Emerging Human Resource Practices Developments And Debates In The New Europe:

Emerging Human Resource Practices Csaba Makó, Christopher Warhurst, John Gennard, 2003 The development and effective utilization of human resources has become a key feature in the creation of firms and nation states competitive advantage The transfer and diffusion of new employment and work practices across borders is also a key feature of the increasingly internationalized world economy The emerging new Europe grapples with these issues With Hungary Poland and the Czech Republic at the forefront of change in the region Central and Eastern Europe has become a test bed of these developments and the debates surrounding them Integrating new and original empirical material with cutting edge conceptualization this book maps and assesses change in employment and work throughout the region The contributors to the book are leading researchers in the field They provide a major contribution to the examination of the nature and extent of the transfer development and management of human resources in Central and Eastern Europe

Managing Human Resources in Central and Eastern Europe Michael J. Morley, Noreen Heraty, Snezhina Michailova, 2016-03-10 Until now no book has documented well the contemporary nature of HRM in Central and Eastern Europe Authored by leading names in the field this long awaited volume charts the landscape of HRM in this region

Global Trends in Eastern Europe Nikolai Genov, 2016-04-22 Eastern Europe was once clearly defined by the centralized political and economic organization of the societies in the region They shared the same official ideology and were members of the same alliances After 1989 the region collapsed in an economic political and cultural implosion What were the moving forces of this profound change What are its consequences Could we try to reasonably foresee any future developments In this thought provoking book Nikolai Genov presents a systematic description and explanation of Eastern European societal transformations after 1989 They are interpreted as adaptations to four global trends upgrading the rationality of organizations individualization spreading of instrumental activism and universalization of value normative systems Adaptations to these trends have generally been successful However Genov notes that the process is marked by many failures as well They are mostly caused by path dependency in the societal development and by the varying quality of relevant decisions other destructive developments are due to contradictions in the global trends themselves Guided by the assumption that the societal and supranational integration mechanisms in Eastern Europe before 1989 could not resist the overwhelming power of global trends Genov's controversial findings question visions about the end of history and simultaneously strengthen the confidence that most complex macro social processes can be rationally managed A timely book allowing for a much needed engagement in contemporary debates on the controversial processes in Eastern European transitions
