System of China, 1845-1911 Harold C. Hinton,1956-06-30 The Grain Tribute System which transported rice from the Yangtze Valley to the Ch ing capital Peking declined as an institution during the nineteenth century This thorough investigation connects the collapse of the waterway and the grain transported with the eventual fall of the Chinese empire a century later China's Local Councils in the Age of Constitutional Reform, 1898-1911 Roger R. Thompson,2020-03-23 Dazzled by the model of Japan s Western style constitutional government Chinese officials and elite activists made plans to establish locally elected councils By October 1911 government agencies had reported the establishment of about 5 000 councils Throughout the period data on self government reforms collected from localities were compiled in provincial capitals then collated summarized and archived in Beijing Simultaneously directives were being sent from the capital to the provinces From this wealth of previously unexamined material Roger R Thompson draws a portrait in motion of the reforms He demonstrates the energy and significance of the late Qing local self government movement while making a compelling case that it was separate from the well studied phenomenon of provincial assemblies and constitutionalism in general China's Foreign Trade Statistics, 1864-1949 Liang-lin Hsiao,2020-03-17 A compilation of the foreign trade statistics compiled by Chinese Maritime Customs which began publishing such statistics soon after Westerners were appointed as its administrators in the 1850s With the passage of time the quality and quantity of the publications were constantly improved

Re-examining the Cold War: U.S.-China Diplomacy, 1954-1973 Robert S. Ross, Changbin Jiang, 2020-03-23 The twelve essays in this volume underscore the similarities between Chinese and American approaches to bilateral diplomacy and between their perceptions of each other's policy making motivations Much of the literature on U.S.-China relations posits that each side was motivated either by ideologically informed interests or by ideological assumptions about its counterpart But as these contributors emphasize newly accessible archives suggest rather that both Beijing and Washington developed a responsive and tactically adaptable foreign policy Each then adjusted this policy in response to changing international circumstances and changing assessments of its counterpart's policies Motivated less by ideology than by pragmatic national security concerns each assumed that the other faced similar considerations

Fei Xiaotong and Sociology in Revolutionary China R. David Arkush, 2020-03-17 This biographical study of one of China's leading social scientists follows his life history and includes a bibliography of his books and articles Trained in London under Malinowski Fei Xiaotong achieved eminence in the 1930s and 1940s for his pioneering studies of Chinese peasant life and for his popular articles which stirred a wide audience in China to an awareness of social and political problems A non-Marxist who came to sympathize with the Communists Fei was gradually constrained in his activities after the Revolution until in the 1950s a massive propaganda campaign vilified him as a bourgeois rightist intellectual Almost twenty years of silence and disgrace followed Following the death of Mao Fei suddenly reemerged as a leader in the effort to revitalize the social sciences in China The story of Fei's life told here is in a sense the story of Westernized intellectuals in China at a time of peasant revolution His writings enunciate the views of a sensitive observer of Chinese and Western society during that period of dramatic change The Extraterritorial System in China: Final Phase John Carter Vincent,1970-07-01 By detailing the extent of foreign domination and privilege in China in the period between the first and second world wars when the unequal treaty system of the nineteenth century persisted in the face of burgeoning Chinese nationalism John Carter Vincent helps us to understand the sources of Chinese Communist resentment and conduct Japanese Law in Context Curtis J.
