

A woman with long blonde hair, wearing a plaid coat over a dark top, is shown in a state of distress or fear. She is looking upwards and to the side with a pained expression. Behind her, a person in dark clothing is partially visible, standing in a wooded area with bare trees and a rocky ground. The overall atmosphere is dark and ominous.

Fenn,L.I. de Bauer,Tomas Hernandez-Tejeda,2012-12-06 At present roughly half of the world s population lives in urban centers There are now more than 20 cities with a population of over 10 million inhabitants compared to less than 5 about 50 years ago This tendency toward urbanization is expected to continue particularly in the developing world A consequence of this growing trend is that millions of people are being exposed to harmful levels of urban air pollutants caused mainly by emissions from motor vehicles and from industrial and domestic activities involving the combustion of fossil fuels The driving force for the design and implementation of emission control strategies aimed at improving air quality has been the protection of the health of the population in urban centers There are however other consequences of the presence of air pollutants besides the direct effect on human health Reduced visibility damage to monuments and buildings and many other such consequences indirectly affect our quality of life Another set of consequences involves damage to ecological systems In fact the nature of photochemical smog was first uncovered in the 1950s in connection with observations of its harmful effects on crops and plants in the vicinity of Los Angeles Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2013

Worlds Ending. Ending Worlds Jenny Stümer,Michael Dunn,2023-12-04 The notion of apocalypse is an age old concept which has gained renewed interest in popular and scholarly discourse The book highlights the versatile explications of apocalypse today demonstrating that apocalyptic transformations the various encounters with anthropogenic climate change nuclear violence polarized politics colonial assault and capitalist extractivism navigate a range of interdisciplinary views on the present moment Moving from old worlds to new worlds from world ending experiences to apocalyptic imaginaries and finally from authoritarianism to activism and advocacy the contributions begin to map the emerging field of Apocalyptic and Post Apocalyptic Studies Foregrounding the myriad ways in which collective imaginations of apocalypse underpin ethical political and sometimes individual experience the authors provide key points of reference for understanding old and new predicaments that are transforming our many worlds The Ecology and Biogeography of Nothofagus Forests Thomas T. Veblen,Robert S. Hill,Jennifer Read,1996-01-01 Ecologists and biogeographers have been intrigued for a long time by the striking similarity of the vegetation and flora of southern temperate zone regions separated by large oceans These scientists have been particularly interested in the occurrence in these regions of Nothofagus southern beeches This book which focuses on the distribution history and ecology of the genus Nothofagus provides a key to understanding the historical plant geography and modern vegetation patterns of the southern hemisphere The book begins with a discussion of the long term and broad scale patterns of origin and differentiation in the genus Next each major Nothofagus biome is discussed first in a chapter that considers contemporary ecological patterns and then in a chapter that focuses on the history and paleoecology of the region Authorities in the field deal with the temperate zone of the southwest Pacific region New Zealand and Australia the adjacent tropical zone of the southwest Pacific New Guinea and New Caledonia and South America ranging from the Mediterranean type climate region of central Chile to the subantarctic latitudes of Tierra del Fuego

Tropical Montane Cloud Forests L. A. Bruijnzeel, F. N. Scatena, L. S. Hamilton, 2011-01-06 This volume represents a uniquely comprehensive overview of our current knowledge on tropical montane cloud forests 72 chapters cover a wide spectrum of topics including cloud forest distribution climate soils biodiversity hydrological processes hydrochemistry and water quality climate change impacts and cloud forest conservation management and restoration The final chapter presents a major synthesis by some of the world's leading cloud forest researchers which summarizes our current knowledge and considers the sustainability of these forests in an ever changing world This book presents state of the art knowledge concerning cloud forest occurrence and status as well as the biological and hydrological value of these unique forests The presentation is academic but with a firm practical emphasis It will serve as a core reference for academic researchers and students of environmental science and ecology as well as practitioners natural resources management forest conservation and decision makers at local national and international levels

Biodiversity Loss and Conservation in Fragmented Forest Landscapes Adrian C. Newton, 2007-01-01 Based on a field research on the changing montane and temperate rainforests of Mexico and South America By concentrating on these largely overlooked environments this work allows for comparative analysis across areas and helps identify how human disturbance has impacted the biodiversity of all forest types

Working Forests in the Neotropics Daniel J. Zarin, Janaki R. R. Alavalapati, Frances E. Putz, Marianne Schmink, 2004-12-29 Neotropical forests sustain a wealth of biodiversity provide a wide range of ecosystem services and products and support the livelihoods of millions of people But is forest management a viable conservation strategy in the tropics Supporters of sustainable forest management have promoted it as a solution to problems of both biodiversity protection and economic stagnation Detractors insist that any conservation strategy short of fully protected status is a waste of resources and that forest management actually hastens deforestation By focusing on a set of critical issues and case studies this book explores the territory between these positions highlighting the major factors that contribute to or detract from the chances of achieving forest conservation through sustainable management

Forest Pest and Disease Management in Latin America Sergio A. Estay, 2020-02-26 By providing multiple economic goods and ecosystem services Latin American forests play a key role in the environmental social and economic welfare of the region s countries From the tropical forests of Central America to the Mediterranean and temperate vegetation of the southern cone these forests face a myriad of phytosanitary problems that negatively impact on both conservation efforts and forest industry This book brings together the perspectives of several Latin American researchers on pest and disease management Each chapter provides modern views of the status and management alternatives to problems as serious as the impact of introduced exotic insects and diseases on Pinus and Eucalyptus plantations throughout the continent and the emergence of novel insect outbreaks in tropical and temperate native forests associated with global warming It is a valuable guide for researchers and practitioners working on forest health in Latin America and around the world

The context of deforestation and forest degradation in Bolivia Robert Müller, Pablo Pacheco, Juan Carlos Montero, 2014-06-10 Bolivia s forest resources are of global importance its main forest areas are located in subtropical and tropical regions There is severe deforestation going on in the lowlands at a rate of approximately 200 000 ha per year whilst forest degradation mostly concerns montane forests Cattle ranching is the most important direct driver of deforestation followed by mechanized agriculture at medium and large scale level mainly for the production of soy bean and finally small scale agriculture Underlying causes of deforestation include among others the opening of the agricultural economy to international markets and the weakness of institutions in charge of controlling land use From 2006 on under the government of Evo Morales Bolivia adopted an official position against the marketization of nature and in defense of the rights of mother earth In consequence to its rejection of REDD Bolivia developed an alternative proposal called Joint Mechanism of Mitigation and Adaptation for Integrated and Sustainable Management of Forests and Mother Earth This proposal was also promoted in international negotiations on climate change It focuses on local experiences for a sustainable and integrated management of natural resources and fosters land use planning at different levels of governance Our analysis suggests that there is still a lack of concrete approaches to mitigate the direct threats to forests moreover the control of illegal deforestation is still insufficient We also note that in parallel to policies of nature conservation there is a contradicting political agenda being implemented promoting the expansion of the agricultural frontier Only the future will show if the vision of Living Well in Harmony with Mother Earth will really lead to effective measures to combat the loss and the degradation of the immense richness of Bolivian forest      Forests in Landscapes Stewart Maginnis, Jeffrey A Sayer, 2013-06-17 At last a really useful book telling us how all the rhetoric about ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management is being translated into practical solutions on the ground CLAUDE MARTIN WWF INTERNATIONAL For too long foresters have seen forests as logs waiting to be turned into something useful This book demonstrates that forests in fact have multiple values and managing them as ecosystems will bring more benefits to a greater cross section of the public JEFFREY A MCNEELY CHIEF SCIENTIST IUCN This book demonstrates that ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management are neither alternative methods of forest management nor are they simply complicated ways of saying the same thing They are both emerging concepts for more integrated and holistic ways of managing forests within larger landscapes in ways that optimize benefits to all stakeholders ACHIM STEINER AND IAN JOHNSON FROM THE FOREWORD Recent innovations in Sustainable Forest Management and Ecosystem Approaches are resulting in forests increasingly being managed as part of the broader social ecological systems in which they exist Forests in Landscapes reviews changes that have occurred in forest management in recent decades Case studies from Europe Canada the United States Russia Australia the Congo and Central America provide a wealth of international examples of innovative practices Cross cutting chapters examine the political ecology and economics of forest management and review the information needs and the use and misuse of criteria and indicators to achieve broad societal goals for forests A concluding chapter draws out the key lessons of changes in forest management in recent decades and sets out some thoughts for the future This book is a must read for practitioners researchers and policy makers concerned with forests and land use It contains lessons for all those concerned with forests as sources of people s livelihoods and as part of rural landscapes Published with IUCN and PROFOR      Forest Biodiversity and Clearcutting Prohibition Act United States.
