Current Issues in Economic Integration M. Bruna Zolin, 2016-05-13 The current economic crisis has called into question the long term viability of the decoupling between multinational firms and the banking system It has also cast serious doubts on the US dollar centred monetary system and invited reassessment of the long term viability of US China economic relations based on a US current account deficit absorbed by Chinese financial institutions It is also an opportunity to analyse the rise in property prices particularly in fast growing economies Long term food security is also an issue bringing to the fore the multinational firms from emerging economies such as China and India and calling into question the response strategies of multinational firms from the West and Japan This book engages these key issues within the broad theme of integration to give an up to date consideration of the subject opening debate on the future stimulating role that Asia could play vis vis the West particularly the European Union

Plummer, Erik Jones, 2006 Regional economic integration has become a key force in international commercial policy in the 2000s Europe has traditionally embraced regionalism the United States became actively involved in preferential trading arrangements only in the 1980s While Asia has been late in accepting formal regional economic integration accords all Asian countries are now in the process of creating various free trade areas and other forms of economic integration programs and some are already in place This volume analyzes the regionalism trend from an Asian perspective It considers the lessons from and the economic implications of various economic integration programs in the OECD mostly the EU but also NAFTA as well as the proposals for closer economic integration in the region itself Chapters deal with both real and financial integration issues Sample Chapter s Chapter 1 East Asian Economic Regionalism Progress and Challenges 1 660 KB Contents Introduction M G Plummer East Asian Economic Regionalism Progress and Challenges M Kawai Sequencing Regional Integration in Asia R Pomfret ASEAN 3 Is an Economic Community in Their Future J Angresano Stock Market Performance in ASEAN Is Institutional Integration Warranted R W Click The Institution of a Single Currency Area Lessons for Asia from the European Monetary Union S Rossi Deep Integration and Its Impacts on Non Members EU Enlargement and East Asia H Lee Small Change A Critical Examination of the Economic Relationship Between South Asia and the European Union J W Moses and Maggi Brigham The Effects of North South Regional Trade Policies A Comparison of

Economic Integration and Development Mordechai Elihau Kreinin, Michael G. Plummer, 2003-01-01 The intriguing and provocative results on the effects of the single European market and NAFTA make this short book worth a read even if one is concerned only with how developing countries have been affected by regional trade agreements that do not include them Peter J Montiel Journal of Regional Science This book is an excellent attempt to pin down the effects of regional economic integration on developing countries it will prove to be a good guide for researchers and students of development economics working in the area of regional trading arrangements and policymakers and governments which are in the process of exploring the possibilities of forming free trade areas Pravakar Sahoo Development Policy Review Students interested in either the methodological issues inherent in research on trade or on the economics of trading blocs in general would profit from the book James J Hentz The European Journal of Development Research Questions related to the economics of regionalism became increasingly important beginning in the late 1980s when regional groupings started to become very popular as a tool of commercial policy The goal of this book is to address the question of whether or not regionalism in developed countries has truly benefited developing countries and to what degree regionalism among developing countries and between developed and developing countries will improve economic development prospects Mordechai Kreinin and Michael Plummer consider the implications of the emerging global trend of economic regionalism for developing countries The analysis focuses on the trade and investment effects of integration in developed countries on developing countries as well as the ramifications of regional integration in the latter After an extensive review of the theoretical and empirical literature pertinent to the economics of regionalism the book considers the ex post trade and direct foreign investment effects of the Single Market Program in Europe and NAFTA followed by chapters on ASEAN and economic integration in Latin America primarily MERCOSUR The study suggests three salient conclusions First in designing preferential trading arrangements developed countries should recognize and attempt to minimize the possible discriminating effect on developing countries Second the developing countries have an abiding interest in the success of WTO negotiations that would minimize the discrimination against them of regional groupings in Europe and North America And third any customs unions or free trade areas among the developing countries themselves should be outward looking if they are to enhance the welfare of developing countries Economists and policy scholars as well as readers interested in regionalism and economic development will find this book a great resource

Multilateralizing Regionalism Richard Baldwin, Patrick Low, 2009-02-19 Regional trade agreements RTAs have proliferated around the world in the past two decades and now nearly all members of the WTO are party to at least one Besides tariffs and rules of origin regulating trade in goods many RTAs now include provisions on services investments technical barriers to trade and competition rules as well as a host of issues not directly related to trade The geographic reach of RTAs is expanding with transcontinental agreements spreading forcefully alongside intra regional agreements Multilateralizing Regionalism was the title of a major conference held from 10 12 September 2007 at the WTO in Geneva Brought together in this publication the conference papers achieve two things First they marshal detailed new empirical work on the nature of the Spaghetti Bowl and the problems it poses for the multilateral trade system Second they contribute fresh and creative thinking on how to tame the tangle of regional trade agreements

Trade Integration in East Asia Mona Haddad, 2007 Production networks have been at the heart of the recent growth in trade among East Asian countries Fragmentation trade reflected mainly in the trade in parts and components is expanding more rapidly than the conventional trade in final goods This is mainly due to the relatively more favorable policy setting for international production agglomeration benefits arising from the early entry into this new form of specialization considerable intercountry wage differentials in the region lower trade and transport costs and specialization in products exhibiting increasing returns to scale The economic integration of China has deepened production fragmentation in East Asia countering fears of crowding out other countries for international specialization International production fragmentation in East Asia has intensified intraregional trade but has depended heavily on extraregional trade in final goods While production networks centered on China have contributed significantly to growth in East Asia they also breed vulnerabilities They have not automatically led to technology spillovers and have led to an extreme interdependence across East Asian countries

The Oxford Handbook of International Commercial Policy Mordechai E. Kreinin, Michael G. Plummer, 2012-05-31 This volume of contributions from some of the world's best known international trade economists explores and analyzes the various aspects of commercial policy in a way that standard texts in international economics do not It does this in two parts the first part covers general approaches to commercial policy including theoretical institutional historical and empirical contributions while the second part is comprised of country specific and regional applications including a series of case studies of key players in the international trading system and emerging markets

International Trade, Capital Flows and Economic Development

in East Asia Anthony Bende-Nabende, 2017-03-02 The book provides an understanding of how international trade and capital flows have engineered the development process in East Asia and examines the real and potential challenges that the region is expected to encounter in the twenty first century It integrates four topics i e capital flows East Asia globalization and economic development that are at the centre of the social political and economic debate The text highlights the region's growing strategic importance in the twenty first century globalizing world where transnational corporations are playing an increasingly decisive role in the global distribution of production and trade It blends generalised regional analyses with country specific case studies in the world's most dynamic region It is so well designed that each of the seventeen countries that comprise the region gets some space for discussion Thus the text is a valuable contribution to the social science and business literature with a special focus on the now strategic region of East Asia

The Economics of the Enterprise for ASEAN Initiative Seiji Naya, Michael G. The Political Economy of Japanese Society: Volume 2: Internationalization and Domestic Issues Junji Banno, 1998-03-12 Until recently many Japanese believed that they lived in the richest country in the world and in the early 1990s they welcomed the end of one party dominance However by the middle of the 1990s many Japanese are no longer confident in their economy nor optimistic in their politics This authoritative study analyses various aspects of Japanese society and economy in order to provide a balanced view between the optimism of the 1980s and the pessimism characteristic of more recent years The Political Economy of Japanese Society is a revision and translation of a multidisciplinary research project carried out by the Institute of Social Science at the University of Tokyo Beginning with the late nineteenth century it examines the historical developments of Japan's contemporary political economy paying particular attention to the changes that have occurred from below Social actors who have often been given peripheral treatment such as opposition parties the aged female workers and foreign workers are brought to the forefront of the analysis alongside those considered more mainstream such as the governing party large corporations and labour unions The Japanese political economy of the 1980s and 90s has had a strong impact on the global economy and this book also analyses selective influences on the outside world in particular on other Asian nations and the USA Volume 1 analyses the structures of the Japanese political economy which encouraged continuous economic growth in the period from 1955 to 1990 focusing on such phenomena as Japanese political management the Japanese employment system and one party dominance in politics Volume 2 examines some of the problems inherited from this period of dramatic economic growth

How Weak Regionalism in East Asia Works Well Luna Ge Lai, 2024-10-31 This book investigates the reasons why regionalism in East Asia has been much weaker than in Western Europe and North America It focuses particularly on economic factors examining the regional and global linkages of production networks Through a focused exploration of regional and global production networks it argues that East Asia was not as regionally concentrated as was Western Europe or North America lacking a regionally oriented productional basis to support the institutional arrangement of East Asia as a stand alone economic community Moreover the regional production networks of each national economy in the region are influenced by a different set of value added components from different global and regional origins This divergence in their positions accounts for the mushrooming of divergent initiatives and projects for regional institutional arrangement Finally the institutional choices of the states to join Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans Pacific Partnership CPTPP and or Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership RCEP are found to be strongly influenced by the sectoral focuses and priorities of their economies Demonstrating how the unique economic factors of each nation override other considerations for greater regional integration this book will be a valuable resource to students and scholars of international trade Asian politics and economics      Rethinking the East Asian Miracle Joseph E.
