Family Letter - Parent Correspondence

Invite families to share pictures about their jobs for show and tell.

Hello Kindergarten Families,

We'd love for each student to share about one of their parent/caregiver's jobs as part of learning about the community in which we live and the different roles community members have. Could you please send us a picture of one of you or your parent or sibling in your work clothes, or with your work tools/items, so that your child can share about what you do? (e.g., a teacher holding a book or holding a stethoscope, a police officer in uniform, or an EMT with their gear).

It would be great if you could send the photos through email (they can just show it on the screen to your other child), but if it is easier for you to send a printed photo that is also fine. We know not everyone may want to or can take a photo of themselves at work, so even just a photo of you with something you use for work is fine. Just let your child know you're glad to see something they will most likely use the picture to help us determine what type of occupations you have. Please talk with your child about things they might want to tell us about your job. Please let us know what your job is so sometimes students might need help with explaining it.

Thank you so much for your help with this. We're sure the students will be excited to get to share on their special day.

Thank you!

Family Letters Parents And Children:

Family Letters Jan Fielden, 1995-03-01 A collection of letters between well known parents and children through the centuries The Transnational History of a Chinese Family Haiming Liu, 2005 Family and home are one word jia in the Chinese language Family can be separated and home may be relocated but jia remains intact It signifies a system of mutual obligation lasting responsibility and cultural values This strong yet flexible sense of kinship has enabled many Chinese immigrant families to endure long physical separation and accommodate continuities and discontinuities in the process of social mobility Based on an analysis of over three thousand family letters and other primary sources including recently released immigration files from the National Archives and Records Administration Haiming Liu presents a remarkable transnational history of a Chinese family from the late nineteenth century to the 1970s For three generations the family lived between the two worlds While the immigrant generation worked hard in an herbalist business and asparagus farming the younger generation crossed back and forth between China and America pursuing proper education good careers and a meaningful life during a difficult period of time for Chinese Americans When social instability in China and hostile racial environment in America prevented the family from being rooted in either side of the Pacific transnational family life became a focal point of their social existence This well documented and illustrated family history makes it clear that for many Chinese immigrant families migration does not mean a break from the past but the beginning of a new life that incorporates and transcends dual national boundaries It convincingly shows how transnationalism has become a way of life for Chinese American families The Medicine Wheel for Step Parents Mary Jane Grange, 2008 Secrets isolation manipulation and stonewalling occur in blended families This book describes the stages of blending families the players the problems and some solutions for all members of blended families Parents and Children Communicating with Society Thomas J. Socha, Glen Stamp, 2010-03-17 The volume opens a new frontier in parent child communication research as it brings together veteran researchers and newcomers to explore the communication of parents and children as they create relationships outside the family The chapters herein examine communication processes and problems of parents and children as they interact with childcare healthcare education and youth sports investigate the unique challenges facing various types of families as they communicate outside the family e g stepfamilies and gay lesbian bisexual families and consider the role of media in family relationships outside of home The primary audiences for the volume includes scholars researchers and graduate students studying communication in families children s communication communication in personal relationships organizational communication group communication and health communication It will also be of interest to psychologists who study families children and organizations sociologists who study families children and organizations education researchers teachers coaches family physicians and family therapists graduate students It has the potential for use in courses in family communication family studies family sociology and child development Old Family Letters , 1892 Family Life in England and America, 1690-1820, vol 4 Rachel Cope, Amy Harris, Jane Hinckley, 2021-11-18 This four volume collection of primarily newly transcribed manuscript material brings together sources from both sides of the Atlantic and from a wide variety of regional archives It is the first collection of its kind allowing comparisons between the development of the family in England and America during a time of significant change Volume 4 Managing Families II In this final volume documents are focused on some of the more negative aspects of family life Sections focus on authority power and discontent violence and conflict and death and mourning Topics include estate disputes contested marriages spousal abuse deaths wills and memorials

The Prodigal Family Johanna Maaghul,2009-09-04 What we leave on the table with our family relationships may well prove to be some of the most powerful healing material available to us during our earthly journey As with the prodigal son the role our family has played in our life is an important one and what our family brings out in us offers us great opportunities for further personal growth They are at the heart of our learning essential to the transformation that we came here to embody As we trace and even rebuild these connections we may come to see and appreciate these individuals as members of our own spiritual Olympic team on our journey here on Earth

Metaphors and Social Identity Formation in Paul's Letters to the Corinthians Kar Yong Lim,2017-05-05 Why did Paul frequently employ a diverse range of metaphors in his letters to the Corinthians Was the choice of these metaphors a random act or a carefully crafted rhetorical strategy Did the use of metaphors shape the worldview and behavior of the Christ followers In this innovative work Kar Yong Lim draws upon Conceptual Metaphor Theory and Social Identity Theory to answer these questions Lim illustrates that Paul employs a cluster of metaphors namely sibling familial temple and body metaphors as cognitive tools that are central to how humans process information construct reality and shape group identity Carefully chosen these metaphors not only add colors to Paul s rhetorical strategy but also serve as a powerful tool of communication in shaping the thinking governing the behavior and constructing the social identity of the Corinthian Christ followers

Epistolary Korea JaHyun Kim Haboush, 2009-04-14 By expanding the definition of epistle to include any writing that addresses the intended receiver directly JaHyun Kim Haboush introduces readers to the rich epistolary practice of Chos n Korea The Chos n dynasty 1392 1910 produced an abundance of epistles writings that mirror the genres of neighboring countries especially China while retaining their own specific historical trajectory Written in both literary Chinese and vernacular Korean the writings collected here range from royal public edicts to private letters a fascinating array that blurs the line between classical and everyday language and the divisions between men and women Haboush s selections also recast the relationship between epistolography and the concept of public and private space Haboush groups her epistles according to where they were written and read public letters letters to colleagues and friends social letters and family letters Then she arranges them according to occasion letters on leaving home deathbed letters letters of fiction and letters to the dead She examines the mechanics of epistles their communicative space and their cultural and political meaning With its wholly unique collection of materials Epistolary Korea produces more than a vivid chronicle of pre and early modern Korean life It breaks new ground in establishing the terms of a distinct non European form of epistolography

Parenting in England 1760-1830 Joanne Bailey,2012-04-05 Parenting in England is the first study of the world of parenting in late Georgian England The author Joanne Bailey traces ideas about parenthood in a Christian society that was responding to new cultural trends of sensibility romanticism and domesticity along with Enlightenment ideas about childhood and self All these shaped how people from the poor to the genteel thought about themselves as parents and remembered their own parents With meticulous attention to detail Bailey illuminates the range of intense emotions provoked by parenthood by investigating a rich array of sources from memoirs and correspondence to advice literature fiction and court records to prints engravings and ballads Parenting was also a profoundly embodied experience and the book captures the effort labour and hard work it entailed Such parental investment meant that the experience was fundamental to the forging of national familial and personal identities It also needed more than two parents and this book uncovers the hitherto hidden world of shared parenting At all levels of society household and kinship ties were drawn upon to lighten the labours of parenting By revealing these emotional and material parental worlds what emerges is the centrality of parenthood to mental and physical well being reputation public and personal identities and to transmitting prized values across generations Yet being a parent was a contingent experience adapting from hour to hour year to year and child to child It was at once precarious as children and parents succumbed to fatal diseases and accidents yet it was also enduring because parent child relationships were not ended by death lost children and parents lived on in memory
