Race, Class, Parenting and Children's Leisure Utsa Mukherjee, 2023-02-07 Children's leisure lives are changing with increasing dominance of organised activities and screen-based leisure These shifts have reconfigured parenting practices too However our current understandings of these processes are race-blind and based mostly on the experiences of white middle-class families Drawing on an innovative study of middle class British Indian families this book brings children's and parents' voices to the forefront and bridges childhood studies, family studies and leisure studies to theorise children's leisure from a fresh perspective. Demonstrating the salience of both race and class in shaping leisure cultures within middle class racialised families, this is an invaluable contribution to key sociological debates around leisure, childhoods and parenting ideologies.
