Family practices in later life Pat Chambers, Graham Allan, Chris Phillipson, Mo Ray, 2009-09-02
There is no shortage of political and moral commentary on family life Frequently the underlying theme of these commentaries is the decline of contemporary family commitment particularly when older people's family experiences are the focus Family Practices in Later Life challenges many common stereotypes about the nature of family involvement as people age The book explores diversity and change in the family relationships older people maintain looking at how family relationships are constructed and organised in later life It recognises that the emerging patterns are a consequence of the choices and decisions negotiated within family networks emphasising older people's agency in the construction of their family practices In exploring such themes as long term marriage sibling ties in later life and grandparenthood the book highlights the continued significance of family connection and solidarity in later life while recognizing that family relationships are inevitably modified over time as people's social and material circumstances alter Family Practices in Later Life will be of interest to students researchers and academics in the fields of social policy family studies and social gerontology It provides a valuable contribution to the developing field of critical social gerontology as well as to an understanding of family process

Organisations and Management Iris Aaltio, Albert J. Mills, Jean Helms Mills, 2017-08-16 This book explores critical perspectives on ageing in organisations and offers both managerial and workplace practices for dealing with this prominent issue. The collection provides cross disciplinary research on the discursive and mythological aspects of ageing at work as well as recent studies of the relationship between age and innovation, talent, careers and workplace transitions. The book brings together authors from Europe, North America and Australia. By addressing current societal challenges and offering insights on ageing at work, this book will be of interest to those involved in human resource management, workplace organisation and the sociology of work.

Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Linda George, 2010-11-26. Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences, Seventh Edition, provides extensive reviews and critical evaluations of research on the social aspects of aging. It also makes available major references and identifies high priority topics for future research. The book is organized into four parts. Part 1 reviews developments in the field of age and the life course, ALC studies, and presents guidelines on conducting cohort analysis. Part 2 covers the demographic aspects of aging, longevity, trends, disability, and aging and stratification and inequality research. Part 3 includes chapters that examine socioeconomic position and racial/ethnic disparities in health at older ages, the role of social factors in the distribution of antecedents and consequences of depression, and aspects of private wealth transfers and the changing nature of family gift giving. Part 4 deals with pension reform in Europe, the political activities of older Americans, the future of retirement security, and gender differences in old age. The Handbook is intended for researchers, professional practitioners, and students in the field of aging. It can also serve as a basic reference tool for scholars, professionals, and others who are not presently engaged in research and practice directly focused on aging and the aged. Contains all the main areas of social science/gerontological research in one volume. Begins with a section on theory and methods. Edited by one of the fathers of gerontology. Binstock and contributors represent top scholars in gerontology.

The Oxford Handbook of Organizational Citizenship Behavior Philip M. Podsakoff, Scott Bradley MacKenzie, Nathan P. Podsakoff, 2018. The Oxford Handbook of Organizational Citizenship Behavior provides a broad and interdisciplinary review of state-of-the-art research on organizational citizenship behaviors (OCBs) and related constructs such as contextual performance, spontaneous organizational behavior, prosocial behavior, and proactive behavior in the workplace. Contributors address the conceptualization and measurement of OCBs, the antecedents, correlates, and consequences of these behaviors, and the methodological issues that are common when studying OCBs. In addition, this handbook pushes future scholarship in this and related areas by identifying substantive questions, methods, and issues for future research. The result is a single resource that will inform and inspire scholars, students, and practitioners of the origins of this construct, the current state of research on this topic, and potentially exciting avenues for future exploration. This handbook is designed to meet the needs of a broad spectrum of researchers and advanced undergraduate and graduate students in a variety of disciplines, including management, organizational behavior, human resources management, and industrial and organizational psychology, as well as those interested in studying citizenship behavior in a variety of organizational contexts including marketing nursing engineering sports and education      Housing, Care and Inheritance Misa Izuhara,2008-09-30 Housing Care and Inheritance draws on the author s long standing research into housing issues surrounding the ageing society a phenomenon which is now a concern in many mature economies If an adult child provides care for their elderly parent should that person be rewarded If so should they inherit their parent s house or a larger share of the assets The generational contract is often influenced by cultural norms family traditions social policy and housing market so it is negotiated differently in different societies and at different times Such generational contract is however breaking down as a result of socio economic and demographic changes Drawn from the two part study funded by the UK Economic Social Research Council Misa Izuhara explores the myth and the changing patterns of the particular exchange of long term care and housing assets between older parents and their adult children in Britain and Japan Highly international and comparative in perspectives this study addresses important sociological as well as policy questions regarding intergenerational relations involving housing wealth long term care and inheritance      The Family Planning Association and Contraceptive Science and Technology in Mid-Twentieth-Century Britain Natasha Szuhan,2022-08-18 This book offers the first in depth investigation into the relationship between the National Birth Control Association later the Family Planning Association and contraceptive science and technology in the pre Pill era It explores the Association s role in designing and supporting scientific research employment of scientists engagement with manufacturers and pharmaceutical companies and use of its facilities patients staff medical scientific and political networks to standardise and guarantee contraceptive technology it prescribed and produced By taking a micro history approach to the archives of the Association this book highlights the importance of this organisation to the history of science technology and medicine in twentieth century Britain It examines the Association s participation within Western family planning networks working particularly closely with its American counterparts to develop chemical and biological means of testing contraception for efficacy quality and safety
