As the post apartheid government enters its second term this captivating volume assesses its progress in unravelling the geography of apartheid both in South Africa itself and in its relationships with other countries in Southern Africa and Africa. It also considers the ways in which South Africa now that it is no longer a pariah state has begun to position itself within the current global economy. Examining South Africa's land and agriculture, mining and minerals, manufacturing, tourism, corporate finance, the labour market and transport, the volume discusses the challenges of balancing growth and redistribution, the extent and nature of progress, change and relationships within the regional and global economy. A compelling investigation into the economics of South Africa's neighbouring states in relation to their natural resources, colonialism and inter relationships with themselves and with South Africa leads to a focus on the region as a whole and its relations with the global economy.

State of Empowerment Carolyn Barnes, 2020-02-21. On weekday afternoons dismissal bells signal not just the end of the school day but also the beginning of another important activity: the federally funded after school programs that offer tutoring, homework help and basic supervision to millions of American children. Nearly one in four low income families enroll a child in an after school program. Beyond sharpening students' math and reading skills, these programs also have a profound impact on parents. In a surprising turn, especially given the long history of social policies that leave recipients feeling policed, distrusted and alienated, government funded after school programs have quietly become powerful forces for political and civic engagement by shifting power away from bureaucrats and putting it back into the hands of parents. In State of Empowerment, Carolyn Barnes uses ethnographic accounts of three organizations to reveal how interacting with government funded after school programs can enhance the civic and political lives of low income citizens.
