Military Stress and Performance George E. Kearney, 2003 People comprise the backbone of any military force But what happens when the stress of operations becomes overwhelming and those people fail to cope Stress can have negative consequences for the individual the organisation and even for overall combat effectiveness The Australian Defence Force has spent many years researching how to maximise individual resilience and performance in the face of extreme stress For the first time this wealth of knowledge and experience has been brought together in one volume This work examines the impact of highly stressful events such as combat and peacekeeping operations on individual troops and leaders with a particular focus on factors that build resilience and maximise performance under stress Managing stress is an important issue not only for the military but equally for other high risk professions such as the police and emergency services This work provides a unique synthesis of a wide range of research and clinical and personal experience providing a coherent integrated approach to the subject Of particular use to mental health professionals it will also be of interest to general readers of military and psychology books

Reference Albert R. Roberts, Gilbert J. Greene, 2002 Following in the groundbreaking path of its predecessor the second edition of the Social Workers Desk Reference provides reliable and highly accessible information about effective services and treatment approaches across the full spectrum of social work practice Treating Compassion Fatigue Charles R.

Figley, 2013-05-13 In recent years much has occurred in the field of traumatology including the widening of the audience and the awareness of PTSD post traumatic stress disorder This book from celebrated traumatology pioneer Charles Figley further clarifies the concept of compassion fatigue through theory research and treatment The basic thesis of this book is the identification assessment and treatment of compassion fatigue and this is done over eleven chapters each from distinguished researchers in the field Emergency Medical Services United States. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 1996

Psychological Debriefing Beverley Raphael, John Wilson, 2000-10-12 A balanced critical review of psychological debriefing by an eminent international team published in 2000 Compassion Fatigue Charles R. Figley, 2013-06-17 First published in 1995 Traumatology or the field of traumatic stress studies has become a dominant focus of interest in the mental health fields only in the past decade Yet the origin of the study of human reactions to traumatic events can be traced to the earliest medical writings in Kunus Papyrus published in 1900 B C in Egypt Many factors account for the recent emergence of this field including a growing awareness of the long term consequences of shocking events Among these consequences are violence toward others extraordinary depression dysfunctional behavior and a plethora of medical maladies associated with emotional stress This is the latest in a series of books that have focused on the immediate and long term consequences of highly stressful events The purposes of the book then are a to introduce the concept of compassion fatigue as a natural and disruptive by product of working with traumatized and troubled clients b to provide a theoretical basis for the assessment and treatment of compassion stress and compassion fatigue c to explain the difference between compassion fatigue and PTSD burnout and countertransference d to identify innovative methods for treating compassion fatigue in therapists and e to suggest methods for preventing compassion fatigue First Responder Mental Health Michael L. Bourke, Vincent B. Van Hasselt, Sam J. Buser, 2023-10-12 This edited volume provides mental health clinicians with knowledge to effectively work with current and former first responders It provides strategies on how to best develop and adapt clinical assessment procedures and therapeutic interventions to better meet the unique needs found in these settings Chapters synthesize existing literature to introduce the reader to profession specific factors issues that exist in these contexts and describe the challenges that can present when working with police firefighters EMS emergency communications operators crime scene investigators and corrections personnel The book covers a range of topics that clinicians and trainees need to understand the relevant issues develop effective treatment plans and deliver appropriate psychological services in public safety settings First Responder Mental Health A Clinician's Guide will be essential reading for mental health professionals working with first responders as well as those in training Contemporary Ergonomics E. J. Lovesay, 2020-10-28 This book is based on the proceedings of the Ergonomics Society's 1992 Annual Conference Birmingham England 7-10 April 1992 It contains papers covering environmental studies musculoskeletal studies working postures and anthropometry safety and military ergonomics Disaster Psychiatry, Second Edition Frederick J. Stoddard, Jr., M.D., Craig L. Katz, M.D., Grant H. Brenner, M.D., 2024-11-18 Improving Organizational Interventions for Stress and Well-being Caroline Biron, Maria Karanika-Murray, Cary L. Cooper, 2012 This book brings together a number of experts in the field of organizational interventions for stress and well being and discusses the importance of process and context issues to the success or failure of such interventions The book explores how context and process can be incorporated into program evaluation providing examples of how this can be done and offers insights that aim to improve working life Although there is a substantial body of research supporting a causal relationship between working conditions and employee stress and well being information on how to develop effective strategies to reduce or eliminate psychosocial risks in the workplace is much more scarce ambiguous and inconclusive Indeed researchers in this field have so far attempted to evaluate the effectiveness of organizational interventions to improve workers health and well being but little attention has been paid to the strategies and processes likely to enhance or undermine interventions The focus of this volume will help to overcome this qualitative quantitative divide This book discusses conceptual developments practical applications and methodological issues in the field

As such it is suitable for students practitioners and researchers in the fields of organizational psychology and clinical psychology as well as human resources management health safety medicine occupational health risk management and public health Trauma Counseling, Second Edition Lisa López Levers, 2022-02-24 The only comprehensive text to focus on trauma stress crisis and disaster counseling from a clinical practice perspective This overarching text intended both for mental health practitioners in training and for practicing clinicians focuses on the impact of stress crisis trauma and disaster on diverse populations across the lifespan as well as on effective treatment strategies The second edition is newly grounded in a trauma scaffold providing foundational information that therapists can build upon step by step to treat individuals affected by more complex trauma events This resource newly addresses the mental health implications of COVID 19 which has had an enormous impact on multitudes of people since the beginning of the pandemic its repercussions likely to continue for some time into the future The text also is updated to provide the most recent diagnostic information regarding trauma in the DSM 5 Two new chapters address the confluence of crises related to anthropogenic climate change and the effects of mass violence This unrivalled resource emphasizes stress management and crisis intervention skills as important building blocks for working with more complex issues of trauma and disaster It underscores the idea that trauma must be approached from multiple perspectives and in multiple dimensions encompassing individual community societal and systemic implications along with multicultural and diversity frames of reference The text integrates the latest findings from neuropsychology and psychopharmacology with an emphasis on Polyvagal Theory Additionally the text highlights the importance of clinical supervision in trauma care and examines ethical dimensions and the need for self care among trauma counselors Purchase includes digital access for use on most mobile devices or computers New to the Second Edition Reconceptualizes the text with the concept of a Trauma Scaffold as a foundation upon which to understand and develop treatment for increasingly complex trauma events Addresses the COVID 19 pandemic and its profound effect on the mental health of vast numbers of people Includes two new chapters on the confluence of crises related to anthropogenic climate change and the effects of mass violence Includes PowerPoint slides to accompany an updated Instructor's Manual Key Features Delivers both introductory and advanced clinical information addressing complex trauma Addresses trauma from a bioecological framework with emphasis on trauma informed practices multicultural pluralism diversity and social justice Considers neurobiological responses to trauma with new research and the contributions of Polyvagal Theory Examines individual familial community society and systemic understandings of stress crisis trauma and disaster Includes a wealth of resources for further study text boxes and case studies to reinforce learning Stress Management for the Emergency Care Provider Alan A.
