Families With Small Children In Eastern And Western Europe:

Families with Small Children in Eastern and Western Europe Ulla Björnberg, Jürgen Sass, 2019-01-15 Published in 1997 the aim of this study is to address comparative perspectives on gender and family life in western and eastern Europe The focus is on the way in which family policy measures relating to the reconciliation of work and family are viewed and used by employed parents with small children Another purpose is to consider how compatibility between family and employment is perceived by the parents and its implications for partnership gender balance and parent child relationships The book also discusses the consequences and lessons which can be drawn from these studies for the purpose of family policy initiatives

Families in Global and Multicultural Perspective Bron B Ingoldsby, Suzanna D Smith, 2006 Publisher description

Gender regimes in transition in Central and Eastern Europe Gillian Pascall, Anna Kwak, 2005-11-30 Understanding of welfare states has been much enriched by comparative work on welfare regimes and gender This book uses these debates to illuminate the changing gender regimes in countries of Central and Eastern Europe It has particular significance as countries in the region make the transition from communism and into a European Union that has issues of women s employment work life balance and gender equality at the heart of its social policy The analysis draws on quantitative comparative data and on rich qualitative data from a new study of mothers in Polish households illuminating the effects of changing welfare and gender relations from the perspective of those most directly affected mothers of young children This book is an important addition to the literature and is recommended to academics and students interested in the study of gender relations welfare states and international and comparative European social policy The insights gained will also be of value to those engaged in welfare policy and practice

Women's Employment in a Comparative Perspective Liset Van Dijk, Tanja Van Der Lippe, These comparative studies by internationally known scholars in the United States Hungary Germany and the Netherlands provide a cross national examination of substantially differing circumstances in hours earnings job level childcare availability parental leave and the like of women s employment The book s dual focus on micro and macro approaches clarifies the extent to which these variances can be ascribed to differences in the institutional context of employment or to the individual characteristics of female employees It thereby provides a valuable contribution both to gender studies and to studies on the sociology of work Women s employment changed dramatically during the second half of the twentieth century Countries in the northern hemisphere have faced similar trends in labor and employment yet there are still many contrasts between them when it comes to women s work In this volume women s employment is studied in different institutional structural and social settings with the intention of exploring the causes of the differences and similarities in women s employment in different countries and at different times Three perspectives are used the macro approach which provides a thorough and focused understanding of the influence of the institutional context on women s work the micro approach which gives insight into the employment behavior of individual women who live in the same social or institutional context and the macro micro approach which makes clear the relative importance to women s work of both individual characteristics and institutional context While a good deal of information is available on women s employment a cross national comparison over time has been lacking This book fills that all important niche Women s Employment in a Comparative Perspective thus has a special relevance for economists as well as sociologists and social work specialists Tanja Van der Lippe is assistant professor of sociology at the Research School ICS of Utrecht University the Netherlands Liset Van Dijk is senior researcher at the Netherlands Institute for Health Services Research Nivel

Life Course, Work, and Labour in Global History Josef Ehmer,Carola Lentz,2023-09-18 This multidisciplinary volume offers unique perspectives across the globe and throughout the centuries on the complexity of the nexus between work and the life course For industrialized regions from Germany and Western Europe to China and Japan it questions the widespread notion of an overall growing working life course instability since the 1970s For unindustrialized or industrializing regions from West Africa to state socialist East Central Europe as well as for transnational and transcontinental labour migrations it shows the enormous influence of the extended family and wider kin on individual pathways into and out of work For early modern Europe India and China and up to twentieth century state socialism and to current welfare states it stresses and concretizes the crucial impact of age and gender for both societal labour relations and individual work related decision making With all chapters based on original research the volume reflects a close cooperation between historians anthropologists and sociologists Its multidisciplinary approach finds expression in its methodological plurality reaching from archival research and sophisticated statistical analyses to biographical interviews and participant observation This mix allows to grasp the interaction between societal change and individual agency

The Routledge History Handbook of Central and Eastern Europe in the Twentieth Century Włodzimierz Borodziej, Stanislav Holubec, Joachim von Puttkamer, 2020-04-21 Challenges of Modernity offers a broad account of the social and economic history of Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century and asks critical questions about the structure and experience of modernity in different contexts and periods This volume focuses on central questions such as How did the various aspects of modernity manifest themselves in the region and what were their limits How was the multifaceted transition from a mainly agrarian to an industrial and post industrial society experienced and perceived by historical subjects Did Central and Eastern Europe in fact approximate its dream of modernity in the twentieth century despite all the reversals detours and third way visions Structured chronologically and taking a comparative approach a range of international contributors combine a focus on the overarching problems of the region with a discussion of individual countries and societies offering the reader a comprehensive nuanced survey of the social and economic history of this complex region in the recent past The first in a four volume set on Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century it is the go to resource for those interested in the challenges of modernity faced by this dynamic region

Beyond Welfare State Models Pauli Kettunen, Klaus Petersen, 2011 Welfare state models have for decades been the gold standard of welfare state research Beyond Welfare State Models escapes the straightjacket of conventional welfare state models and challenges the existing literature in two ways

Firstly the contributors argue that the standard typologies have omitted important aspects of welfare state development Secondly the work develops and underlines the importance of a more fluid transnational conceptualisation As this book shows welfare states are not created in national isolation but are heavily influenced by transnational economic political and cultural interdependencies The authors illustrate these important points of criticism with their studies on the transnational history of social policy religion and the welfare state Nordic cooperation within the fields of social policy and marriage law and the transnational contexts of national family policies This fascinating work contributes to the understanding of the current changes of welfare states by discussing the relationship between globalized capitalism and social political regulations and by arguing that transnational transformations importantly take place within and between nation states The Oxford Handbook of Family Policy Over the Life Course Mary Daly,Birgit Pfau-Effinger,Neil Gilbert,Douglas J. Besharov,2023 Drawing on a multidisciplinary group of experts from many countries this Handbook is intended to be a reference work that provides students and scholars in policy related disciplines a wide ranging perspective on the diverse ways that family policies respond to modern issues and trends over the life course The Handbook is divided into two main parts The first part offers a panoramic introduction to the setting and issues which contemporary family policies have been designed to address The second part and main body of the volume is organized around four benchmark periods that encompass the main stages of the family life cycle and social policies that are called into play during these stages Children, Families, and States Cristina Allemann-Ghionda,Karen Hagemann,Konrad H. Jarausch,2011-03-01 Due to the demand for flexible working hours and employees who are available around the clock the time patterns of childcare and schooling have increasingly become a political issue Comparing the development of different time policies of half day and all day provisions in a variety of Eastern and Western European countries since the end of World War II this innovative volume brings together internationally known experts from the fields of comparative education history and the social and political sciences and makes a significant contribution to this new interdisciplinary field of comparative study Inequalities in Young People's Health Candace Currie,2008-07-28 This international report from the Health Behaviour in School aged Children HBSC World Health Organization collaborative cross national study presents the key findings on patterns of health among young people in 41 countries and regions across Europe and North America The document presents a status report on health health related behaviour and the social contexts of young people s health in 2005 2006 and provides the latest evidence from a unique cross national study on the well being of young people in industrialized nations In addition to presenting key statistics on young people s health this report has a special focus on health inequalities It presents data on gender age and geographic and socioeconomic dimensions of health differentials The aim of the report is to highlight where inequalities exist in aspects of young people s health and well being in order to inform and influence policy and practice and to contribute to health improvement for all young people Ed Family and Population in East Asian History Susan B.
