Empty Dress:

Empty Dress Nina Felshin, 1993 The common thread in Empty Dress is the role clothing plays in the construction of identity Removal of the body calls attention to the artifice of clothes and makes their implicit codes more accessible to interpretation The body's absence also demands that we read between the lines examining the meaning of what is not represented examining the conditions of representation itself The fabric of each work is woven of many threads Page 13

The Art of the Sonnet Stephen Burt, David Mikics, 2010 Few poetic forms have found more uses than the sonnet in English and none is now more recognizable. It is one of the longest lived of verse forms and one of the briefest. A mere fourteen lines fashioned by intricate rhymes it is as Dante Gabriel Rossetti called it a moment's monument. From the Renaissance to the present the sonnet has given poets a superb vehicle for private contemplation, introspection and the expression of passionate feelings and thoughts. The Art of the Sonnet collects one hundred exemplary sonnets of the English language and a few sonnets in translation representing highlights in the history of the sonnet accompanied by short commentaries on each of the poems. The commentaries by Stephen Burt and David Mikics offer new perspectives and insights and taken together demonstrate the enduring as well as changing nature of the sonnet. The authors serve as guides to some of the most celebrated sonnets in English as well as less well known gems by nineteenth and twentieth century poets. Also included is a general introductory essay in which the authors examine the sonnet form and its long and fascinating history from its origin in medieval Sicily to its English appropriation in the sixteenth century to sonnet writing today in the United States, the United Kingdom and other English speaking parts of the world. The Red Notebook Antoine Laurain, 2025-07-01 Described as Parisian perfection by Queen Camilla you won't want to miss this charming quirky love story from one of the UK's favourite French authors. In this bestselling novel a bookseller pursues a mystery woman known only through the jottings in her red notebook through the streets of Paris. Bookseller Laurent Letellier comes across an abandoned handbag on a Parisian street and feels compelled to return it to its owner. Quickly ruling out the police station which is always best avoided he turns the contents out onto his kitchen table to see if they hold a clue. The bag contains no money, phone or contact information. But it does yield a small red notebook full of handwritten thoughts and jottings that reveal someone Laurent would very much like to meet. From the lists of likes and dislikes, things noticed and things felt emerges the portrait of a woman who might just be his soulmate. But without even a name to go on and only a few of her possessions to help him, how is he to find one woman in a city of millions? He'll have to turn to his daughter who helps him decode the possessions and sends him on a madcap journey around the French capital. Meanwhile in an anonymous hospital room fragmentary thoughts float through the mind of a woman in a coma. She thinks she's called Laure and she has some strong opinions and painful memories but will she ever wake up and get a fresh chance at life? Soaked in Parisian atmosphere this lovely clever funny novel is the perfect French holiday read
