Nourse, 2025-03-04 Water into Bones explores the spiritual importance of water in Madagascar Families in northern Madagascar conceptualize water as a spiritual realm where magical creatures and some ancestors live and believe that infants are born with a special connection to the spirit world that makes them still full of water mbola rano and lacking bones Over the course of their lives the water is transformed into bone and lives end as entombed bones which symbolize their legacy as ancestors and become objects of their descendants care and remembrance Author Erin Nourse examines the ways that Malagasy women in the northern port city of Di go Suarez actively enable their infants to acquire bones and establish belonging within their communities Navigating diverse social environments that enable them to draw from various religious ethnic and familial traditions to welcome babies into their families Malagasy mothers secure their children's status as distinctive individuals who are also firmly grounded in their ancestral legacies Water into Bones reveals the vast possibilities for creating community identity and sacred power through the personal experiences of northern Malagasy women during

Religion and Gender in the Developing World Tamsin Bradley,2010-12-07 Faith based development organizations have become a central part of the lives of the women of rural Rajasthan and have come to represent an important aspect of both individual and collective identities And yet religious teachings continue to be used to exclude women from public decision making forums and render them vulnerable to increasing levels of domestic violence In a unique multi disciplinary approach combining a range of subjects Tamsin Bradley provides a unique study of the role of development organizations and faith organizations in the lives of women in rural Rajasthan Faith and religion emerge as being able to afford a space within which women are able to interact with one another and create an identity for themselves However faith proves not just to be a positive sphere in which women are able to assert themselves Its ambiguity becomes clear as the author explains that religious women often find their visions of social justice and equality marginalised by the dominance of male leadership Nevertheless Bradley also look at how religious women challenge male dominance drawing on their beliefs and practices in creative and innovative ways Thus a complex picture emerges and including insights from gender studies and anthropology Bradley argues that religion can both empower and disempower local communities and the women who live within them By analysing development through the prism of gender studies Bradley highlights the complex nature of power relationships that are at the very heart of development agendas and organizations and offers an invaluable contribution to the understanding of the nexus of varied disciplines in the analysis of women and religion in Rajasthan This book will be of interest to students reseachers and policy makers involved in various fields including those of Development Studies Religion Gender Studies and Social Anthropology Women and Religion in the First Christian Centuries Deborah F.

Sawyer,2002-11 Women and Religion in the First Christian Centuries focuses on religion during the period of Roman imperial rule and its significance in women's lives It discusses the rich variety of religious expression from pagan cults and classical mythology to ancient Judaism and early Christianity and the wide array of religious functions fulfilled by women The author analyses key examples from each context creating a vivid image of this crucial period which laid the foundations of western civilization The study challenges the concepts of religion and of women in the light of post modern critique As such it is an important contribution to contemporary gender theory In its broad and interdisciplinary approach this book will be of interest to students of early religion as well as those involved in cultural theory Aseneth's Transformation Kirsten Marie Hartvigsen,2018-12-17 The story of Joseph and Aseneth is a fascinating expansion of the narrative in Genesis of Joseph in

Egypt and in particular of his marriage to the daughter of an Egyptian priest This study examines the portrayal of Aseneth s transformation in the text focusing on three perspectives How did Aseneth s encounter with Joseph and her subsequent transformation affect various aspects of her identity in the narrative In what ways do the portrayals of Aseneth her transformation and her abode relate to select metaphors and other symbolic features depicted in the Septuagint the Hebrew Bible and the Pseudepigrapha And how do the ritualized components through which Aseneth s transformation occurred function in the narrative and why are they perceived as effective In order to shed light on these facets of Joseph and Aseneth the author draws on the contemporary approaches of intersectionality conceptual blending intertextual blending and the cognitive theory of rituals using these theoretical frameworks to explore and illuminate the complexity of Aseneth s transformation
