The Economic World View Maki, 2001-07-23 The beliefs of economists are not solely determined by empirical evidence in direct relation to the theories and models they hold Economists hold ontological presuppositions fundamental ideas about the nature of being which direct their thinking about economic behaviour In this volume leading philosophers and economists examine these hidden presuppositions searching for a world view of economics What properties are attributed to human individuals in economic theories and which are excluded Does economic man exist Do markets have an essence Do macroeconomic aggregates exist Is the economy a mechanism the functioning of which is governed by a limited set of distinct causes What are the methodological implications of different ontological starting points This collection which establishes economic ontology as a coordinated field of study will be of great value to economists and philosophers of social sciences
