The Mass Media and Environmental Issues Anders Hansen, 1993 The first in a new series this presents a synthesis of current thinking and research on the role of the mass media in the rise of the environment as a social and political issue It demonstrates the strengths of communications research in the analysis of social issues

Environmental Activism and Global Media Pardeep Singh, Bendangwapang Ao, Dr Medhavi, 2024-05-07 This scholarly work discusses the historical contemporary and prospective dimensions of environmental activism and its intersection with global media It provides a comprehensive view of the pivotal role played by the media in shaping awareness concerning environmental challenges and catalyzing actions to address them Drawing upon the insights of an interdisciplinary cohort of scholars the book systematically examines the diverse aspects of the nexus between media and environmental activism Chapter contributions establish the foundational framework for comprehending how media as a whole lend support to activism delineate the historical trajectory of environmental activism the construction of narratives within the political economic and social domains of society scrutinize the function of mass media within the context of globalization digitization and social media and elucidate how governance structures influence the environmental activism process By introducing readers to the basic narrative in environmental activism globalization and media this book will be an important source of information for researchers academicians and students engaged in various interdisciplinary studies linked to media environment and activism Media's Impact on Public Perceptions of Environmental Risks Karen

Kemp,1996 ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES Problems and Issues Dr.M. RAJAKUMAR,Dr.R. SAMPATH,2017-06-27 The word Environment is derived from the French word Environner which means to encircle around or surround The biologist Jacob Van Uerkal 1864 1944 introduced the term environment in Ecology Ecology is the study of the interactions between an organism of some kind and its environment As given by Environment Protection Act 1986 Environment is the sum total of land water air interrelationships among themselves and also with the human beings and other living organisms Environmental Science is the interdisciplinary field and requires the study of the interactions among the physical chemical and biological components of the Environment with a focus on environmental pollution and degradation Communication and Environment: Sustainability and Risks (Penerbit USM) Hamidah Abd. Hamid,Azman Azwan Azmawati,Jamilah Hj. Ahmad,Nik Norma Nik Hasan,2014-11-25 There is a dearth of literature on environmental communication within the non western world The few existing ones are scattered and not easily available Thus there is a dire need to document research and literature in the field The opportunity arose at the 2009 International Conference on Communication and Environment held in Penang Malaysia The international conference with the theme Transformation for a Sustainable Tomorrow organised by the School of Communication Universiti Sains Malaysia USM attracted scholars practitioners and activists from around the world to listen and deliberate on various aspects of communication and environment The post conference review resulted in the selection of 24 papers to be compiled into this edited volume The escalating degradation of environment locally and globally was the main concern that prompted discussions on how sustainability can be advocated The development process in many countries economic activities and political decisions on issues such as deforestation for timber logging rapid urbanisation pertinently points out that environmental degradation and any communication on environmental change has to be grounded and located within the wider context of social politics and economics of the society Communication and environmental communication for that matter have also to be understood within these wider contexts Many would agree that a constant and consistent flow of information communicated through different channels to different stakeholders at the right time and destinations can help raise awareness and consciousness of environmental problems protection and preservation This vital information can enable the public and stakeholders to make informed choices and take actions whenever possible A lack of communication and information will inordinately exacerbate the situation of environmental degradation This book thus highlights how the environment is being treated in the media communicated to the society and impacted nations The chapters are grouped into the following sections Theoretical and conceptual issues Media content and the environment Politics communication and the environment Corporate social and environmental responsibility and Citizen participation human rights and the environment The editors acknowledge the excellent contributions of all the authors and are indebted to the members of the review panel the external reviewer USM Publications Committee and staff of Universiti Sains Malaysia Press for their help in ensuring the quality of this volume Most importantly we express our gratitude to USM for providing the financial support for the international conference and making it possible to publish this book The Editors January 2012 Universiti Sains Malaysia Penerbit Universiti Sains Malaysia

Environmental Pollution and the Media Glenn D.

Hook, Libby Lester, Meng Ji, Kingsley Edney, Chris G. Pope, Luli van der Does-Ishikawa, 2017-04-07 This book offers a theoretically informed empirical investigation of national media reporting and political discourse on environmental issues in Australia China and Japan It illuminates the risks harms and responsibilities associated with climate change through an analysis of pollution adopting an interdisciplinary approach drawing on both the social sciences and humanities A particular strength of the work is the detailed analysis of the data using a range of both quantitative and qualitative techniques enabling the authors to reveal in rich and compelling detail the complex relationship between risk and responsibility in the climate change discourse The case studies of Australia China and Japan are set in the current literature as well as in the historical context of climate change in these three countries The analysis of the media discourse on the Great Barrier Reef in Australia demonstrates how the mining of coal for overseas markets has led to devastating harm to the life of the reef A critical discussion of the Chinese documentary Under the Dome shows how this medium has played a crucial role in building awareness of the harm from atmospheric pollution among the citizens shaping attitudes and promoting action The first case study of Japan elucidates how cross border atmospheric pollution from China forges a chain of responsibility for responding to climate change running from the state to society The other case study of Japan demonstrates how smart cities have emerged as a way to mitigate the risks and harms of climate change The Conclusion draws together the similarities and differences in how climate change is addressed in the three countries In all Environmental Pollution and the Media Political Discourses of Risk and Responsibility in Australia China and Japan uncovers the dynamics of the triadic relationship among risk harm and climate change in Australia China and Japan By so doing the book makes an original and timely contribution to understanding comparative media discourse and political debates on climate change

Environmental Management of the Media Pietari Kääpä, 2018-05-23

In recent years the widely held misconception of the media as an ephemeral industry has been challenged by research on the industry's significant material footprint Despite this material turn no systematic study of this sector has been conducted in ways that considers the role of the media industries as consumers and users of a range of natural resources Filling this gap Environmental Management of the Media discusses the environmental management of the media industries in the UK and the Nordic countries These Nordic countries both as a set of small nations and as a regional constellation are frequently perceived as some of the greenest in the world yet not only is the footprint of the media industries practically ignored in academic research but the very real stakes of the industries global impact are not comprehensively understood Here the author focuses on four key areas for investigating the material impact of Nordic media 1 resources used for production and dissemination 2 regulation of the media 3 organizational management and 4 labour practices By adopting an interdisciplinary perspective that combines ecocritical analysis with interrogation of the political economy of the creative industries K p argues that taking the industries to task on their environmental footprint is a multilevel resource and organizational management issue that must be addressed more effectively in contemporary media studies This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of media communication and environmental studies
