Globalization, Growth and Marginalization A.S. Bhalla, 1998-09-12 Globalization is defined in economic terms to mean freer flows of trade foreign direct investment and finance and liberalization of trade and investment policies Impacts of globalization and information technology are examined in terms of growth and productivity poverty and income distribution and employment Experiences of Africa East and Southeast Asia South Asia and Latin America in the era of globalization are discussed It is argued that benefits of freer trade and capital flows need to be managed carefully in order to minimise the costs and maximise gains Critical Perspectives on Globalization and Neoliberalism in the Developing Countries Richard Harris, Melinda Seid, 2021-10-01 This book gives a critique of the contemporary global capitalist system and the adverse consequences suffered by the developing countries as a result of their integration into this system The current neoliberal paradigm of capitalist development as the only or the best alternative for the economic social and political development of the developing countries is rejected The authors search for more human and ecologically sustainable alternatives focusing on Latin America Asia and women Contributors are David Barkijn Robert N Gwynne Richard L Harris Crist bal Kay Jorge Nef Mustapha Kamal Pasha Cathy A Rakowski Wilder Robles Melinda J Seid and John Weeks Unemployment in Asia John Benson, Ying Zhu, 2005-07-29 The rate of economic change in East Asia over the past two decades has been astounding High levels of growth have been experienced by a number of the region s developing economies centralized systems have developed large market sectors Japan has suffered a prolonged downturn and the 1997 crisis plunged the region into economic turmoil This volume presents an in depth analysis of the effects of these changes on employment in the region Chapters are devoted to market restructuring in China and Vietnam the Asian crisis and recovery and Japan s business doldrums The unique case of Malaysia one regional economy that needs to import workers is also brought into play as is the example of high tech Taiwan Underpinning these case studies is a common theoretical framework and a strong structure for understanding With its solid research the book focuses on a relatively unexplored aspect of one of the world s most dynamic economic regions Globalisation and the Asia-Pacific Iyanatul Islam, Moazzem Hossain, 2006-06-27 Presents contested perspectives on globalisation illustrated by the diverse experiences of selected economies of the Asia Pacific as case studies Country experiences ranging from broad political economy perspectives to industry case studies are discussed Australian Islam from Griffith university      The Employment Impact of China's WTO Accession A. S. Bhalla, Shufang Qiu, S. Qiu, 2003-11-20 The book explores the macroeconomic and sectoral employment implications in agriculture industry and services of China's World Trade Organisation accession. It argues that while short run employment losses may occur in the longer term China will be able to generate additional employment particularly in the tertiary sectors and that it can maintain its comparative advantage in labour intensive exports by relocating production from high cost coastal areas to the hinterland with abundant supply of cheap labour. It also argues that although China is likely to benefit in the long run in the short and medium term China is likely to face enormous problems including increased unemployment as weaker links cease to be protected by tariffs and the problem of restructuring state owned enterprises.

Arab Development Challenges of the New Millennium Belkacem Laabas, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002. In 2000 a major international conference was organized by the Arab Planning Institute to identify, analyze and compare development challenges facing Arab countries at the dawn of the new millennium. An interdisciplinary team of scholars were brought together from the fields of regional science, development studies, economics, business and government policy and together they addressed global, regional and domestic challenges and their impact on the Arab region. This volume brings together the best papers presented at this conference. In doing so it offers up to date insights into and a clearer understanding of this region. It highlights issues including economic and social implications of globalization, strategic alliances, the implications for Arab countries of emerging technological patterns, the impact of the European Monetary Union and the euro, Arab regional integration, education and the development of individual Arab country's economies.

Good Growth and Governance in Africa Akbar Noman, 2012 This volume reflects the highlights of their deliberations.

Globalization, Labour Markets and Inequality in India Dipak Mazumdar, Sandip Sarkar, 2020-11-25 India started on a program of reforms both in its external and internal aspects sometime in the mid eighties and going on into the nineties. While the increased exposure to world markets, globalization and relaxation of domestic controls has undoubtedly given a spurt to the GDP growth rate, its impact on poverty, inequality and employment have been controversial. This book examines in detail these aspects of post reform India and discerns the changes and trends which these new developments have created. Providing an original analysis of unit level data available from the quinquennial National Sample Surveys, the Annual Surveys of Industries and other basic data sources, the authors analyze and compare the results with other pieces of work in the literature. As well as describing the overall situation for India, the book highlights regional differences and looks at the major industrial sectors such as agriculture, manufacturing and tertiary services. The important topic of labor market institutions, both for the formal or organized and the unorganized sectors, is considered and the possible adverse effect on employment growth of the regulatory labor framework is examined carefully. Since any reform of this framework must go hand in hand with better state intervention in the informal sector to have any chance of acceptance, politically, some of the major initiatives in this area are critically explored. Overall, this book will be of great interest to development economists labour economists and specialists in South Asian Studies The Dynamics of Asian Labour Markets John Benson, Ying Zhu, 2011-03-02 This book explores the dynamics of Asian labour markets in a cross section of eight Asian economies including Japan South Korea Taiwan Hong Kong Singapore China India Vietnam Thailand and Indonesia It considers how these markets have responded to globalisation and assesses likely future trends and developments Globalization, Labor Markets and Inequality in India Dipak Mazumdar, Sandip Sarkar, 2008 India started on a program of reforms both in its external and internal aspects sometime in the mid eighties and going on into the nineties While the increased exposure to world markets globalization and relaxation of domestic controls has undoubtedly given a spurt to the GDP growth rate its impact on poverty inequality and employment have been controversial This book examines in detail these aspects of post reform India and discerns the changes and trends which these new developments have created Providing an original analysis of unit level data available from the quinquennial National Sample Surveys the Annual Surveys of Industries and other basic data sources the authors analyse and compare the results with other pieces of work in the literature As well as describing the overall situation for India the book highlights regional differences and looks at the major industrial sectors such as agriculture manufacturing and tertiary services The important topic of labor market institutions both for the formal or organized and the unorganized sectors is considered and the possible adverse effect on employment growth of the regulatory labor framework is examined carefully Since any reform of this framework must go hand in hand with better state intervention in the informal sector to have any chance of acceptance politically some of the major initiatives in this area are critically explored Overall this book will be of great interest to development economists labour economists and specialists in South Asian Studies Workforce Development and Skill Formation in Asia John Benson, Howard Gospel, Ying Zhu, 2013-05-29 Asia has undergone rapid transformation over the past several decades as many countries have embraced new technologies and the processes of globalisation Over this period the inflow of foreign capital into the region the level of trade amongst these countries and trade with other parts of the world has increased substantially The ensuing economic growth has led to some significant changes in labour markets and the demand for skilled employees and their deployment within organisations Focusing on a number of developed and developing Asian economies this book explores the dynamics of workforce development and skill formation and considers questions of both skills shortages and skills gaps The book assesses the current state of training in the selected Asian economies the weaknesses and strengths of their various training approaches and what the present state of training means for the future economic development of these economies Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty-First Century - Volume II Ismail Sirageldin, 2008-12-31 Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty First Century is a component of Encyclopedia of Human Resources Policy Development and Management in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty Encyclopedias The volume of Human Development examines the state and nature of human development and identifies factors that determine its promotion for the twenty first century A general goal since the ultimate goal for human development is to enhance the quality of human life However the concept quality of human life is not well defined It is determined by a set of interrelated factors that cut across many disciplines with varied perspectives and paradigms These include the prevailing culture health status economic performance technological development political and social conditions the building of human capacity and capabilities and institutional development on the local and global levels For example in an environment characterized by a better quality of human life it is expected that people will be able to lead long and productive lives They are also expected to enjoy good health have access to knowledge and educational opportunities and be treated by all with respect in a socially equitable and dignified manner In the sphere of political economy they are expected to have the opportunity to participate in governance decisions that affect their lives and the community in which they live and to have the potential to earn sufficient income to supply themselves with adequate nutrition shelter and other material and aesthetic needs Furthermore people are expected to maintain a sustainable environment and equitable social contracts across space and generations especially in the context of the evolving global governance The volume of Sustainable Human Development in the Twenty First Century is divided into five topics which are then expanded into multiple subtopics each as a chapter presented in two volumes The first is Major issues in Human Development and provides an over view of the Topic with emphasis on the sociological foundation of human development The second Topic Diversity and Historical Processes reviews the historical and technological processes which have led to the present state of human diversity and differentiation The third Topic Causes of Global Change focuses on whether it is possible in the present global environment to enlarge people s capabilities so that economic progress may be translated into a multidimensional human happiness The fourth Topic Consequences of Global Change examines global change not in the narrow sense of short term economic change but rather as historical waves of long term development The fifth Topic on Planning Strategies reviews current practice and projects challenges in the next century These two volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers and NGOs
