We think we're connecting but we're not. We miss the neurological explosion that is taking place before us as tweens experience four significant changes that shake them and us to their core. Their brains are changing. They feel and experience emotions they do not recognize. They're hyperaware of themselves. They do not know how to express themselves. Most importantly, parents still have a seat at the table to make positive impressions on their tweens as they prepare them for the teenage years.
