Economics Concept And Design Of Information Intermediaries:

The Economics, Concept, and Design of Information Intermediaries Frank Rose, 2012-12-06 The Internet provides an infrastructure that makes the steadily increasing amount of information accessible efficiently quickly and inexpensively Closely connected with this opportunity is the danger that the available information will over charge the individual information seeker's capability to process the information and to judge its quality In this situation information intermediaries can take upon the role of an expert and a guarantor of quality similar to intermediaries in markets for physical goods or finances Thus information intermediaries can be a trustworthy information processing third party mediating between information seekers and information sources The current technological development has created information technologies that are capable to efficiently process large amounts of information However the provision of intermediation services necessitates a thorough examination of the basic principles underlying the economics of information intermediaries as well as a sound foundation on information technologies The present work by Frank Rose addresses the fundamental question concerning the economics of information intermediaries by means of an abstract model The model focuses on services that concentrate on the search and mediation of information and identifies the essential influencing factors of the intermediary's environment The model is then employed to investigate the impact of environmental conditions on the information intermediary on the one hand and the optimal strategy of the information intermediary as a reaction to environmental conditions on the other hand

Economics of Standards in Information Networks Tim Weitzel, 2012-12-06 Standards play a prominent role in systems characterized by interaction In information systems standards provide for compatibility and are a prerequisite for collaboration benefits More generally speaking standards constitute networks In this work a standardization framework based on an analysis of deficiencies of network effect theory and a game theoretic network equilibrium analysis is developed Fundamental determinants of diffusion processes in networks e.g. network topology agent size installed base are identified and incorporated into a computer based simulation model As a result typical network behaviour specific diffusion patterns can be explained and many findings from traditional network effect theory can be described as special cases of the model at particular parameter constellations e.g. low price high density On this basis solution strategies for standardization problems are developed and a methodological path towards a unified theory of networks is proposed

Convincing Political Stakeholders Klemens Joos, 2023-10-23 In the new edition of his standard work the founder of one of the most successful lobbying companies in the European Union EU Prof Klemens Joos bundles experience acquired over more than three decades to form a scientific theory on governmental relations It focusses on the insight that in view of the increasingly complex decision making structures of the EU the most precise possible knowledge of decision makers and decision making processes is at least equally as important to success as the content aspects of interest representation In a new chapter the author sets out the formula for science based interest representation developed by him from his practical experience With the Treaty of Lisbon which entered into force on 1 December 2009 the EU de facto became a state territory stretching from Portugal to Finland and from Ireland to Cyprus The European Parliament became an equal status decision maker alongside the Council of the European Union Council The previous co decision procedure was elevated to become the standard procedure ordinary legislative procedure The so called qualified majority 55 percent of the EU member states which simultaneously represent at least 65 percent of the EU population was introduced for all important areas in the Council As a result the outcome of

decision making processes has become largely incalculable for the actors on the European Union stage the EU member states EU regions companies associations and organisations The second edition includes a new chapter in which Prof Klemens Joos makes the variables of successful interest representation even more tangible on the basis of his scientific formula at the latest since the Treaty of Lisbon the basic prerequisite for successful interest representation in the EU involves the continuous and close intermeshing of the affected party's content competence of the four classic instruments of interest representation corporate representative offices associations public affairs agencies law firms with process structure competence i.e. the EU wide maintenance of the required spatial personnel and organisational capacities as well as strong networks across institutions political groups and member states on the part of an independent intermediary The likelihood of success can be increased exponentially if success is achieved firstly in committing to the concern of an affected party through a change of perspective such that the positive effects on the common good are shifted into the foreground for the decision makers in the EU perspective change competence and secondly in successfully integrating the concern into the crucial decision making processes at the political level and continuously supporting it process support competence Guest authors This work includes guest contributions from Prof Christian Blumhuber Berlin University of the Arts Prof Anton Meyer formerly LMU Munich Prof Armin Nassehi LMU Munich and Prof Franz Waldenberger Director of the German Institute of Japanese Studies Tokyo as well as a foreword by Prof Gunther Friedl Dean of the TUM School of Management and a preface by Prof Thomas F Hofmann President of TU Munich

Innovation in Japan Megumi Suto,Hitoshi Takehara,2025-03-21 This book focuses on the linkage between corporate social responsibility CSR engagement and innovation strategies in the context of Japanese firms beginning in the late 2000s Since that time the firms have faced transformations in their business models and CSR activities in the face of global technological competition The novelty of this book is that it carefully identifies the channels linking CSR and innovation through employee motivation for creativity and investor awareness of environmental social and governance ESG issues As well the book sheds light on the role of independent sustainability rating agencies as information intermediaries in this linkage It empirically examines whether and how internal and external stakeholder engagement influences organizational innovation capability and the impact of ESG ratings on that relationship This present work helps to provide a comprehensive understanding of the integration of multi stakeholder engagement in corporate innovation strategies to survive in changing social and environmental circumstances with insight into the role of information intermediaries in the integration process The book has practical implications for strategic CSR to achieve social and environmental sustainability which are particularly important in Japan Formation and Early Growth of Business Webs Florian Steiner,2006-03-30 Networks of firms have been in the focus of management research for several years. Recently, special attention has been paid to so-called business webs. Business webs are networks of firms which provide complements to a common product architecture. In the past, research focused on management issues of such webs but neglected the important question of how they actually came into being. The present book explicitly examines the formation and early growth of business webs. The author illustrates the early growth phases with two in-depth cases of the formation of the wireless internet ecosystem: i mode and the leading person-to-person online auction platform eBay. The book uncovers the contingencies under which the establishment of business webs is likely to succeed. Business researchers will benefit from the theoretical framework, while interested business managers will find explanations and advice for establishing a business web.
