Policies and institutions shaping the business enabling environment of agrifood processors in Senegal Ilie, E.T., Kelly, S., 2022-03-03 Small and medium agrifood enterprises SMAEs such as processors transporters and other service providers play an important role in achieving sustainable development objectives For instance they connect farmers to urban markets make significant investments in rural areas provide employment to vulnerable populations such as women and youth and propel the modernization of agrifood value chains In sub Saharan Africa where agriculture comprises 53 percent of total employment and 15.5 percent of gross domestic product supporting SMAEs can have great implications for pro poor growth and rural transformation To support SMAEs in fulfilling their potential the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO has been dedicating research to better understand their policy and technical needs This publication is such output and aims to provide an assessment of the policy and institutional framework in Senegal shaping the business models of small and medium agrifood processors This systemic appraisal of Senegal's business enabling environment for SMAEs was cross fertilized with an analysis of the business models of three rice millers resulting in a related FAO technical study The role of small and medium agrifood enterprises in food systems transformation the case of rice processors in Senegal The analyses were carried out using a multidisciplinary agrifood systems approach which looks at policies and institutions related to procurement operations logistics finance marketing and sales human resources and strategic partnerships Due to its well articulated policy documents and the extensive research on various aspects of the business enabling environment conducted in the country Senegal represents a compelling case to illustrate the links between policies and the activities of agrifood processors

Divergent Paths Annette Bernhardt, Martina Morris, Mark S. Handcock, Marc A. Scott, 2001-06-21 The promise of upward mobility the notion that everyone has the chance to get ahead is one of this country's most cherished ideals a hallmark of the American Dream But in today's volatile labor market the tradition of upward mobility for all may be a thing of the past In a competitive world of deregulated markets and demanding shareholders many firms that once offered the opportunity for advancement to workers have remade themselves as leaner enterprises with more flexible work forces

Divergent Paths examines the prospects for upward mobility of workers in this changed economic landscape. Based on an innovative comparison of the fortunes of two generations of young white men over the course of their careers, Divergent Paths documents the divide between the upwardly mobile and the growing numbers of workers caught in the low wage trap. The first generation entered the labor market in the late 1960s, a time of prosperity and stability in the U.S. labor market, while the second generation started work in the early 1980s just as the new labor market was being born amid recession, deregulation, and the weakening of organized labor. Tracking both sets of workers over time, the authors show that the new labor market is more volatile and less forgiving than the labor market of the 1960s and 1970s. Jobs are less stable and the penalties for failing to find a steady employer are more severe for most workers. At the top of the job pyramid, the new nomads—highly credentialed, well-connected workers—regard each short-term project as a springboard to a better-paying position, while at the bottom, a growing number of retail workers, data-entry clerks, and telemarketers are consigned to a succession of low-paying dead-end jobs. While many commentators dismiss public anxieties about job insecurity as overblown, Divergent Paths carefully documents hidden trends in today's job market which confirm many of the public's fears. Despite the celebrated job market of recent years, the authors show that the old labor market of the 1960s and 1970s propelled more workers up the earnings ladder than does today's labor market. Divergent Paths concludes with a discussion of policy strategies such as regional partnerships linking corporate, union, government, and community resources which may help repair the career paths that once made upward mobility a realistic ambition for all American workers.

Quantitative Research in Economics and Management Sciences Agnieszka Zakrzewska-Bielawska, Anna M. Lis, Anna Ujwary-Gil, 2022-01-01 In this thematic issue of the Journal of Entrepreneurship Management and Innovation entitled Qualitative Research in Economics and Management Sciences the authors used many quantitative methods and research models e.g. SEM PLS SEM or probit models Table 1 Each of these approaches is characterized by methodological rigor and an assessment of the reliability and validity of the research instruments used Pini and Tchorek 2022 analyze the determinants of exports in two European culturally related countries such as Italy and Poland using an econometric and probit model which implies a normal distribution of errors and is adapted to binary responses excluding size and age variables The authors investigate the influence of many independent variables size age management by family members or external managers on the dependent variable export controlling the research model by product and process innovation location in a less developed region operations in a high medium high technology intensive sector or cooperation with many banks The results confirm the authors initial assumptions that the size of companies influences the exports of the surveyed countries the age of companies exporting their goods is more important in Italy than in Poland where no such impact has been recorded In addition management by an external manager increases the likelihood of exports for younger family businesses in Italy and smaller family businesses in Poland The authors also showed that product innovation is the engine of exports in Italy and Poland and geographic location affects the likelihood of exports in Italy but not in Poland In other studies Paulino 2022 presents the growing business analytics and business intelligence in the Philippines their impact on organizational performance and marketing financial and business process performance indicators Retail companies were selected for the study focusing on advanced data management used in business operations The author mainly used the well known PLS SEM model and his research instrument was assessed in terms of content validity construct validity and reliability The results of the measurement and structural model evaluation were also subject to verification The results indicate the impact of business analytics capabilities including the ability of the decision support system DSS business process improvement BPM data dashboard DD and financial analysis FA on the business intelligence level In addition it has been empirically verified that organizational performance influences marketing financial and business process performance Overall business intelligence is an essential predictor of a retail company's organizational performance The assumption that the level of readiness to implement business analytics can be treated as a moderating factor between business analytics and organizational performance has not been confirmed The next article by Klimontowicz and Majewska 2022 presents the positive impact of intellectual capital IC especially its three components such as process capital human capital and relational capital on the competitiveness of banks and market efficiency The authors used the following methods and tools Principal Axis Factor Analysis PLS SEM PAPI and CAWI As a result of their application they emphasize that in contrast to previous research the process capital dominates the bank s potential to create a competitive advantage not human capital proving the vital role of technology and innovation They found that competitive performance moderates the relationship between IC and market efficiency the environment positively moderates the relationship between IC and competitor performance as well as the relationship between competitor performance and market efficiency The size of the bank and the length of its market activity affect the market efficiency measured by the average rate of changes in ROA and ROE The study expands the existing evidence mainly from well developed countries on the intellectual capital of Polish banks emphasizing the process capital to a much greater extent as a modern and so far little exposed component of IC in other research The last two articles refer to human resource management Hassan s study 2022 explores the impact of human resource management HRM practices on employee retention In addition he moderates the role of performance evaluation training and development in the relationship between HRM practices and employee retention Using SEM and questionnaires validated by other researchers the author proves the originality of research in the retail sector in the Maldives on improving employee retention a complementary approach to the impact of rewards and compensations training and employee development as well as assessing their results in human capital management recommending practical solutions for the sector retail Maldives In another study on workers adaptive performance Tan and Antonio 2022 using PLS SEM prove that the new form of remote work and the so called e leadership forced by the COVID 19 pandemic have changed the way employers and employees interact Organizational commitment teleworking and a sense of purpose affect the adaptive performance of employees directly while the perception of e leadership indirectly It is also one of the first studies to capture intrinsic motivation as the antecedent of employee adaptive performance along with perceived e leadership and teleworking results Human
