The Rhetoricity of Philosophy Blake D. Scott, 2024-08-02

This book aims to recast the way that philosophers understand rhetoric. Rather than follow most philosophers in conceiving rhetoric as a specific way of speaking or writing, it shows that rhetoric is better understood as a dimension of all human discourse and action, what the author calls rhetoricity. This book provides the first philosophical treatment of rhetoricity. It is motivated by two ongoing developments. The first is the debate between Alain Badiou and Barbara Cassin about philosophy's relation to rhetoric. Both Badiou and Cassin are critical of rhetoric, albeit for different reasons. Second, there has been a growing resurgence of interest in rhetoric, considering the recent rise in authoritarian politics as well as new forms of propaganda driven by persuasive technologies. This book identifies the common target of Badiou's and Cassin's otherwise incompatible critiques: rhetoric's conception of audience. It offers a fresh take on the new rhetoric project of Chaim Perelman and Lucie Olbrechts-Tyteca, putting their work into conversation with the Badiou-Cassin debate. The book then turns to the hermeneutic philosophy of Paul Ricoeur in search of an expanded conception of audience. It shows that Ricoeur's hermeneutic philosophy allows us to extend Perelman and Olbrechts-Tyteca's psychological notion of audience to texts themselves and to argue that human beings have a rhetorical capacity to reflect on audiences in search of what is potentially persuasive. The Rhetoricity of Philosophy will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in contemporary European philosophy, rhetoric, argumentation studies and social theory.

Encyclopedia of French Film Directors Philippe Rège, 2009-12-11

Cinema has been long associated with France, dating back to 1895 when Louis and Auguste Lumière screened their works, the first public viewing of films anywhere. Early silent pioneers Georges Méliès, Alice Guy Blaché and others followed in the footsteps of the Lumière brothers, and the tradition of important filmmaking continued throughout the 20th century and beyond. In Encyclopedia of French Film Directors, Philippe Rège identifies every French director who has made at least one feature film since 1895. From undisputed masters to obscure one timers, nearly 3,000 directors are cited here, including at least 200 filmmakers not mentioned in similar books published in France. Each director's entry contains a brief biographical summary, including dates and places of birth and death, information on the individual's education and professional training, and other pertinent details such as real names when the filmmaker uses a pseudonym. The entries also provide complete filmographies, including credits for feature films, shorts, documentaries, and television work. Some of the most important names in the history of film can be found in this encyclopedia, from masters of the Golden Age, Jean Renoir and RenZ Clair_to French New Wave artists such as Fran_ois Truffaut and Jean Luc Godard

The book examines the war of images between France and Algeria Discussing the role of the United States during the war it covers topics such the presence of American reporters in Algeria John F Kennedy s support for Algerian independence while a senator the broadcasting of documentaries on the Algerian war on public television and reporting in the press Even half a century after Algerian independence there remains a need for both film and literature on the war from both sides of the Mediterranean This might seem surprising particularly to media professionals given the quantity of output on the subject but both French and Algerian portrayals of the war remain flawed and shackled to their respective ideologies The generation of FLN leaders recognized early on the importance of images and established a clandestine film structure that would bring the Algerian cause to the world stage The book offers an insightful and timely contribution not just to the field of North African studies but also to other disciplines such as film and media studies anthropology history journalism and political science Providing a rich source of research topics and viable ideas for film and documentary projects it is a must read for students scholars and media professionals alike
