Pour les adultes elle a été en 1896 la unique femme condamnée morte et pendue dans ce pays si loigné de son cosse natale. Elle était accusée d'avoir tué neuf enfants que les mères dans des situations précaires mettaient en pension chez elle. Minnie Dean était une nourrice ce qu'on appelait une baby farmer. Amaury Da Cunha fasciné par ce personnage victorien dont les larges jupes s'brouaient dans les paysages sauvages arides ou luxuriants des antipodes profite d'un séjour en Nouvelle Zélande pour suivre ses traces retrouver des documents d'époque parler aux biographes et observer la vivacité de son souvenir chez les habitants de l'île. Des coïncidences rythment son voyage qui tissent le récit mystérieux d'une obsession nationale autant que personnelle. Tout le monde parle de Minnie tout le monde a peur de Minnie et personne cependant n'est totalement convaincu de sa culpabilité. Amaury da Cunha est né à Paris en 1976 écrivain et photographe il a publié deux textes d'inspiration poétique Fond de l'île et Histoire souterraine aux ditions du Rouergue et des livres de photographie. Il est également journaliste au service photo du Monde. L'écriture du bonheur dans le roman contemporain Ruth Amar, 2011-01-18 Through the ages the pursuit of Happiness has been at the heart of the needs and desires each individual would seek to fulfill while as a concept Happiness has always resonated strongly in poetic as well as philosophical sociological and psychological contexts. But what about Happiness today in a world dominated by technology driven by productivity and dictated by efficiency. Does Happiness still feature in contemporary fiction in any significant way. Or has it perhaps gone underground adopting different guises. Would we still call that duty of happiness that Pascal Bruckner saw as present at the second half of the twentieth century a relevant force today. Or has it waned perceptibly. The articles brought together in this volume seek to work out answers to these and similar questions creatively addressing the imminent risks but also eagerly following up the intriguing possibilities one encounters when interrogating Happiness in the contemporary novel. Originally based on an international conference organized at the University of Haifa Israel in May 2010 the volume is structured around the axes we found useful as a basis for the various approaches towards Happiness in Europe and the historical and social events that influenced the writing of Happiness as they defined the 20th century and have impacted on the 21st the Holocaust the Soviet dystopia consumerism postmodernism everyday life the various as yet unarticulated new modes of life they have given rise to and so on. A new writing of happiness then. At the very least this volume targets the contemporary novel without wanting to solidify works instead taking into account the fluctuations Happiness has been subjected to and the diversity and especially the paradoxes it has created while we have been keen to
