Familiar Trees and Their Leaves Described and Illustrated One of the most interesting things in connection with the study of nature and the pursuit of art is the study of color It would take a massive volume profuse with illustrations to adequately describe and portray those phases of color which are common at any hour of the day in the field and woodland Trees have their moods as well as men and these are expressed in color which is influenced by and largely dependent upon sunlight and atmospheric conditions To be sure it is not quite possible to perfectly represent these moods in a process reproduction of a water color study but a suggestion of such character is far better than the complete absence of it and it must be acknowledged modern processes are wonderfully faithful to form end the touch of the artist s brush About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
