

The background of the book cover is a reproduction of a painting in the Impressionist style, likely by J.M.W. Turner. It depicts a busy Parisian street scene, possibly the Rue de la Harpe, with figures in 19th-century attire, horse-drawn carriages, and buildings in the background. The brushwork is visible and the colors are somewhat muted and atmospheric.

expressionist Paul van Ostaijen Bru locates these writers within their exceptional democratic context and demonstrates how the modernist avant garde during the First World War and the upheavals that followed found itself caught up in a series of states of exception In such states legal democratic institutions were bracketed and set aside and literature as an autonomous realm was temporarily suspended Faced with extreme forms of politicisation avant gardists throughout Europe tried to safeguard literature s autonomy in a variety of ways These included turning politics and law into genuinely artistic materials and producing a repertoire of alternatives to existent frameworks of democracy Against assertions that anti art avant garde gestures were meant to overcome art s autonomy and approximate the condition of politics Bru shows that European avant gardists may well have been one of the staunchest defenders of art s sovereignty in modern times Key Features Facilitates dialogue between Anglo American and European modernist studies Presents new interpretations of Berlin Dada futurism and expressionism and brings an innovative historical framework with which to analyse continental modernism Provides an original perspective on modernist writing and theory during the first decades of the foregoing century Offers in the introductory chapter a survey of ways in which to relate experimental writing to politics En avant Dada ,1930

Dada's Subject and Structure Brandon Pelcher, 2023-07-11 Dada's Subject and Structure argues that Dadaist praxis was far more theoretically incisive than previous scholarship has indicated The book combines theoretical frameworks surrounding ideological subject

formation with critical media and genre histories in order to more closely read Dadaist techniques e.g. montage irony nonsense etc across multiple works. These readings reveal both Dada's preternatural focus on the discursive aspects of subject formation, linguistic sign, literary manifesto, photographic image, commodity form, aesthetics, which comprise the project's chapters, and on Dada's performative sabotage and subversion of them. In addition to highlighting commonalities between Dadaist works, artists, and chapters previously imagined disparate, the book shows how Dada simultaneously prefigured structuralist theories of subject formation and pre-performed post-structuralist critiques of those theories.

Dada in the Collection of the Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), Anne Umland, Adrian Sudhalter, 2008. Presents some seventy works: books, collages, drawings, films, paintings, photographs, photomontages, prints, readymades, reliefs, in large-scale reproductions, and accompanying them with in-depth essays by an interdepartmental group of the Museum's curators. Front jacket flap: An Audience of Artists. Catherine Craft, 2012-05-30. An Audience of Artists turns this time line for the postwar New York art world on its head, presenting a new pedigree for these artistic movements. Drawing on an array of previously unpublished material, Catherine Craft reveals that Neo Dada, far from being a reaction to Abstract Expressionism, actually originated at the heart of that movement's concerns about viewers' originality and artists' debts to the past and one another. Furthermore, she argues, the original Dada movement was not incompatible with Abstract Expressionism. In fact, Dada provided a vital historical reference for artists and critics seeking to come to terms with the radical departure from tradition that Abstract Expressionism seemed to represent. Tracing the activities of artists such as Robert Motherwell, Barnett Newman, and Jackson Pollock alongside Marcel Duchamp's renewed embrace of Dada in the late 1940s, Craft explores the challenges facing artists trying to work in the wake of a destructive world war and the paintings, objects, writings, and installations that resulted from their efforts. Jacket: Silence and Absence in Literature and Music, 2016-04-08. This volume focusses on the rarely discussed reverse side of traditional given objects of studies, namely absence rather than presence of text and silence rather than sound. It does so from the bifocal and interdisciplinary perspective which is a hallmark of the book series Word and Music Studies. The twelve contributors to the main subject of this volume approach it from various systematic and historical angles and cover, among others, questions such as to what extent absence can become significant in the first place or iconic silent functions of musical scores, as well as discussions of fields ranging from baroque opera to John Cage's 4.33. The volume is complemented by two contributions dedicated to further surveying the vast field of word and music studies. The essays collected here were originally presented at the Ninth International Conference on Word and Music Studies held at London University in August 2013 and organised by the International Association for Word and Music Studies. They are of relevance to scholars and students of literature, music, and intermediality studies, as well as to readers generally interested in phenomena of absence and silence. Theories of Modern Art Herschel Browning Chipp, Herschel B.
