Employee training and development Alex Maingi, 2014-03-11 Seminar paper from the year 2010 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources Miscellaneous grade A University of Canberra language English abstract Of late there has been a debate in HRM managers to succeed there has to shift from control to commitment and that training and development of employees creates commitment some experts agree while others are cynical about this However it is clear that training and developing of employees are very crucial for operation and advancements of an organization in relation to the perspective of a company According to the views made by employees such factors are both very important for an organization for development of skills and advancements to be made in a career Retaining employees and retaining the value of their skills set are very crucial for business achievements Burden and Proctor 2000 According to Cappelli 2000 retaining committed employees successfully leads to knowledge conservation and preservation in an organization No employee can be retained in a company that he/she is not committed to Thus we argue that yes indeed training and development of employees leads to commitment Creating commitment using training While organization commitment towards training of its staff positively impact retention as well results to desirable outcomes Walton 1985 points out that there are various classes and kinds of training that an organization can offer to its employees According to Walton 1985 asserts that in order to create positive results whereby the employees commitment would be enhanced they say that the organization has to be committed to the training it is offering to its employees At the same time the organization has to have effective and proper training methods that will be used to deliver the training

Training and Development Raymond Andrew Noe, Colin Winkler, 2012-03-30 Now in its second edition this highly successful adaptation of Employee Training and Development reflects the importance of socially environmentally and economically responsible training and development for achieving organisational success This is highlighted by the new title Training and Development Learning for Sustainable Management Building on a solid theoretical foundation this edition is more application based although it preserves the essential conceptual material The authors continue to engage students with a lively writing style and contemporary examples The trends and challenges of shaping the future of training and development are illustrated through both real world organisational practices and theory in the many new cases throughout Training and Development Learning for Sustainable

Dr. David Ackah, Makafui R. Agboyi, 2014-11-28 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2014 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources Miscellaneous grade B Atlantic International University School of Business and Economics course Ph D Economics language English abstract The quality of Human Resource is an asset to any organization and as a result

Training has become an issue that has to be faced by every organization The amount and quality of training carried out varies enormously from organization to organization due to factors such as the degree of external change for instance new markets or new processes the adaptability of existing workforce and importantly the extent to which the organization supports the idea of internal career development Most organizations meet their needs for training in an ad hoc and haphazard way while others set about identifying their training needs then design training activities in a rational manner and finally assess the results of training This study therefore sought to determine the impact of Training and Development on public sector organizations using Ghana Ports and Harbors Authority GPHA as a case study The research was intended to determine the role and impact of training on employees with emphasis on the lower middle level staff and the administrators of GPHA who were randomly selected The study assessed the training and development process of GPHA and whether training has improved employee performance A questionnaire was designed using structured questions to collect primary data from employees of GPHA Personal interviews were held with some management staff of the organization The results indicated that GPHA's employees were not well informed about training and development programmes in the organization Most of the employees were of the view that training and development were effective tools for both personal and organizational success The findings revealed that training practices methods and activities at GPHA are not in line with the best practices regarding the planned and systematic nature of the training process as is generally known It was recommended among other things that the processes involved in training be duly followed GPHA should help its staff identify their career paths and to guide them in the pursuit of higher education
