

EN AVANT LA ZIZIQUE

« Nous avons juré de composer un ouvrage sur la chanson, et dussions-nous crever à la tâche, nous l'allons faire... ».

« Maintenant que c'est fait, il faut une conclusion, me souffle mon éditeur... La voici : à relire ces pages, je crois bien que deux choses, en toutes circonstances et dans toutes les situations m'indisposent : la trouille et la malhonnêteté...

Mais ça ne fait rien, il y a des auteurs honnêtes, des interprètes consciencieux, des éditeurs scrupuleux, des marchands de disques qualifiés, des techniciens de valeur, des critiques avisés et des producteurs de radio qui ne se dégonflent pas.

Ce sont vos amis. Ce sont les miens aussi. C'est à eux que je dédie ces quelques pages ».

En Avant La Zizique:

From the chanson française to the canzone d'autore in the 1960s and 1970s Rachel Haworth, 2016-03-03 The similarities between the chanson française and the canzone d'autore have been often noted but never fully explored. Both genres are national forms which involve the figure of the singer-songwriter, both experienced their golden age of production in the post-World War II period and both are enduringly popular, still accounting for a large proportion of record sales in their respective countries. Rachel Haworth looks beyond these superficial similarities and investigates the nature of the relationship between the two genres. Taking a multidisciplinary approach encompassing textual analysis of song lyrics, cultural history and popular music studies, Haworth considers the different ways in which French and Italian song is thought about, written about and constructed. Through an in-depth study of the discourse surrounding chanson and the canzone d'autore, the volume analyses the development of the genres' rules and rhetoric, identifying the key themes of Authority, Authenticity and Influence. The book finally considers the legacy of major artists, looking at modern perspectives on Georges Brassens, Jacques Brel, Léo Ferré, Fabrizio De André and Giorgio Gaber, ultimately affording a deeper understanding of the notions of quality and value in the context of chanson française and the canzone d'autore. The Flight of the Angels Alistair Charles Rolls, 2023-11-27 It is a close study of four novels by Boris Vian. It aims to show how L'Automne P, kin, L'Herbe rouge and L'Arrache-cœur form a unified and coherent tetralogy. By establishing close links between these four texts, it becomes possible to achieve a more comprehensive understanding, not only of the significance of the tetralogy in exposing a complex and multi-layered novelistic strategy at the heart of the Vianesque, but of the individual novels as autonomous creations. An examination of the novels reveals that they are not merely joined to one another via a superficial network of textual similarities, that which I refer to as intratextuality, but that this intertwining is emblematic of a common method of narrative construction. Each Vian novel is dependent for a thorough understanding of the text to be possible upon the multiple lines of external influence running through it. The sources of this influence, which I refer to as intertextuality, are located in various major texts of twentieth-century literature, anglophone as well as francophone. Thus, in each instance, the narrative is driven by a complicated interaction of intratextuality and intertextuality. Translation and Music Sebnem Susam-Sarajeva, 2016-04-08 Popular and multimodal forms of cultural products are becoming increasingly visible within translation studies research. Interest in translation and music, however, has so far been relatively limited, mainly because translation of musical material has been considered somewhat outside the limits of translation studies as traditionally conceived. Difficulties associated with issues such as the musicality of lyrics, the fuzzy boundaries between translation, adaptation and rewriting, and the pervasiveness of covert or unacknowledged translations of musical elements in a variety of settings, have generally limited the research in this area to overt and canonized translations such as those done for the opera. Yet the intersection of translation and music can be a fascinating field to explore, and one which can enrich our understanding of what translation is and how it relates to other forms of expression This special issue is an attempt to open up the field of translation and music to a wider audience within translation studies and to an extent within musicology and cultural studies The volume includes contributions from a wide range of musical genres and languages from those that investigate translation and code switching in North African rap and rai and the intertextual and intersemiotic translations revolving around Mahler's lieder in Chinese to the appropriation and after life of Kurdish folk songs in Turkish and the emergence of rock n roll in Russian Other papers examine the reception of Anglo American stage musicals and musical films in Italy and Spain the concept of singability with examples from Scandinavian languages and the French dubbing of musical episodes of TV series The volume also offers an annotated bibliography on opera translation and a general bibliography on translation and music

Blues for a Black Cat and Other Stories Boris Vian, 2021-08-18 Blues for a Black Cat brings back the nimble Vian in a collection of his short fiction initially published as Les Fourmis in 1949 The work has the unmistakable flavor of the time and place Claude Abadie's jazz band the coded and absurdist messages of rebellion the wistful fables verbal riffs and goofy anarchic encounters the mise en scene includes an expiring jazzman who sells his sweat a cat with a British accent and a piano that mixes a cocktail when Mood Indigo is played Boston Globe

From Vocal Poetry to Song Jean Nicolas De Surmont, 2017-11-23 Although the song is often the subject of monographs one of its forms remains insufficiently researched the vocalised song communicated to the spectator through performance The study of the song takes one back to the study of vocal practices from aesthetic objects to forms and to plural styles To conceive a song means approaching it in its different instances of creation as well as its linguistic diversity Jean Nicolas De Surmont proposes ways of research and analysis useful to musicians musicologists and literary critics alike In his book he takes up the issue of vocal poetry in addition to examining the theoretic aspects of song objects Rather than offering an autonomous model of analysis De Surmont extends the research fields and suggests responses to debates that have involved everyone interested in vocal poetic forms The Idea of Europe in Literature Susanne Fendler, Ruth Wittlinger, 1999-09-11

The relevance of culture has recently enjoyed increasing recognition for the study of European integration and a European identity Appeals to a common European culture as well as appeals to different national cultures have been used respectively as a means to pursue political ends Paying tribute to literature's role as an important constituent part of a culture this collection of essays explores literary representations of Europe and its nation states and should be of particular value to anyone who is interested in cultural political or literary studies in the European context Music and Trance Gilbert Rouget, 1985-12-15 Ritual trance has always been closely associated with music but why and how Gilbert Rouget offers an extended analysis of music and trance concluding that no universal law can explain the relations between music and trance they vary greatly and depend on the system of meaning of their cultural context Rouget rigorously examines a worldwide corpus of data from ethnographic literature but he also draws on the Bible his own fieldwork in West Africa and the writings of Plato Ghazzali and Rousseau To organize this immense store of information he develops a typology of trance based on symbolism and external manifestations He outlines the fundamental distinctions between trance and ecstasy shamanism and spirit possession and communal and emotional trance Music is analyzed in terms of performers practices instruments and associations with dance Each kind of trance draws strength from music in different ways at different points in a ritual Rouget concludes In possession trance music induces the adept to identify himself with his deity and allows him to express this identification through dance Forcefully rejecting pseudo science and reductionism Rouget demystifies the so called theory of the neurophysiological effects of drumming on trance He concludes that music's physiological and emotional effects are inseparable from patterns of collective representations and behavior and that music and trance are linked in as many ways as there are cultural structures Serge Gainsbourg
