 It is widely recognized that travel and tourism can have a high environmental impact and make a major contribution to climate change It is therefore vital that ways to reduce these impacts are developed and implemented Slow travel provides such a concept drawing on ideas from the slow food movement with a concern for locality ecology and quality of life The aim of this book is to define slow travel and to discuss how some underlining values are likely to pervade new forms of sustainable development It also aims to provide insights into the travel experience these are explored in several chapters which bring new knowledge about sustainable transport tourism from across the world In order to do this the book explores the concept of slow travel and sets out its core ingredients comparing it with related frameworks such as low carbon tourism and sustainable tourism development The authors explain slow travel as holiday travel where air and car transport is rejected in favour of more environmentally benign forms of overland transport which generally take much longer and become incorporated as part of the holiday experience The book critically examines the key trends in tourism transport and recent climate change debates setting out the main issues facing tourism planners It reviews the potential for new consumption patterns as well as current business models that facilitate hyper mobility This provides a cutting edge critique of the upstream drivers to unsustainable tourism Finally the authors illustrate their approach through a series of case studies from around the world featuring travel by train bus cycling and walking Examples are drawn from Europe Asia Australia and the Americas Cases include the Eurostar train as an alternative to air travel walking in the Appalachian Trail US the Euro Velo network of long distance cycling routes canoe tours on the Gudena River in Denmark sea kayaking in British Columbia Canada and the Oz Bus Europe to Australia

Experiential Walks for Urban Design Barbara E. A. Piga, Daniel Siret, Jean-Paul Thibaud, 2021-08-05 The edited volume explores the topic of experiential walks which is the practice of multi or mono sensory and in motion immersion into an urban or natural environment The act of walking is hence intended as a process of re discovering reflecting and learning through an embodied experience Specific attention is devoted to the investigation of the ambiance of places and its dynamic atmospheric perception that contribute to generating the social experience This topic is gaining increasing attention and has been studied in several forms in different disciplines to investigate the particular spatial social sensory and atmospheric character of places The book contains chapters by experts in the field and covers both the theory and the practice of innovative methods techniques and technologies It examines experiential walks in the perspective of an interdisciplinary approach to environmental and sensory urban design by organising the contributions according to three specific interrelated focuses namely the exploration and investigation of the multisensory dimension of public spaces the different ways to grasp and communicate the in motion experience through traditional and novel forms of representation and the application of the approach to urban participatory planning and higher education Shedding new light on the topic the book offers both a reference guide for those engaged in applied research and a toolkit for professionals and students The

Archaeology of Home Katharine Greider,2011-03-22 When Katharine Greider was told to leave her house or risk it falling down on top of her and her family it spurred an investigation that began with contractors diagnoses and lawsuits then veered into archaeology and urban history before settling into the saltwater grasses of the marsh that fatefully once sat beneath the site of Number 239 East 7th Street During the journey Greider examines how people balance the need for permanence with the urge to migrate and how the home is the resting place for ancestral ghosts The land on which Number 239 was built has a history as long as America s own It provisioned the earliest European settlers who needed fodder for their cattle it became a spoil of war handed from the king s servant to the revolutionary victor it was at the heart of nineteenth century Kleindeutschland and of the revolutionary Jewish Lower East Side America s immigrant waves have all passed through 7th Street In one small house is written the history of a young country and the much longer story of humankind and the places they came to call home The Child's World Margaret Robertson,Rodney Gerber,2000 Young people who live most of
