Begg, 2016-04-12 David Begg examines how four small open economies Finland Denmark the Netherlands and Ireland have managed the stresses and strains of Europeanisation since the single market came into being and as fault lines begin to appear within the European integration project In particular he drills down into the Irish Polity to see how its institutions have engaged with Europe and how decisions on critical issues like integration EMU and Social Partnership were reached He finds that both Ireland and Europe are at a critical juncture for different but interconnected reasons and identifies the options that are available to them

Public Administration and Public Policy in Ireland Maura Adshead, Michelle Millar, 2003-09-02 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to public policy and administration in Ireland thereby bridging the gap between general texts on public policy and policy analysis and books on Irish politics Each chapter covers one of the key issues in policy analysis eg rational choice corporatism and then illustrates this with an empirical Irish case study With the inclusion of further reading overviews of main concepts and source material the editors provide a student friendly textbook which fills an important gap in the available literature on Irish politics and public administration Strategic Challenges in European Banking J.

Can the Celtic Tiger Cross the Irish Border? John Bradley, J. Esmond Birnie, 2001 One of the Republic's outstanding economists John Bradley and the prominent Unionist politician and economist Esmond Birnie debate to what extent Northern Ireland can learn from the phenomenon of the Celtic Tiger Professor Bradley asks what lessons the North can take from the success of the Republic's economic planning and whether it makes sense for the island to trade and seek investment as one unit in a globalized economy Dr Birnie wonders whether the low level of trade and economic interchange between the two Irish economies is really abnormal in European terms and whether a successfully coordinated island economy is possible in two separate political jurisdictions

Background Papers on The IMF and the Crises in Greece, Ireland, and Portugal Moisés J. Schwartz, Shinji Takagi, 2017-06-30 This volume book brings together nine background papers prepared for an evaluation by the IMF Independent Evaluation Office of the IMF and the crises in Greece Ireland and Portugal It presents an authoritative work on the evolving relationship between the IMF and the euro area a common currency area founded in 1999 consisting of advanced highly integrated economies in Europe The euro area or any common currency area for that matter has posed challenges to the IMF's operational activities as its Articles of Agreement contain no provision for joint membership The challenges became intense when a series of crises erupted in Greece Ireland and Portugal from 2009 to 2011 and the Fund was called upon to help intervene by offering its financing and crisis management expertise The IMF found itself in uncharted territory where there was no precedent or established procedure The chapters many of which are prepared by prominent academics and former senior IMF officials who are thoroughly familiar with internal procedures discuss various aspects of the IMF's engagement with the euro area including precrisis surveillance how key decisions were made how the IMF collaborated with European institutions and how it designed and implemented its lending programs with the three crisis countries The book gives prominence to governance related issues given the large voting share of more than 20 percent within the IMF of euro area members and the subsequent public perception that the IMF treated the euro area more favorably than it does developing and emerging market members

The approaches are both cross cutting and country based Some chapters deal with issues related to the euro area as a whole while others focus on how the Fund engaged with individual euro area countries The book contains a statement on the IEO evaluation by the IMF Managing Director and a Summing Up of the Executive Board discussion held in July 2016
